

2 OF 3 DIRECTORS ON TVA BOARD TUNE TO DROP DIXON-YATES DEAL

Request of Majority Rejected by Budget Bureau After Vogel Refused to Accept the Vote.

By RICHARD DUDMAN
A Washington Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.

WASHINGTON, June 9.—Two of the three Tennessee Valley Authority directors proposed last spring that the controversial Dixon-Yates power project be abandoned on the ground it could not be relied on to solve TVA's impending power shortage, it was disclosed today.

The proposal was made last March 7 in a letter from Directors Harry A. Curtis and R. R. Paty to Budget Director Rowland H. Hughes. The Budget Bureau rejected the appeal.

Brig. Gen. Herbert D. Vogel, TVA chairman and third director, refused to regard the proposal by Curtis and Paty as an official act. He charged it was "premature and presumptuous" and prepared without his advice. His objection to it was bitter.

These circumstances came to light today with the publication of testimony taken in private by a House appropriations subcommittee.

The record also disclosed that Representative Clarence Cannon (Dem., Missouri), has accused Gen. Vogel of trying to set up a "dictatorship" as chairman of the TVA. Cannon is chairman of the full appropriations committee.

Cannon charged Vogel planned to use a $100,000 "contingency" item in President Eisenhower's budget to achieve one-man rule with himself in control. The subcommittee knocked out the item Wednesday.

As to the Dixon-Yates deal, the record showed Curtis and Paty suggested a move which was in fact made by the appropriations subcommittee on Tuesday. The subcommittee knocked out a requested $6,500,000 for a transmission line to carry privately-financed Dixon-Yates power into Memphis, Tenn., and applied the money instead to the proposed TVA plant at Fulton, Tenn.

Pair Cites Obstacles.
In their letter to Hughes, Curtis and Paty argued that a series of obstacles, including pending litigation and the attitude of the city of Memphis, promised to hold up indefinitely the promised power from the proposed Dixon-Yates plant at West Memphis, Ark.

In an accompanying letter, Vogel said he told Curtis and Paty he disagreed, but that they insisted their letter be sent as written. Continuing the account, Vogel told Hughes:

"Dr. Curtis called upon Dr. Paty for a vote and the two declared that their vote represented an opinion of the majority of the board. Thereupon Dr. Curtis folded his papers, got to his feet and prepared to leave."

"The chairman stated that he could not accept a vote without discussion and that he had not been given time either to study the letter or prepare a discussion. He directed Dr. Curtis to resume his seat. Dr. Curtis refused to comply and walked out of the room."

Reply by Hughes.

Hughes replied 10 days later that the Dixon-Yates contract was in effect and there was no reason to look for other sources of power. He noted that Memphis officials had said repeatedly that they would build their own power plant and asked Vogel to report as soon as possible whether Memphis would want to continue to buy TVA.

Plumbing Beats Teaching

MRS. LUCILLE OELLERICH

WOMAN PLUMBER PREFERS JOB TO TEACHING

CHICAGO, June 9 (AP)—Mrs. Lucille Oellerich, of Augusta, Ga., one of the nation's few women master plumbers and a former school teacher, says that plumbing is more fun than teaching school.

Mrs. Oellerich married a plumber and helped out in his office. When her husband died six years ago she began studying the trade's techniques herself.

Mrs. Oellerich, mother of a young civil engineer, is in Chicago for the seventy-third annual convention of the National Association of Plumbing Contractors.

POLICE BOARD TELLS THOMPSON TO ATTEND ALL OF ITS MEETINGS

It Also Receives Progress Report From Mayor Who Has Taken Over Inquiry Into Alleged Pay-Offs.

The Police Board today instructed Maj. James M. Thompson, head of the special squad which is investigating alleged pay-offs to policemen, to report at each meeting of the board until further notice.

At the same time, the board announced it had asked for and received a progress report from Maj. Thompson.

He was named Tuesday to take over the work that had been done by Police Inspector George Parker's office in looking into reported pay-offs to policemen by a brothel operator, who was later murdered.

Reports have been submitted by about 20 policemen who were asked if they had any knowledge of the activities of the brothel operators or were acquainted with her, the Post-Dispatch learned.

Other police officers, most of them assigned to the Lucas avenue district or formerly stationed there, also have been called on for reports in this connection.

Lt. Joseph Testifies.
Today's meeting of the board followed the grand jury appearance yesterday of Police Lt. Jake Joseph, former head of the morality squad. Joseph appeared voluntarily at the request of the circuit attorney's office and testified for almost two hours.

He told the Post-Dispatch he had no comment on his appearance before the grand jury, which is inquiring into the alleged pay-offs.

Another grand jury witness yesterday was Pauline Cloin, who told authorities that her employer, Mrs. June Alma Lytz, operator of June's Massage Parlor, 308A North Theresa avenue, made payments to police officers to enable her to continue in operation without interference.

Mrs. Lytz was shot to death on the street April 21 by Guy Nolan, a Negro, under circumstances not related to the alleged pay-offs.

No Comment By Dowd.
Circuit Attorney Edward L. Dowd declined to explain why Joseph was called before the grand jury or to say if other policemen will be asked to testify.

Joseph was head of the police morality squad for about six years, starting in 1947. He was assigned to the Lucas avenue district in 1953, to the traffic division. After being promoted to sergeant in 1943, he was stationed in the detective bureau. Joseph has been a lieutenant since June 23, 1947.

Grand Jury Suspends Inquiry.
Circuit Attorney Dowd said the grand jury has temporarily suspended its inquiry into Dowd's investigation of alleged pay-offs.

An effort is being made to find operators and employees of the alleged houses to determine if they have any knowledge of police pay-offs.

After today's session, at which only routine criminal charges are to be considered, the grand jury will adjourn until next Tuesday night. Several said they thought the movement was in protest against the reported firing of 30 men, a report that proved untrue.

In connection with the report that the work stoppage may be connected with "union politics," Wallmann pointed out that the membership has been aware for 30 days that nominations for local officers would be accepted at meetings this afternoon and tonight at a hall at 6141 Etzel avenue.

"Someone outside the present leadership appears to be influencing the men against our instructions and advice," Wallmann asserted. "Of course there also was the misunderstanding of the strike deadline, with resulting confusion."

John Livingston, international union vice-president in charge of the union's General Motors Department, telegraphed officers of Local 25 that wildcat strikes here and elsewhere are "sabotaging" contract talks with General Motors.

Former St. Louisan.

Officers said some men wanted assurances that those responsible for the unauthorized strike would not be singled out for company discipline. Union officers added.

Picket Lines Withdrawn But Most Workers Continue Unauthorized Walkout.

A majority of the production workers at the Chevrolet and Fisher Body plants continued their unauthorized strike today, although picket lines were withdrawn at the request of union leaders and some men returned to their jobs.

Police details were on hand at the 7 a.m. starting hour, largely because of a fight yesterday between a picket and a man who had worked. None of the 2300 Fisher Body workers entered the plant, although the picket line was withdrawn at 7:30 o'clock.

The Chevrolet personnel department reported that about one-fourth of the 2400 employees came in, and that most departments were in operation.

Men Mill in Street.
Men milled in the street at Union boulevard and Arlington avenue as officers of the CIO Automobile Workers, Local 25, urged that the walkout be halted until Sunday midnight, the hour set for an outlying police districts. He is presently assigned to the Magnolia avenue district.

He became a policeman Nov. 16, 1941. He was first assigned to the Lucas avenue district in 1943, to the traffic division. After being promoted to sergeant in 1943, he was stationed in the detective bureau. Joseph has been a lieutenant since June 23, 1947.

ZHUKOV SAYS HE WILL KEEP WRITING TO EISENHOWER

MOSCOW, June 9 (AP)—Soviet Defense Minister Marshal Georgi Zhukov said today he expects to continue correspondence with "my old friend" President Eisenhower.

Zhukov made the statement at an informal news conference with Western reporters during the British embassy garden party honoring the birthday of Queen Elizabeth II.

The reporters asked Zhukov what was in the correspondence he had already had with Mr. Eisenhower.

"We have agreed for the time being not to reveal the contents of our correspondence," Zhukov replied.

Mr. Eisenhower disclosed at a news conference April 27 that he had had an exchange of "absolutely personal" correspondence with Zhukov, with whom Mr. Eisenhower had cordial relations in the first days of the occupation of Germany.

WRITES THESIS
FOR ARMADILLOS

RIVERHEAD, N. Y., June 9 (AP)—Sidney A. Schwartz, a young Long Island sanitation chemist, acquired two pregnant armadillos about a year ago. He wanted to study the habits of the little armored mammals.

His two armadillos soon were 10. It seems mama armadillos always gave birth to four offspring at a time. Kneep died in armadillos, Schwartz publicly applied for someone to take them off his hands. Various zoos responded.

Now he has come up with a 146-page thesis entitled, "The Role of Controlled Exercise in Growth and Development of Armadillo Quadrupeds."

The gist of his findings was that exercise is good for the dim-witted armadillos. It even makes them smarter.

This was of considerable interest to New York University, where Schwartz had been studying for his doctorate. On the strength of the thesis, Schwartz said yesterday, he will get his degree later this month.

SOVIET ACCORD ON GENEVA BIG 4 TALKS INDICATED

Molotov Quoted Telling French Leaders Red Have No Objections to Proposed Site.

PARIS, June 9 (UP)—Soviet Foreign Minister V. M. Molotov today indicated to French Premier Faure that Russia will accept the West's invitation to a top-level Big Four meeting in Geneva July 18-21.

Authoritative French sources said Molotov told Faure and French Foreign Minister Antoine Pinay at a luncheon meeting at the Quai D'Orsay that Russia has no fundamental objections to the dates and place proposed by the West.

(The Associated Press said from London that Prime Minister Eden told the House of Commons today he believes Russia has no objection to starting Big Four talks in Geneva about July 18.)

(He also told the House he hoped the Geneva meeting would be the first of a series. He said the meetings offered an exceptional opportunity, but were bound to take time and called for patience.)

These sources, who were present at the meeting, said Molotov told the French leaders that East and West must forget past misunderstandings and concern themselves with the future.

Molotov spent two hours with the French leaders during his Paris stop-off en route to the United States where he will meet the Western Big Three foreign ministers in San Francisco June 20.

(The A.P. said Faure told a press conference Molotov suggested the French Premier and Pinay make a trip to Moscow.

"It was not a formal invitation," he said. "It was more on the side of tourism than of diplomacy." He declined to say what his attitude would be toward a formal invitation.)

WEST DIPLOMATS MAP STRATEGY

WASHINGTON, June 9 (UP)—United States, British and French diplomatic experts today were mapping Western strategy for the Big Four "summit" conference with Russia.

One problem was how to combat an expected Russian campaign for a neutral block including West Germany. The West is firmly opposed to such a role for Germany.

The three nations "working party" included Douglas MacArthur II, United States State Department counselor; Viscount Hood, head of the Western organizations department in the British Foreign Office, and Etienne Crouy-Chanel, assistant political director of the French Foreign Office.

They had their first meeting yesterday afternoon. Their job

SAYS SEVERAL QUESTIONS MUST BE CLEARED UP PRIOR TO MEETING

Chancellor Implies He Would Not Refuse to Go to Moscow — Will State Position to Eisenhower.

(Copyright, 1955, by United Press.)

BONN, June 9.—West German Chancellor Adenauer today assured the United States and Western allies that West Germany will stand solidly with them.

He said he was willing to attend a top-level conference with the Soviet Union under proper circumstances, but he added with great determination: "One thing is certain: We will faithfully observe the obligations taken up under the treaties with the West."

"On the other hand, we would be pleased if a contribution to the reduction of world tension could be achieved by an exchange of views with the Soviets."

Not Necessarily in Moscow.
(A West German spokesman told the Associated Press that Adenauer was prepared to meet with Soviet leaders, but not necessarily in Moscow. He said one idea being explored was that Adenauer should talk with the Russian premier before going to the Big Four "summit" meeting in Geneva.)

(The spokesman also said exchanges of views were taking place in Paris between West German and Soviet diplomats.)

Adenauer received the same carpet-covered office where I met him three years ago. He said that a meeting such as the one proposed by Russia must be preceded by an exchange of views with the Soviet Union.

Reply to Take Time.
He said that his government's reply to the Kremlin of Tuesday, inviting West Germany to establish full diplomatic relations with Russia and calling for a conference in Moscow with the Chancellor, would "take some time."

"Several questions will have to be clarified first," he said. Recalling that the Soviet spoke of diplomatic, cultural and trade relations with Germany, Adenauer said:

"We must first have an exchange of views with the Soviet Union on these questions before I can go to meet them. For that reason there will be no immediate German-Russian conference."

I asked him whether he would go to Moscow himself or whether he would prefer to meet the Russian leaders in Bonn or in a neutral place like Geneva.

He leaned back, smiled, and replied, "That is a technical question, and of no great importance." Implying he guessed the West would be asked to travel to Russia if a conference is held.

Report to Eisenhower.
He said he would explain his position in full to President Eisenhower and British Prime Minister Eden when he meets them next week. He asked to explain: "I do not know what questions they will ask me, but if they want to talk about this subject, I will certainly do so," he said.

"A reply to the Soviet Union, however, requires the prior clarification of a number of questions," he said, because the Soviet note's reference to the establishment of normal relations with West Germany was "too general."

"I read to me a statement he made to me three years ago, a statement which seems prophetic. On Oct. 2, 1952, he told me: 'I am firmly convinced that (the late Soviet Premier Josef) Stalin—once the West has united and the Atlantic community becomes strong enough—realizes that the cold war does not pay in the long run. Then he (Stalin) will be prepared to negotiate. If we continue our way followed during the past two years, then I am convinced that the day for such negotiations of the West with Moscow is not far away.'"

Still True, He Says.
Adenauer recalled having made this statement and said that "every word of it is still true."

The West German cabinet, in a statement issued following a meeting earlier Wednesday, had already said that, if the Russian invitation were accepted, Germany would proceed only in consultation with its allies.

Commenting on world politics and the forthcoming meeting of the Western Big Three with the Russians, Adenauer made these observations:

1. The United States and Russia should get together and agree on a formula for controlled world disarmament.

2. An agreement on disarmament would pave the way for a

FUND TO FIGHT SMOG INCLUDED IN HOUSING BILL VOTED BY SENATE

$50,000,000 Program Proposed — St. Louis Plan Cited — Expanded Aid to Colleges Also Sought.

By JAMES DEAKIN
A Staff Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.

WASHINGTON, June 9 (AP) — A $50,000,000 program of federal aid to launch the first nationwide attack on air pollution is among provisions of the omnibus housing bill passed by the Senate and sent to the House.

Another feature of the bill would greatly expand the existing program of Government assistance to colleges and universities for student and faculty housing. The measure would make it easier for educational institutions to obtain federal housing loans and would increase the Government's lending authority in this field by $200,000,000.

Neither provision was included in the Eisenhower Administration's housing bill, rejected Tuesday by a six-vote margin. Democratic Senators put through their own version, liberalizing federal housing aid in many respects, perhaps the most notable of which was an expanded program of federal aid for low-rent public housing.

Twofold Attack on Smog.
Under title five of the bill, a twofold approach would be made toward abating the smoke and smog nuisances and other forms of air pollution which plague many cities.

The Department of Health, Education and Welfare would be authorized to enter into contracts for research on the control of air pollution. No federal money would be involved initially, the department would come to Congress for appropriations after signing the agreements.

Almost any qualified group could undertake the research—cities, business and industrial firms, universities, private research organizations. The department would be required to make their findings freely available to the public.

In the other phase of the program, the Housing and Home Finance Agency, chief of federal housing agency, would be authorized to lend up to $50,000,000 to industries and businesses which wanted to construct or install devices to cut down the smoke belching from their furnaces or the chemical odors polluting the air.

20 Years to Repay.
The loans, with a maximum repayment period of 20 years, would be made only to "business enterprises." However, cities would be required to submit workable programs for smog abatement before their local industries could qualify for federal aid.

In hearings before the Senate Banking Committee, St. Louis's smoke abatement program, in effect since 1949, was cited frequently as an example of the kind of local effort the bill's sponsors had in mind.

Following the model provided by St. Louis, cities should enact ordinances controlling air pollution and carrying rigid enforcement clauses, the sponsors said. Local factories and businesses could then seek HHA loans to "purchase, install or construct" abatement devices or to change their plants in other ways to comply with the city ordinances.

It would be up to the HHA to set up standards for workable community programs. In general, the air pollution provision follows the Eisenhower Administration's concept of local-federal "partnership," with communities required to show evidence of their willingness to take the initiative.

Backed by Californians, Principal sponsor of the new program was Senator Homer E. Capehart (Rep., Indiana). He was joined by California's two Republican Senators, Minority Leader William F. Knowland and Thomas H. Kuchel, who were mindful that their state's biggest city, Los Angeles, has the country's biggest smog problem.

Under title three of the bill, sponsored by Senator J. William Fulbright (Dem., Arkansas), the five-year-old program of federal aid for college housing would be given added insurance against the tremendous enrollment increases expected in the next few years.

By 1960, the Banking Committee was told, American colleges and universities expect 3,000,000 students to be enrolled. Current enrollment, about 2,500,000, is a record, even higher than the "veterans' boom" of 1948 and 1949, educators testified.

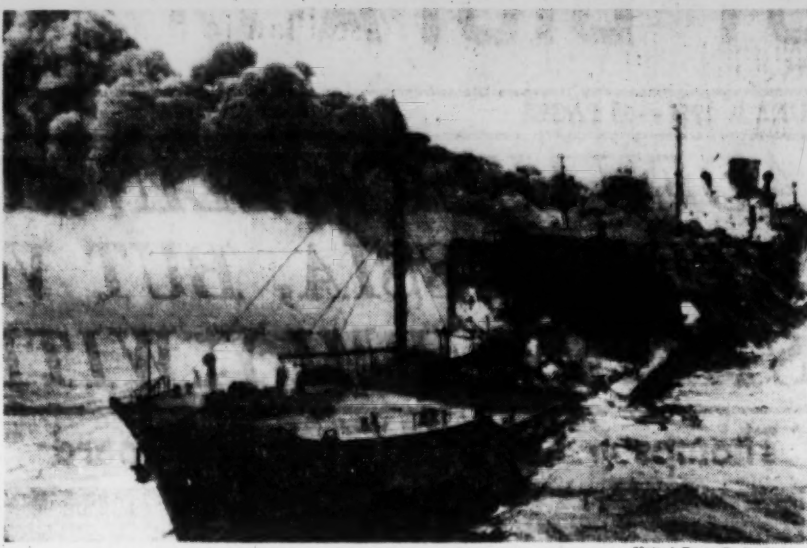

Thus far, the HHA has approved 173 college housing loans totaling $132,000,000. About 40,000 units have been built, principally student dormitories and faculty housing. If the Fulbright program is approved by the House, about 30,000 additional units could be built. The HHA's present college loan authority would be boosted from $300,000,000 to $500,000,000.

Loans to St. Louis U.
St. Louis University has obtained two loans under the program, an HHA spokesman said. One, for $712,000, was for a men's residence hall; the other, for $875,000, was for a women's residence.

Other major provisions of title three include:

1. Lower interest rates. The current rate is 3 1/2 per cent, and colleges are now ineligible for federal loans if they can obtain private financing at 3 1/2

KANSAS CITY VOTE FRAUD FILES OPEN TO BROWNELL

WASHINGTON, June 9 (UP) — Attorney General Herbert Brownell Jr. has asked the House Judiciary Committee for its files on the 1946 Kansas City vote fraud case.

The committee, it was said, told Brownell that he could check them but not take them away.

Representative Francis E. Walter (Dem., Pennsylvania), said today he considers it a "political maneuver." He said Brownell apparently "hoped a Democratic committee would reject his request so he could accuse the Democrats of 'trying to cover up'."

A special Supreme Court Justice Tom C. Clark was Attorney General when the Kansas City vote frauds occurred. He was accused of "limiting" the Federal Bureau of Investigation in its inquiry, but three Senate committees which investigated cleared him of blame.

A special House Judiciary subcommittee, now defunct, checked into the case in a general investigation of the Department of Justice two years ago.

HUNGARY PROMISES GOOD RELATIONS WITH YUGOSLAVIA

VIENNA, June 9 (UP) — Communist Hungary promised today to "establish good relations with Yugoslavia as soon as possible."

The Hungarian Red regime took its cue from Moscow after Soviet leaders paid a visit to Belgrade to patch up the Kremlin's long-standing quarrel with Marshal Josip (Tito) Broz.

The decision to court Yugoslavia and to begin a new drive to increase Hungarian agricultural production was taken at a meeting of the central committee of the Hungarian Workers (Communist) party in Budapest on June 7 and 8. The committee sessions heard a report from its first secretary, Matyas Rakosi.

U.N. CHARGES REDS MURDERED 2 SOUTH KOREAN SOLDIERS
MUNSAN, Korea, June 9 (AP) — The United Nations Command today accused the Communists of "wanting murder" of two South Korean soldiers in the demilitarized zone June 2.

The U.N. in a note to the Communists said Reds shot the two men while they were working in the United Nations half of the truce zone and then dragged one body across to Red territory.

The Communist radio earlier denied the U.N. version of the incident. Peiping radio said the men were "invading agents" who opened fire first.

per cent or less. The new rate would be 2 1/2 per cent, and colleges would be eligible for federal aid unless they could get private loans for that rate or less.

2. Maximum repayment period would be increased from 40 to 50 years.

3. A maximum of $100,000,000 in loans could be used for "essential service facilities" such as campus eating places and student recreation and medical facilities and fraternity houses still would be barred from federal aid.

THIRD WOMAN ARRESTED IN ALABAMA BANK HOLDUP

MIAMI, June 9 (UP) — The FBI today announced the arrest of a third woman in connection with the $86,707 holdup of the First National Bank of Jacksonville, Ala., by four men last May 20.

Agent Charles E. Weeks in charge of the Miami FBI office said Mrs. Katherine Ellis was arrested last night in Clearwater, Fla., on bank robbery charges and now is awaiting extradition.

Weeks identified the suspect as the wife of Alton Ellis, a part-time insurance salesman who was arrested last week at Las Vegas, Nev., on bank robbery charges and now is awaiting extradition.

Two days ago the FBI announced the arrest of Mrs. Ellen Marie Heyrend Martin at Roseburg, Ore. Mrs. Martin was accused of "being with the others prior to and after the robbery."

The first woman arrested was Mrs. Paul Andrews, wife of an ex-convict also charged with the robbery.

NOMURA WARNS JAPAN TO CONTINUE AS U.S. ALLY

TOKYO, June 9 (AP) — Kichisaburo Nomura, Pearl Harbor Ambassador to the United States, said today Japan may never again be strong enough to stand alone.

He called for Japan to base its future security on two things: buildup of its own defense force and collective security with the United States and other free nations.

In an interview hitting at critics of the United States-Japan security pact and United States-sponsored Japanese rearmament, Nomura said many Japanese forget the United States "can occupy Japan in a matter of hours."

Now 77, Nomura is a member of the House of Representatives and of Prime Minister Hatoyama's Democratic party.

ECHO PARK DAM ELIMINATED BY HOUSE GROUP

Section Calling for Study of Alternate Sites Substituted in Project Bill.

WASHINGTON, June 9 (UP) — A House Interior subcommittee today knocked Echo Park dam out of a bill to authorize the upper Colorado reclamation project.

It substituted a section calling for a study by a Presidential commission of alternate sites for the controversial structure in Dinosaur National Monument.

The actions technically were "tentative," a committee source said, but he added that they were not likely to be reversed.

In a separate action, the subcommittee added immediate authorization for Navajo dam and reservoir in New Mexico to the four storage units previously in the measure.

A roll call vote was taken in the closed session on the motion to eliminate Echo Park but the vote was not announced. Earlier in the week the subcommittee turned down a similar motion, but then decided to reconsider its action. Today's reversal followed.

Could Be Reinstated.
A committee aide said that "of course" the dam could be reinstated in the project by later congressional action if Congress desired.

The dam has been opposed by conservation groups as a precedent for "invasion" of national parks and monuments. Proponents have called it a vital part of the whole project.

The amendment proposing a study by a presidential commission was offered by Wayne C. Aspinall (Dem., Colorado), author of the bill and chairman of the subcommittee. It would authorize a commission of three or five "disinterested" engineers appointed by the President to complete a report by Dec. 31, 1958. The commission would report on:

"The alternatives to Echo Park which would accomplish the storage requirements in the upper end of the basin."

"The water losses due to evaporation, should alternatives be substituted, and the evaluation of such water losses."

"The differences in power production should alternatives be substituted, and the evaluation of such differences."

Economic Comparison.
"The economic comparison of the Echo Park unit and alternative, including consideration and evaluation of scenic and recreational benefits or losses if any which may result from construction of the Echo Park unit."

"The efficiency of the system to accomplish river regulation."

Nehru Confers With Bulganin On Causes of World Tension

Russian Premier Gives Reception for Indian Prime Minister — Soviet Press Praises Visit.

MOSCOW, June 9 (AP) — Indian Prime Minister Nehru conferred for hours yesterday with top Soviet leaders on a wide range of world problems.

Following a lengthy talk at the Foreign Ministry with Soviet Foreign Minister V. M. Molotov, Nehru went to Premier Bulganin's office for a discussion of issues which are creating international tensions.

Indian Ambassador K. P. S. Menon declined to disclose the topics discussed.

Bulganin later gave a reception for Nehru and his daughter, Mrs. Indira Gandhi. It was attended by Molotov, Communist party chief Nikita Khrushchev, Deputy Premier A. I. Mikoyan and former Premier Malenkov.

No official announcements have been made on the talks, but Moscow radio described Nehru's visit as being received in an "atmosphere of exceptional warmth and friendliness."

The Soviet government newspaper Izvestia said:

"The welcome to the Prime Minister has developed into an enthusiastic demonstration of the growing friendship of the peoples of the Soviet Union and India."

"Despite the existence in our countries of different state regimes and the fact that economic construction in each country progresses along a different path, the common striving of the peoples of the U.S.S.R. and India toward economic progress brings them still closer together."

The editorial concluded by saying that as a result of Nehru's visit "friendship and co-operation between the U.S.S.R. and India will gain in strength and a new contribution will be made to the easing of international tension."

Lack of official announcements on the talks and advance word of Nehru's sightseeing schedule annoyed Indian correspondents covering the visit. They wrote dispatches today complaining of the "veil of secrecy" which surrounds Nehru's two-week stay.

RUSSIANS TO STAY IN $400,000 MANSION AT U.N. MEETING
HILLSBOROUGH, Calif., June 9 (UP) — A 30-man delegation from Russia will stay in a $400,000 mansion near here during the United Nations anniversary meeting in San Francisco.

The Soviet diplomats have agreed to pay owner Neal McNeil, a San Francisco used car dealer, $4000 for the use of his two-story Mediterranean style house for two weeks, utilities included.

The mansion was built 27 years ago by the Spreckels sugar family. McNeil, his wife and their three children have lived in it for the last four years. The McNeils are going on a vacation.

A big white sandstone structure with a rust slate Spanish roof, the estate is situated on a three-acre estate cut off from the other mansions in the neighborhood by a ring of eucalyptus trees.

It will afford security to Soviet Foreign Minister V. M. Molotov and other Russian officials. There is only one entrance, a long driveway which leads to the front door. The nearest street with any volume of traffic is a mile and a half away.

GRUENTHER SAYS WEST WILL KEEP AIRPOWER EDGE

Allies Would Win All-Out War Because of Long-Range Air Superiority, He Asserts.

WASHINGTON, June 9 (AP) — Gen. Alfred M. Gruenther said today he believes the United States "still holds a substantial superiority over the Soviets in long range airpower" and can continue to hold the edge.

The Allied commander in Europe also told the House Foreign Affairs Committee the Western powers could defeat the Russians in all-out war, primarily because of our long-range air capabilities.

The United States Air Force recently has ordered a speedup in long range bomber production after a controversy over the relative strength of United States and Russian airpower.

Gruenther said "we must under no circumstances permit a weakening of a relaxation of our effort" to build West Europe's defense. He testified at a three-hour closed-door session on foreign aid. A summary of his statement was made public, and the General later talked briefly to reporters.

He said he had "great faith" in West German Chancellor Adenauer and indicated he felt no concern of a visit to Moscow by Adenauer would undermine plans to rearm West Germany.

Gruenther told the committee that West Germany's contribution would permit the North Atlantic Treaty Organization to extend its European defenses "much farther forward than we can now."

Gruenther also told the newsmen that recent Yugoslav-Russian conferences in Belgrade had "not created any military problem." Committee members said the General supported continued Western arms help to Yugoslavia on the grounds it is still an independent nation.

COUNTY POLICE TO REDUCE FORCE, NOT SALARIES, IF BUDGET IS CUT

Emphasis to Be on Quality, Not Quantity, DuBois Says in Comment on Recommendation by Matthews.

If the new St. Louis county police department must live within the reduced budget proposed by County Supervisor Luman F. Matthews, it will do so by reducing personnel rather than salaries, Police Superintendent Albert E. DuBois said today.

Matthews recommended to the County Council yesterday that the $343,698 proposed by the police department for its operations for the six months beginning July 1 be reduced to $244,463, a cut of $99,235.

The Council called a special meeting for Monday at 7:30 p.m. to discuss Matthews' recommended budgets for the new department as well as for the sheriff and four constables, whose law enforcement duties will be assumed by the department at the end of this month.

"We will go to work today with Supervisor Matthews adjusting our figures to fit the amount allocated to us and which we were told represents the only funds available," DuBois told the Post-Dispatch.

To Insist on Quality. Repeating that he will insist on quality rather than quantity, he said the adjustments would come in the number of personnel and not in the salaries he has proposed for the department.

"I will also recommend to the Board of Police Commissioners that an additional appropriation be sought later in the year in order that we may provide adequate police protection for St. Louis county," he asserted. One such source of additional funds is the possibility toward the end of the year that unexpended balances may be transferred from one office to another.

DuBois said that Matthews' proposed elimination of funds for uniforms and firearms for members of the department would adversely affect morale and he expressed the hope these items would be restored later.

Metcalfe to Attend Meeting. Walter L. Metcalfe, chairman of the police board, said he would attend Monday's special meeting to restate the board's position that the budget it had requested was a minimum one. He said the reduction suggested by Matthews would severely handicap the department.

At the Council meeting yesterday, Metcalfe asserted the reduced budget would mean fewer men available for patrol work than are now engaged in this type of activity and a 24 per cent reduction from the 94 patrolmen which the department had proposed.

"Certainly it was the sense of the charter amendment establishing the police department that patrol service would not be diminished," he said. He also expressed dissatisfaction with Matthews' proposal to house the department in the sheriff's present quarters.

James W. Connor, operating director of the St. Louis Crime Commission, who has been assisting in organizing the new department, said in a statement today its budget request had been compiled with full regard for maximum economy and minimum requirements for proper quarters, equipment and personnel. He said the department's success or failure depends on granting of the full request.

Sheriff Arthur C. Mosley told the Council it would be "utterly impossible" to operate his office on the $37,285 recommended by Matthews. Mosley had asked for $97,309. The lower budget would force him to operate with 24 instead of the 41 employees he had asked for. He produced figures on the volume of civil work

Life Term Ends Paglino's Fantastic Efforts to Hide Self From Society

He Is Found Guilty of Murder in Tourist Court Fire of Man Buried as Paglino.

By TOM YARBROUGH
Of the Post-Dispatch Staff.

A circuit court jury at Clayton decided last night that Albert L. Paglino must spend the rest of his life in prison for murder. It thereby accomplished in cold fact what he had tried and failed to bring about in fantastic fiction—his removal from society.

Unwilling to face a heavy load of debts, including alimony to his first wife, Paglino, a meat-cutter of modest means and simple tastes, decided a little more than a year ago to make it appear that Albert L. Paglino had left this world.

Then he could forget the old financial obligations and have a new life, he thought. He put his imagination to work and burned another man to death in a tourist cabin where he, Paglino, was registered as the only occupant.

Funeral Held for Paglino. All went well at first. Authorities reported that Albert L. Paglino had died in the fire, and there was a funeral for Albert L. Paglino, whose second wife had said she had not seen him for three days before the fire.

But the real Paglino became careless right away. He turned up in a Kingshighway tavern, where he was known, the very day of his funeral. A woman of his acquaintance was sitting there with a friend. She looked up, caught her breath, and whispered: "See that man over there. We buried him this morning!"

The word soon got around, and 10 days later he was arrested and the victim of the fire was disinterred. There were signs that the body was that of an itinerant railroad worker named Willie Burchett. Examination before burial had shown the presence of a large amount of alcohol in some cases enough to be fatal.

Charged With Murder. Paglino was charged with murder and released on bond. That was in April 1954.

By September that old urge to be free of every debt had asserted itself again and he concocted another scheme — one without the element of murder. He went to two St. Louis stores, purchased the raiment of a priest, took it home and drove his car to the Mississippi river, at the foot of Carr street.

He started the motor, jumped out, and the car plunged in. Sure enough, the police found that it was Albert L. Paglino's auto and there was no Paglino. In such cases the body of the driver sometimes is carried down river and eventual identification is difficult, if possible at all.

That time it seemed to have worked. Paglino was under a $15,000 bond on the murder charge, but that did not deter him from heading for the fervently desired new life under another name, debt free.

Settled in California. He headed for California, and settled in a small town in the Imperial Valley. Calipatria population 2000. He got a job at the town's only hotel, the Royal, and made himself useful and well liked as a handyman. He was soon going on to a better job as bartender.

As in any place of that size, the town people got to know him. Including the postmistress — and that was his undoing.

As an interstate fugitive from a murder charge, Paglino was of interest to the Federal Bureau of Investigation, which makes inquiries in many places, including little towns in California. The FBI circulated a photograph of him.

It addressed one to the hotel handled by his office to show that a staff of this size was unequal to this task.

Mosley also protested against the suggestion that his office be moved to second-floor quarters as "that little cupboard."

Ordinance on Ice Boxes. The Council passed an ordinance prohibiting the discarding or abandonment of ice boxes and refrigerators with doors or lids that cannot be opened from the inside. Called forth by repeated deaths of children in various parts of the country who have suffocated in such traps, the ordinance provides a maximum penalty of a fine of $100 or 60 days in jail or both.

A $100,000 appropriation measure for repairs and general improvement to the St. Louis County Hospital from the $3,438,000 bond issue of February 1954, was also approved.

Support of a bill, now awaiting Gov. Phil M. Donnelly's signature, providing for regulation of nursing homes throughout the state was expressed in a motion adopted by the Council.

The Council also approved a request to the State Tax Commission that the distributive property of 18 utilities in St. Louis county be assessed by the commission at $40,275,604, the same as last year. The 1955 valuation filed with the commission by the utilities was $35,854,547. The Council also voted to instruct the county tax collector to collect 2 cents on the $100 of assessed valuation from five railroads and the Union Electric Co. which had failed to pay the 1954 levy of 3 cents by the Metropolitan Sewer District.

The State Supreme Court has ruled against a 3-cent rate in the county because it was 1-cent higher than the rate in the St. Louis portion of the district. The court held the rate had to be uniform throughout the district.

where Paglino was doing so well. One of his jobs was to open the mail. But the morning that FBI notice arrived he did not get around to going through the mail very promptly. He let it lie, and went on to a late breakfast.

In the meantime the postmistress, Mrs. Lois Ford, was seeing a copy of the FBI flyer. She recognized the "man wanted" as none other than the friendly handyman over at the Royal, who had been going by the name Frank Beck.

She called the police. Paglino was arrested at the breakfast table, and that was the end of the road for him. He did not admit his identity, but fingerprints and tattoo marks were against him.

Took New Wife. Things had been going so well for Paglino in his new life that he took a new wife. He did not mention her to the authorities.

—she was in jail on a perjury charge—but inquiry by a Post-Dispatch reporter showed that he had married a local girl on New Year's day at Yuma, Ariz. Sheriff Arthur C. Mosley and Capt. Harry Newbold of the homicide squad flew out to bring him back and he waived extradition. His bond was set at $35,000. He insisted for a while that his name was Frank Beck (curiously close to that of his father-in-law, Frank Reck), but by the time he was back at Clayton he admitted that he was Paglino.

His trial started Monday, and the state was ready with many witnesses. Paglino had none, and it was decided that he should not testify in his own defense. His attorney, Charles M. Shaw, put his case in his final argument.

Shaw pointed to gaps in the state's case. It had not been proved absolutely that the victim of the fire was Willie Burchett. It had not been proved that Paglino knew anyone named Burchett, nor that he had picked up anyone in his automobile the night of the fire. The cause of the fire had not been shown.

Witnesses for State. But a handwriting expert had testified that the same person had written various signatures, some as Albert L. Paglino and some Albert Lewis, another name he had used. The proprietor of the St. Louis Tourist Court, 8950 Watson road, testified that it was Paglino who registered alone that night about midnight — and that a. m. when passing motorists saw the cottage in flames.

It was a warm night, and the gas heater had been turned off when Paglino was assigned to his quarters.

And Paglino had nothing to say. The case went to the jury at about 6 o'clock, and four hours later there was a verdict. One member of the jury, a woman, hesitated when polled, but confirmed that she had voted for conviction.

Paglino made no show of emotion when the verdict was announced. His sister, Mrs. Rose Filla, screamed and fainted. She was taken out to a corridor and revived.

Choices Before Jury. The jury had three choices: to give him death, life imprisonment, or acquittal. The state's case was handled by two assistant prosecuting attorneys, Merle L. Silverstein and Donald E. Laster. They did not demand the death penalty.

The case was bizarre to the end with aspects of pulp fiction. It appeared for a while that Paglino had escaped on being taken from the courtroom. Deputy sheriffs whipped out revolvers and went dashing through the corridors, but it was soon clear that the defendant was very much in custody, not even thinking of getting away.

It developed that when Deputy Sheriff John Colligan took Paglino to a private elevator on the second floor, an automatic door on it closed after Paglino had entered and before the deputy could put his pistol in a nearby drawer, as required by regulations.

The elevator went down to the ground floor, and Paglino stepped out. There, by chance, was the jailer, Remy Sauer, who knew him. And the deputies in hot pursuit could calm down.

CHARGES AGAINST 4 MEN IN SHOOTING NOL-PROSSED

Gambling and peace disturbance charges against four men arrested early yesterday in connection with the firing of shots following a quarrel were nol-prosessed today by Assistant City Counselor Roy A. Fish in police court.

Fish told reporters the men said they would not testify against each other and that police lacked independent evidence to prove the charges. The defendants were Elvis White, an assembler, 1900 block North Thirteenth street; Clyde Schlattman, a chauffeur, 1900 block of Benton street; Orville Sharp, laborer, 3500 block of North Ninth street; and Ernest Paul Sarkis, 1218A Sidney street. All four were charged with gambling and all except Schlattman were charged with individual peace disturbance. The shots were fired near Sarkis' tavern at 2800 Shenandoah avenue. No one was hurt. The argument reportedly arose over $1800 won in a poker game.

HOUSE UNIT OPENS INQUIRY FILES TO TAX JURY HERE

Limited Access to Record of Old Investigation Granted to Government.

By a Washington Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.

WASHINGTON, June 9—The House Judiciary Committee agreed today to allow the Department of Justice restricted access to files wanted to assist the St. Louis federal grand jury in its tax scandal inquiry. Chairman Emanuel Celler (Dem.), New York, told the Post-Dispatch after a closed committee meeting that Assistant Attorney General Warren Olney III would be permitted to look at the files of the old Judiciary subcommittee that investigated Department of Justice administration in 1952 and 1953.

Celler said, however, that Olney would be allowed to examine the files only in the presence of Representative Frank L. Chelf (Dem.), Kentucky, chairman of the subcommittee when it began its inquiry. If Olney wants to remove any documents to have them copied he will have to return to the full Judiciary Committee for specific permission, Celler said.

Celler took the position the request by the Justice Department to see the files involves the question of separation of the legislative and executive branches of the Government. He said bitterly that when the legislative branch asks for executive files it is "snubbed," and added he had no intention of casually turning over legislative files to executive departments.

What the Department of Justice particularly wants is testimony taken by the subcommittee in closed sessions and never made public. The objective is to compare the testimony of witnesses before the subcommittee with their later testimony before the St. Louis grand jury and an earlier grand jury at Omaha.

The St. Louis grand jury is looking into alleged efforts by Justice and Treasury Department officials in 1951 to whitewash an investigation into irregularities in the office of James P. Finnegan, former St. Louis collector of internal revenue. Finnegan is serving a two-year term for misconduct in the federal penitentiary at Terre Haute, Ind.

Olney, who is in charge of the Justice Department criminal division, first asked to see the files last March 18 in a letter to Celler. He did not receive a reply. He repeated the request last month and was told by Celler the request was still under consideration.

Ruling Lets Civil Service Add Pay Rise Plan to Pending Bill

$1,500,000 Annually in Increases for City Employees Can Be Recommended, Counselor Says.

A new compensation plan, calling for $1,500,000 annually in increases for city employees, can be recommended legally by the Civil Service Commission as an amendment to a bill pending in the Board of Aldermen to increase salaries by $728,000, City Counselor Samuel H. Liberman told the commission yesterday.

Liberman, who was requested by the commission to advise it on the legal status of recommendations made earlier by the commission and more recently by Personnel Director R. Elliott Searce, held that the existence of a bill in the Board of Aldermen need not deter the commission from making a new recommendation.

The commission announced it had obtained the services of the Governmental Research Institute to make studies of the plan sent to the board by the commission on April 6 and the later recommendation made by Searce on June 1.

The studies are to be completed and the findings of the research organization will be reported to the commission by next Thursday.

Such a report will enable the commission to determine what recommendations it should make to the Board of Aldermen before it recesses June 24, the commission said.

The original Searce plan, providing for annual increases of $728,000, was recommended to the commission Jan. 19. After the commission held a lengthy series of hearings, the commission forwarded the plan, together with some minor amendments, suggested by Searce, to the Board of Aldermen on April 6.

During the hearings, department heads as well as representatives of unions contended the proposed increases were insufficient to keep municipal salaries on a par with those in private industry.

As soon as the measure was referred to the Ways and Means Committee of the Board, the committee returned it to the commission with the request that further hearings be held on the proposed wage increases.

On June 1, Searce recommended a new measure to the commission for its consideration. The bill contained new wage scales which had been negotiated meanwhile by craft unions with private industries and increases for other city employees which Searce said reflected increases awarded by private business for similar jobs. These increases totaled $1,500,000 annually.

Under the charter, the Board of Aldermen must either accept or reject the pay plans finally adopted by the commission. The board cannot change these plans by itself, but the commission can propose such changes in pending bills. The personnel director is required to make periodic recommendations on pay plan revisions, but the revisions are made by the commission.

ing traffic to a minimum, Kriz strongly recommended that motorists use Vandeventer avenue, three blocks west of Grand boulevard, for north-south movement during the period, reaching Vandeventer via Laclede avenue or Forest Park boulevard.

Construction of the Grand boulevard viaduct detour, from the bridge to a point north of Market street, involves laying of tracks for streetcars using the viaduct. Streetcars will continue to operate over the viaduct.

CHARGES AGAINST 4 MEN IN SHOOTING NOL-PROSSED

Gambling and peace disturbance charges against four men arrested early yesterday in connection with the firing of shots following a quarrel were nol-prosessed today by Assistant City Counselor Roy A. Fish in police court.

Fish told reporters the men said they would not testify against each other and that police lacked independent evidence to prove the charges. The defendants were Elvis White, an assembler, 1900 block North Thirteenth street; Clyde Schlattman, a chauffeur, 1900 block of Benton street; Orville Sharp, laborer, 3500 block of North Ninth street; and Ernest Paul Sarkis, 1218A Sidney street. All four were charged with gambling and all except Schlattman were charged with individual peace disturbance. The shots were fired near Sarkis' tavern at 2800 Shenandoah avenue. No one was hurt. The argument reportedly arose over $1800 won in a poker game.

BRICKLAYERS, CONTRACTORS TO GIVE TO POLIO FUND

About 2000 members of Local 1, AFL Bricklayers Union, will donate the wages they make tomorrow to the St. Louis-St. Louis county chapter, National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis, Leo F. Havey, business representative of the union, announced today.

Contributions of the bricklayers will be matched by members of the Mason Contractors Association who employ them.

It will be the sixth year that the two groups have made their donations. The gifts have averaged about $30,000 annually in the past.

WOMAN, HUSBAND DIE IN SHOOTING AT HARTFORD, ILL.

Man Apparently Shot Her, Then Himself, Police Chief Says—Found by Daughter.

Mrs. John Daniels was found shot to death and her husband fatally wounded last night in the kitchen of their Hartford (Ill.) home, 10 miles south of Alton, Jackson Noble, assistant Hartford police chief, said Daniels apparently shot his wife and then himself.

The tragedy was discovered by a daughter, Mrs. Leslie Goodrich of Wanda, Ill., about 8:15 p.m., following a family picnic in Alton, honoring the Daniels' son, Robert, scheduled to enter Navy service today. The parents did not attend.

Mrs. Daniels, 49 years old, was lying on the floor dead, shot twice in the head, and Daniels, 55, also on the floor, had one bullet wound in the head, Noble reported. A 22-caliber revolver was near Daniels' right hand. He died on arrival at Wood River (Ill.) Hospital.

Members of the family were at loss to explain the shootings, Noble reported. They said Daniels had not been feeling well recently, but that his illness was not thought to be serious.

Daniels came home early yesterday afternoon from his job as a production worker in an oil plant at Wood River and said he was too ill to attend the picnic. His wife then decided to remain home to care for him. They are survived by 10 children, three of whom live at home, Noble said.

4 AT ORDONANCE PLANT GET TOTAL OF $800 IN AWARDS

Four employees of the St. Louis Ordnance Plant, 4300 Goodfellow boulevard, received a total of $800 in cash awards today in recognition of meritorious service.

Harold C. Snell, 1728A Morton avenue, chief of the inspection division, received a $300 award. Other winners were Miss Jennie Tallo, 5116 Delmar boulevard, $200; Claude J. Heman, 6456 Smiley avenue, $200, and Mrs. Helen L. Decker, 140 St. Nicholas lane, Florissant, $100.

The awards were presented by commanding officer Lt. Col. J. H. Bash. He said they were based on outstanding performance ratings and were the first to be presented under recent changes in civil service regulations.

FIGHTERS BUILT TO CARRY A-BOMB SENT TO FORMOSA

Thunderjets Can Fly 'Maximum Effort Missions,' New York-to-Moscow Range.

TOKYO, June 9 (UP)—Long-range United States F-84-G fighter-bombers designed to carry atomic bombs and prepared to fly "maximum effort missions" now are based on Formosa, the United States Far East Air Forces disclosed today.

A "task force" of the Thunderjets landed on the Nationalist-held island yesterday from Okinawa, an Air Force announcement said. It said the number was not disclosed—"in minutes were capable of flying a maximum effort mission."

The F-84-G can carry an atom bomb a distance equal to that between New York and Moscow. It is designed for refueling in flight. Four of the Thunderjets set a new non-stop record for jet fighters by flying 4840 miles from Japan to Australia last month.

The announcement said the Thunderjets "will fly daily training sorties" while based in Formosa. It did not reveal how long the planes would remain on the Nationalist Chinese island bastion.

The Air Force said the Thunderjets were moved to Formosa in a "continuing Fifth Air Force deployment exercise to maintain and increase unit mobility and operational potential throughout the Far East."

Informed Air Force sources said there is no plan at the present to base the Thunderjets permanently on the island. The Fifth Air Force has been rotating Sabrejet fighter squadrons in and out of Formosa since January. A new Sabrejet squadron arrived in Formosa earlier this week.

An authoritative American source in Taipei said yesterday that a "handful" of Marine-Navy pilots also are undergoing "familiarization" training in Formosa.

Nationalist Raid Reported. Peiping radio said today four Nationalist Chinese planes raided the coastal area of Communist China northeast of Quemoy on Monday, killing two fishermen and wounding five.

On Tuesday the Nationalists on Formosa said their planes had destroyed more than 10 of 120 junks strayed near Shenhu bay which is northeast of Quemoy in the same general area.

In Taipei, nationalist air force headquarters said Red Chinese anti-aircraft shot down a Nationalist Chinese patrol plane Sunday off the Fukien coast. The air force said a propeller-driven Thunderbolt was hit near Swatow. It tried to reach Nationalist Quemoy 125 miles to the northeast but crashed into the sea.

Queen Opens Parliament, Pledges Britain Will Work for Peace

Stresses That in All Efforts Her Nation Will Continue Close Association With U.S.

LONDON, June 9 (AP)—Queen Elizabeth II opened a new session of Parliament today under the shadow of Britain's gravest industrial crisis since the general strike of 1926.

After a passing reference to the crippling 12-day-old national railroad strike, the Queen pledged the vast resources of her far-flung commonwealth to the cause of peace. She stressed that in all efforts Britain "will continue to work in close accord with the United States."

The Queen said that Britain looks "forward in a spirit of confidence and goodwill to fruitful negotiations with the Government of the Soviet Union."

Formosan Peace. In consultations with the other governments concerned, she continued, "my government will continue earnestly to seek a peaceful settlement of the situation in the Formosa Strait."

The Queen made her traditional speech from the throne in the House of Lords, where the peers and members of the New House of Commons assembled for the first session of Parliament under the new administration of Prime Minister Eden.

Her address was prepared, according to custom, by Eden and members of his government. It charted the general policy his Conservative administration will follow.

Much of the traditional color and pageantry of the ceremony, including the trooping of the color, was omitted because of the rail strike. The Queen rode to Westminster in an automobile instead of the usual horse-drawn state coach. There was no escort of troops lining the route from Buckingham Palace to the Parliament building.

These changes in procedure were made to avoid increasing traffic congestion. The strike also caused the opening ceremony to be advanced from next Tuesday. To make sure that the national emergency proclamation issued by the Queen June 1 could be put before Parliament "as soon as possible," as required by law.

The Queen made only one mention of the strike, saying: "The grave situation created by the interruption of railway services made it necessary to advance the date of the opening of Parliament. I proclaimed a state of emergency under the emergency powers act of 1920 to enable my ministers to take steps needed to maintain supplies and services essential to the life of the community."

The speech was fairly short and dealt mainly with domestic issues.

The Queen pledged that her ministers will work to expand the sale of British goods in foreign markets. She said full employment "will continue to be the first care of my ministers" and added that they "are convinced that, with the steady expansion of production in industry, commerce and agriculture, an ever higher standard of living can be secured for the whole nation."

This sounded like an appeal to labor to forego strikes. The opening of Parliament coincided with the Queen's official birthday. Her real birthday is April 21—she's 29—but the official ceremonies are held in June when the chances of good weather are better.

The weather was rainy and chilly anyway. It was the usual "Queen's weather," it has rained for nearly all important events in the Queen's three-year reign.

MANILA, June 9 (UP)—A recent beauty contest at Barrio Waril on the island of Panay resulted in the death of more than 37,000 rats, the Department of Agriculture reported today. The contest sponsored by the department stipulated that votes for the beauty queen be cast in rat tails.

U.S. GRANTS JAPAN TARIFF CUTS TO RETAIN TRADE

WASHINGTON, June 9 (AP)—The United States today granted substantial tariff concessions to Japan as part of a western move to keep the Japanese trading with the free world instead of Red China.

In return, Japan cut or froze present tariffs on nearly 50 percent of its annual imports from the United States.

This exchange of tariff concessions, climaxing nearly four months of negotiations at Geneva, Switzerland, marked the first time the United States had ever concluded a formal trade pact with Japan since the reciprocal trade program began in 1934.

To give Japan wider access to the American market, the Eisenhower Administration reduced or "bound" present rates on about $131,000,000 worth of imports from Japan.

Tariff cuts granted by the United States covered a wide range of items, including glass Christmas tree ornaments, earthen and chinaware, spec-ties, binoculars, bamboo shades, artificial flowers, mirrors, electric light bulbs, wallpaper, cloth and cotton gloves, tuna fish, swordfish, and crab meat.

U.S. GRAND JURY RECESSES TAX INQUIRY TILL MONDAY

The United States grand jury recessed yesterday until Monday when it is expected to resume its inquiry into attempts to whitewash the original investigation of former Collector James P. Finnegan's conduct of his office during the Truman Administration.

Charles Oliphant, former chief counsel to the Internal Revenue Bureau, made his third appearance before the grand jury yesterday.

There is a possibility that Anthony J. (Tony) Giardano, St.

Louis gangster, may be before the jury Monday. An attempt is being made to obtain the books of the Twin City Distributing Co., of which he is an officer, in connection with a cigarette tax stamp fraud that cost the city about $425,000. He is also to be questioned about reported imports of narcotics.

that there was confusion over the strike deadline, which was extended for five days from Tuesday midnight.

Two men were arrested yesterday following a fight between a picket and a man who came out of the Chevrolet plant at the 3 p.m. quitting hour.

Police booked a man who said he was Marion Street, 1245 Blackstone avenue, who came out of the plant, and Willie Austin, a picket, of Belleville. Witnesses reported that Street knocked Austin down, blacking his eye. Both were booked for police court on peace disturbance charges.

STRIKERS WARNED BY UAW CHIEF

DETROIT, June 9 (UP)—More than 50,000 wildcat strikers at Ford and General Motors plants started back to work today in response to Walter Reuther's warning that they were liable to disciplinary action.

Reuther and other top CIO United Auto Worker officials sent orders to the workers to end the strikes, which have seriously affected operations of the nation's two biggest auto firms.

Skilled workers at Ford had shut down many operations for three days with "protest strikes," asserting they did not receive enough of a wage increase in the new "guaranteed pay" contract to keep them abreast of skilled workers in other industries.

General Motors workers engaged in "impatience strikes," hoping their action would speed negotiations at General Motors where a strike deadline has been set for midnight Sunday.

Negotiators, pressing to meet the deadline, met until nearly midnight before quitting for the night.

Reuther and John Livingston, union vice president who heads the UAW's G.M. department, sent a wire to all General Motors' locals telling them their wildcat strikes were "sabotaging" contract talks. They also warned the workers the union could not protect them from "disciplinary action" if they engaged in unauthorized strikes.

They also said the company had served notice it would not take up in negotiations any "local problems" of local unions that were on strike.

Shortly before midnight, Reuther issued another warning—this time to Ford workers, particularly the tool and die workers who have crippled the Rouge plant. He warned them that any workers on strike after midnight would not have any union protection against "disciplinary action" by the company.

The warnings drew almost immediate response. More than 10,000 of the striking General Motors' workers took steps at once to return to their jobs. Livingston, looking at a list of struck plants on a bulletin board, said "that list will be shrinking right now."

Workers at the Ford Rouge plant also began returning to their jobs. The Rouge plant, which has 48,000 workers, is a key plant in the Ford national operation, shipping parts to many other assembly points.

A company spokesman said the plant's operations had "recovered substantially" and normal operations were expected today.

Despite their long sessions, it appeared General Motors negotiators still were working on minor matters and still had not started serious talks about the union's "guaranteed pay" demand. General Motors has been studying the Ford plan signed into a new contract with the union this week.

SOVIET ACCORD ON GENEVA BIG 4 TALKS INDICATED

is to co-ordinate the policies of the three Western powers in advance on every issue that is expected to come up in the Big Four talks.

Idea on Satellites.

There were indications the United States may be warning up to the idea of countering a Soviet drive for a neutral belt in Europe by demanding that the Russians include their eastern European satellites in such a belt. President Eisenhower told a press conference yesterday that "honest neutrality" for the Soviet satellites would be a real advantage.

Earlier, Secretary of State Dulles said the United States would favor any move that would increase the independence of the satellites. He shied away from the word "neutral," but officials have said neutrality would tend to increase satellite independence.

Some officials feel the Russians may have decided they can make no further progress toward expanding Communist control in Europe at present. These experts believe the Soviets now base their hopes of further conquests on long-range planning which depends on creating a neutral bloc that will include Germany along with other nations, such as Yugoslavia.

According to these officials, Russia may be willing to grant a measure of independence to its eastern European satellites to achieve a neutral Germany. This may be what Dulles had in mind when he said this week the Russians might be willing to relax their grip a bit on the satellites.

Criticism by Humphrey.

By the Associated Press.

Senator Humphrey (Dem.), Minnesota, said today the Eisenhower Administration's approach to a Big Four talks is marked by "doubts, fears and hesitations that a great nation like ours should not exhibit."

Humphrey and Senator Capehart (Rep.), Indiana, Foreign Relations Committee members, in separate interviews urged President Eisenhower and Secretary Dulles to set forth a clear and complete agenda for the projected "summit" meeting.

Russia must be confronted with promises Joseph Stalin made to the United States and Britain at the Big Three wartime Yalta conference, the Senators said.

"We got promises and agreements from Russia at Yalta that we should now insist on holding them to," Capehart said.

Mr. Eisenhower told his press conference yesterday: "Let's don't expect too much from the first one, but let us do hope that we have opened up a new atmosphere in the whole business, and maybe then our work will be fruitful instead of constantly frustrating."

Humphrey said the Administration is "carefully laying the groundwork in case things don't go well. They can then exonerate themselves by saying 'We told you so.'"

ADENAUER SAYS HE IS WILLING TO TALK WITH RUSSIA

settlement of other problems, such as security and Germany.

3. The forthcoming four-power meeting will probably last long and require a lot of patience, but the conference as such is already an element of relaxation of tension.

4. The Western European Union and its scheme for controlled limited armament and mutual assistance is an excellent pattern for a European security system.

5. Germany's reunification is a necessary prerequisite for the establishment of lasting peace in Europe and the world.

Adenauer called on the American public not to believe that the Atlantic and the Pacific fronts were different and could be looked on differently.

"Quite on the contrary: they are like communicating pipes—if you weaken the European front, the enemy (which is the same on both fronts) will show up stronger in the Asiatic theater," Adenauer said.

The Chancellor smiled proudly when I commented on the great reconstruction and the general progress which had been made by Germany since our last talk. He seemed especially pleased that I had flown on the new German airline, Lufthansa, which promises still another link between Germany and the United States.

He said he regarded the return of Lufthansa to the air as a symbol of his country's continuous progress.

GREAT RUSSIAN INTEREST IN VISIT

MOSCOW, June 9 (AP)—The Soviet Union, although busy entertaining India's Prime Minister Nehru, appeared more concerned today with whether West German Chancellor Adenauer will follow him as Moscow's distinguished guest.

The Government newspaper Izvestia and the Communist party's Pravda devoted whole pages to the Adenauer invitation and reports of German and other foreign reaction.

Much more space was given the subject than was given President Tito of Yugoslavia before his Belgrade conference with Premier Bulganin and Soviet Communist chief Nikita S. Khrushchev.

Pravda, Izvestia and Tass, the Soviet news agency, said the Soviet invitation caused confusion and anxiety in Washington and London because it is feared that the Russians had seized the initiative before the Big Four Government leaders' parley. They reported also that Moscow's bid to Adenauer had produced a "wave of exultation" across all Germany.

BERLIN, June 9 (AP)—Communist East Germany's newspapers treated West Germany today as a wayward brother who might be reformed.

The Communist party organ, Neues Deutschland, said, "The normalization of relations between the Soviet Union and the Federal Republic is an unconditional national requirement." It added that such a step would be an "especially great contribution to the reunification of Germany in peace and freedom."

ST. JOSEPH, Mo., June 9 (AP)—Richard Brown and Paul Henning of the State Bureau of Food and Drugs placed an embargo Tuesday on "Nagras Klink," a patent medicine seized by Assistant Prosecuting Attorney James H. Horn.

They came to St. Joseph at Horn's request. They said the embargo meant that Chris Nagras could not sell the medicine until it had been checked in the Jefferson City laboratory.

The two state food and drug men said Nagras told them he secured his formula for the medicine in Greece about ten years ago. He said he went to a library to get it. On the packages is the notation "Discovered by Socrates 2000 years ago."

CORPUS CHRISTI, Tex., June 9 (AP)—A trainer plane from the Navy's Cabiness Field called out Navy firefighters yesterday and was credited with saving six farm tenant houses from destruction.

One house was destroyed, about eight miles southeast of here, but Cabiness Fire Chief Leroy Dunk said all seven would have been destroyed if the pilot had not radioed his base.

ST. LOUIS POST-DISPATCH NAMED FATHER REINERT'S AID AT ST. LOUIS UNIVERSITY

Daniel J. O'Neill of Portland, Me., has been named administrative assistant to the Very Rev. Paul C. Reinert, S.J., president of St. Louis University. It was announced yesterday.

Prof. O'Neill has been president of Our Lady of Mercy College in Portland since 1948. For 20 years previously he was assistant to the president and dean of Providence College, Providence, R.I. He is the author of a number of textbooks in the fields of Latin and English.

Father Reinert said the new post was created because of the increasing complexity of modern university administration and the tremendous growth of the university in recent years. The appointment is effective July 8.

$6325 GIVEN SO FAR IN KETC FUND DRIVE

Residents of 45 School Districts Solicited—Goal Is $150,000.

A total of $6325 was received last night from residents of 45 school districts for the financial support of KETC (channel 9), the city's non-profit educational television station, it was reported today.

Contributions were solicited in a house-to-house campaign by volunteers recruited principally from women's organizations and Parent-Teacher Associations.

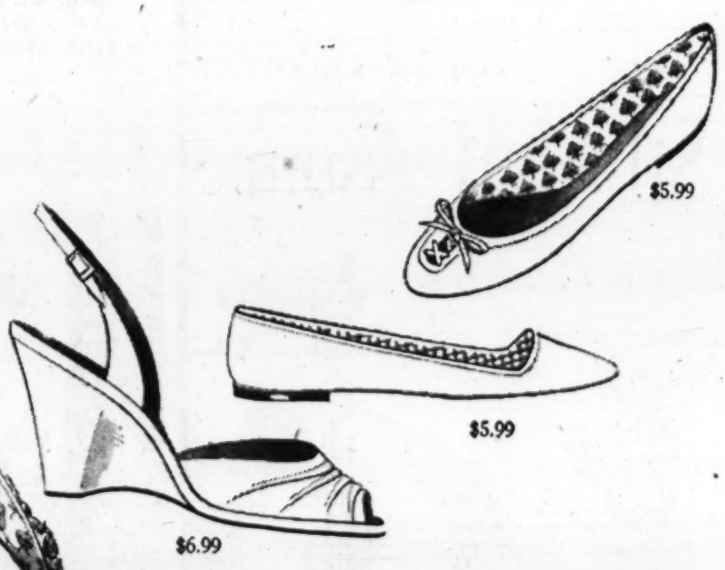

The campaign will continue tonight and tomorrow night and possibly will be extended through next week to meet the goal of $150,000 for citizen sponsors. There are 265 school districts to be canvassed.

In addition, industrial and commercial firms have pledged about $60,000 for the operation of the station during the next year.

Operating expenses of the station during the last 8 months indicates about $300,000 a year is needed to continue operations on present schedules. About half of this amount is contributed by school systems using the station's programs for classroom instruction. The remainder must be obtained from citizens.

Shelby Storck, general manager of the station, said failure to achieve the campaign goal would result in curtailment of program schedules.

BRITISH UNION AND GOVERNMENT LEADERS CONFER

Adjourn Until Tomorrow After 2-Hour Session—Hopes Still High for Rail Accord.

LONDON, June 9 (AP)—Union and government negotiators met for two hours today in their first full talks in an effort to end Britain's crippling 12-day-old strike and then adjourned until tomorrow.

Informed sources said the two sides traded views and the adjournment does not mean any breakdown.

Hopes stayed high for a quick end to the strike. Some London newspapers said it might come within 48 hours.

Despite these hopes, however, Jim Batty, leader of the striking Associated Society of Locomotive Engineers and Firemen, told newspapermen after the meeting:

"Nothing of a material kind has developed to date."

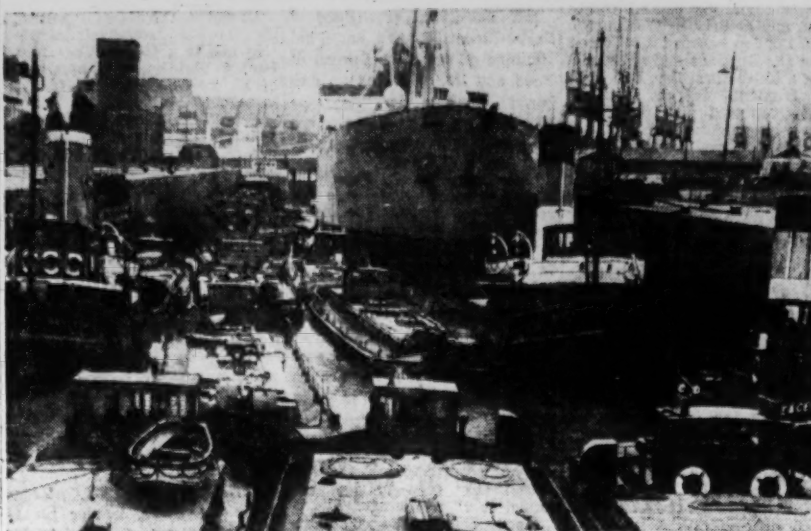

The prime aim of today's talks was to find a basis for ending the strike and then proceed with wage scale negotiations.

Hopes rose that a second costly walkout by some 20,000 stevedores in seven British ports would end soon.

This strike was caused by a jurisdictional dispute between the National Amalgamated Stevedores and Dockers Union and the rival Transport and General Workers' Union. The smaller NASDU wants equal bargaining rights with the TGWU.

NASDU, which called the strike, offered to submit the

Traffic Jam in British Port

Waterfront traffic jam at Bristol, England, where barges have been pressed into service to carry ship cargoes from dock area in which there is no storage space as result of the railway strike. Freight normally moved by rail after being unloaded from ships has filled port warehouses. Barges are being used to take the goods over inland waterways to less-crowded unloading points.

U.N. TRUSTEESHIP COUNCIL HEADED BY U.S. DELEGATE

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y., June 9 (AP)—Mason Sears, United States delegate to the Trusteeship Council, was elected president of that major U.N. body yesterday. He succeeds Miguel Rafael Urquiza of El Salvador.

The 12-nation council opened its sixteenth session to consider the welfare of 18,000,000 people in trust territories, formerly colonies, throughout the world.

After his election Sears told the council the coming year would be important because of the emergence of African territories to independence. He noted special council missions will study African Togoland plans to consolidate with the Gold Coast and British Cameroons proposals to join in a Nigerian federation which Sears said would form the largest nation in Africa south of the Equator, if the program succeeds.

A resident of Dedham, Mass., Sears has been an insurance and advertising consultant and a member of the Massachusetts Legislature. He is an appointee of the Eisenhower Administration.

COUNTY WATER CO. GIVEN PERMISSION TO ISSUE BONDS

St. Louis County Water Co. was authorized today by the Missouri Public Service Commission to issue $4,500,000 of first mortgage bonds drawing 3 3/4 per cent interest and maturing in 1985 and 30,000 shares of 4 1/2 per cent preferred stock with a par value of $100 a share.

It also was given authority to call in its present 100,000 shares of capital stock and issue in return therefore 100,000 shares of new common which would recognize certain privileges assigned to the new preferred. Both the present stock and its replacement would be without par value.

Some of the proceeds of the new financing will be used to retire some $6,400,000 in short term notes now outstanding, it was explained by President W. Victor Weir.

CHARGES UTILITY FIXED FEDERAL POWER POLICIES

Congressman Says Function Was Handed to Interior Official's Home-Town Company.

By EDWARD F. WOODS
A Washington Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.

WASHINGTON, June 9.—Representative Earl C. Chudoff (Dem., Pennsylvania), charged yesterday that Secretary of the Interior Douglas McKay, former Under Secretary Ralph Tudor and Under Secretary Clarence Davis "seem to have coldly and deliberately handed the power policy-making function of the department to Mr. Tudor's home town private utility, the Pacific Gas & Electric Co."

Chudoff, chairman of a subcommittee of the House Government Operations Committee, which is conducting an investigation of the activities of the Interior Department in the field of public power, said his investigation thus far has brought to light a "shocking and sordid situation" under the present administration of President Eisenhower.

He was particularly critical of the department for having issued new regulations which he said were designed to cripple low-cost public power projects "practically verbatim" as they were suggested to the department by Herman C. Kruse, a registered lobbyist for Pacific Gas & Electric, which has its headquarters at San Francisco, former Under Secretary Tudor's home.

James D. Geisinger, former special assistant to the solicitor for the Interior Department and now regional solicitor for the department at Denver, conceded under questioning today that he had recommended the changes in regulations to Davis last April when Davis was solicitor.

"Anonymous Document." Geisinger insisted that the recommended changes first came to his desk as what he termed "an anonymous document." It was not until a later conference in Geisinger's office with Kruse that Kruse identified the suggestions as his and stated they represented the views of other big western states private power companies.

The most damaging change in the regulations, in the opinion of low-cost public power advocates, was the elimination of a clause written into the regulations during the Truman Administration, affecting private power companies wishing to build transmission lines across public-owned lands.

Under the regulation, private companies, in return for permission to build across public lands, were required to permit transmission of power generated at federal dams to preferred low-cost power customers such as co-ops and municipalities, if there was excess capacity available.

"One of Under Secretary Davis's personally selected and appointed assistants (Geisinger) testified that the company acted through anonymous documents, quietly slipped to Interior officials, followed by closed-door conferences with Mr. Davis's handpicked attorneys, to secure the adoption practically verbatim, of regulations written by the Pacific Gas & Electric Co.," Chudoff said.

Intended to Cripple. The new regulations, Chudoff continued, were obviously intended to cripple the Department of Interior in carrying out its obligations and duties under the public power policies laid down by Congress in the Bonneville Project Act, the Flood Control Act and other statutes.

Although crediting Geisinger with a "frank disclosure of what occurred," Chudoff said he found it "hard to accept the statement that he does not remember how or from whom he originally received the anonymous Pacific Gas & Electric document," adding that "important happenings like this do not accidentally occur."

Geisinger, who told the subcommittee today that so far as he knew, the unsigned document, which bore no letterhead, simply turned up in his "incoming mail" box.

Sometime thereafter, Geisinger testified, Kruse called at his office to discuss "some appeals" from the regulation on transmission rights-of-way. He said he asked Kruse about the document and "he stated the recommendations were theirs." Later Geisinger forwarded to Davis the private utilities' recommendations along with his own recommendation that 10 of their 13 proposals should be adopted. They were, in August 1954, in an order over the signature of Tudor, who was acting secretary at the time.

Does Not Try to Reply. Geisinger, seated in the witness chair, was visibly annoyed as Chudoff expressed disbelief that the "anonymous document" reached him in the manner he described, but he did not ask for recognition to reply.

Chudoff said it was possible that "someone in authority" in the department took advantage of Geisinger's "newness" to make him "the scapegoat of this whole scandalous affair."

He said that despite resistance from the department to attempts of subcommittee staff members to examine documents relating to its power and other activities, the subcommittee would continue to try to determine "how many sordid situations like that revealed here exist in the department."

Asking rhetorically, "How

GEN. AGUINALDO, REVOLT LEADER OF MANILA, IS 87

MANILA, June 8 (AP)—Gen. Emilio Aguinaldo, whose name once was a fighting word in the United States, is 87 and still spry.

Aguinaldo led two revolts for Philippine independence. He first fought Spanish rule. When the Spanish-American war ended Spanish control, he took on the United States.

He proclaimed a Philippine Republic June 12, 1898. The day is not an official holiday, but Aguinaldo and his colleagues will observe it solemnly next Sunday, as they do each year. He took the oath of allegiance to the United States after his capture March 23, 1901.

"My captor was Gen. Arthur MacArthur (father of Gen. Douglas MacArthur) at Malacanang palace in Manila," Aguinaldo said. "He offered me six bottles of whisky. I accepted the gift but told the general I would not drink the contents nor offer them to my countrymen unless the Republic of the Philippines was restored."

Aguinaldo gave two bottles to Manuel Roxas, who became president after the United States granted independence in 1946. The old warrior has the four other bottles, but the contents are mostly evaporated.

CALIFORNIA STILL HAS MOST U.S. EMPLOYEES IN BORDERS

WASHINGTON, June 9 (AP)—California continued to lead all areas in the number of federal civilian employees within its borders at the end of 1954. Reporting this today, the Civil Service Commission said the District of Columbia, seat of the national Government, was 1035 behind California. The totals were 227,441 for California and 226,406 for metropolitan Washington.

California has held the lead in federal employee population since September 1951. The federal employee population of other states as of Dec. 31 included: Missouri, 47,820; Illinois, 101,277.

CLEMENTS VISITS WITH RHEE

SEOUL, June 9 (AP)—Senator Earle C. Clements (Dem., Kentucky), on tour of Far Eastern countries, today paid a courtesy call on President Syngman Rhee. Clements, member of the Senate Appropriation Committee, met with United States and South Korean army leaders and United States economic aid officials later. Then he left for Formosa via Tokyo.

PLANING MILL SWEEP BY FIRE, DAMAGE HEAVY

Loss Put at $50,000—22 Pieces of Equipment Respond to 4 Alarms on Lyon Street.

A spectacular fire at the Petersen Planing Mill Co., 2800 Lyon street, last night caused damage estimated by firemen at $50,000.

Four alarms were sounded, beginning at 9:15 o'clock, and a crowd of several hundred persons gathered to watch as stocks of lumber in the two-story brick building burned rapidly.

The fire was brought under control in less than two hours, but firemen did not leave until about 4 a.m.

Joseph Parisi of Hook and Ladder Co. No. 6, 314 South Twelfth street, was overcome by smoke, treated at City Hospital, and returned to the fire.

Firemen confined the blaze to the planing mill, but residents of a nearby apartment building got out as a precaution.

The fire was believed to have started in the central area on the ground floor, but the cause was not determined. Much of the damage was caused by water on lumber in a building adjoining the one that burned.

Twenty-two pieces of fire-fighting equipment were used.

DRUG ASSOCIATION MAKES CUTTER PRESIDENT-ELECT

WHITE SULPHUR SPRINGS, W. Va., June 9 (AP)—The American Pharmaceutical Manufacturers Association has honored Dr. Robert K. Cutter, whose Berkeley (Calif.) laboratories produced polio vaccine that later was withdrawn on order of the Public Health Service.

The association, at its forty-eighth annual meeting yesterday, chose Cutter as its president-elect. Kenneth F. Valentine, president of Pittman-Moore Co., Indianapolis, another of the six firms licensed to make the Salk polio vaccine, took over as president for the year now beginning.

The retiring association president, Robert A. Hardt of Hoffman-La Roche, Nutley, N.J., said in a discussion of the polio vaccine situation:

"The people of this industry do not shirk their responsibilities. Six firms in our industry courageously accepted that responsibility. They knew there were hazards as there always are in a business."

Hardt said Cutter laboratory executives are "men of integrity, ability and experience. They have the courage to withstand any criticism no matter how unfair or prolonged. We admire them for this and they have our confidence."

First Democrat Since 1904. HANOVER, N. H., June 9 (AP)—Hannover has elected a Democratic representative to the New Hampshire Legislature for the first time since 1904. Clothing merchant James W. Campion Jr., defeated Republican Robert S. Monahan 503-465 yesterday in a special election.

ONE MAJOR BOTTLER RESUMES PRODUCTION

Dr. Pepper Co. in Temporary Accord in Strike—7 Small Firms Reopen.

Dr. Pepper Bottling Co. today reached a temporary agreement with Local 303, CIO Soft Drink Workers Union, and became the first major bottler to resume production since the union ordered a strike against 20 firms here June 1.

Seven small concerns reopened this morning after reaching a similar agreement last night. About 40 employees returned to work at Dr. Pepper.

David R. Pagliara, general manager for the company, announced.

Maurice Schechter, union counsel, said the eight concerns had agreed to pay the 45-cent-an-hour wage increase sought by the union. He said the increase, bringing the pay rate to $2.50 an hour, would be in effect until a general settlement with other bottlers was reached.

The general settlement then will apply to all, Schechter said. He said most of the concerns involved in the tentative agreement were members of Missouri Bottlers' Association, which has represented management in negotiations.

About 30 members of the union were to return to work today, Schechter said, at the following plants: Blue Ridge Bottling Co., Breimeyer Bottling Co., Dad's Root Beer Bottling Co., Garger's Soda Co., IBC Root Beer Co., Moore Brothers Bottling Co. and Squirt Bottling Co.

Major companies, with which no settlement yet in prospect, included bottlers of Coca-Cola, Pepsi-Cola, Seven-Up, Vess, Hires, Royal Crown and the American Soda Water Co. Federal Mediator Arthur R. Hale said separate individual conferences were held yesterday to explore ways and means of ending the strike.

T.W.A. ASKS PERMISSION TO FLY NORTH POLE ROUTE

WASHINGTON, June 9 (UP)—Trans World Airlines yesterday asked the Civil Aeronautics Board for authorization to fly between the West Coast and Europe, on a route over the North Pole.

Pan American Airways already has applied for similar authorization. There are two foreign airlines now flying polar routes, but none of this country's. The C.A.B. is expected to schedule a hearing on the T.W.A. and Pan American applications shortly.

MAJOR ADVANCE MADE TOWARD ATOMIC PLANE

AEC Reports 'New Approach' but Declines to Elaborate — Food Made From Sunlight.

WASHINGTON, June 9 (UP)—Scientists are making "rapid strides" in research which may significantly speed up development of an atomic-powered airplane and naval ship.

The advance was disclosed in secret testimony given by Chairman Lewis L. Strauss and other Atomic Energy Commission officials to a House Appropriations subcommittee. Portions of their testimony were made public last night, but much of it was not disclosed for security reasons.

A spokesman for the AEC declined to elaborate on the "rapid strides" except to say they do not mean that actual production of an operational atomic plane or ship is imminent.

'New Approach.' AEC General Manager K. E. Fields told the congressional group a "new approach" has been found to the problem of providing atomic propulsion for airplanes. His explanation was deleted from the material made public, but indications are that scientists may have made a significant "breakthrough" in their research.

Strauss told the subcommittee "we have been greatly encouraged by developments during the past year in the aircraft nuclear propulsion program."

At another point, he said, "rapid strides have been made in the development of reactors for propulsion of naval ships and military aircraft."

He said "increasing attention" is being focused on atomic-powered ships. He said the "ultimate promise" is propulsion units for ships of all sizes, to permit an entire task force to operate at full speed without refueling for an indefinite period.

Two major problems in development of an atomic plane have been the great weight of an atomic reactor and how to shield it.

Strauss also told the subcommittee that nearly all of the AEC's vast new plant capacity will be in operation next year. He asked for $947,458,000 for making fissionable materials in the fiscal year starting July 1. This would be a 40 per cent increase despite reduced production costs.

He also asked for $271,148,000 for weapons, a $44,700,000 increase.

The total request for all AEC operations was $1,045,000,000. AEC officials disclosed that scientists at the Oak Ridge, Tenn., laboratories have succeeded "in a very small and tentative way" in using sunlight to make synthetic food without using a green plant. This could pave the way for making food from air and water alone.

The report was made by Dr. John S. Bugher, director of AEC's biology and medicine division. He said: "It has been possible—in fact the program at Oak Ridge has succeeded in doing it—to carry on a certain amount of this type of utilization of sunlight outside the living cell in a very small and tentative way."

In a similar experiment at the University of California, scientists pressed sunlight to create sugar and starch out of water and carbon dioxide in the absence of green plants.

In ordinary plants, it is the green leaves which trap sunlight and transform it into chemical energy which makes living plant tissues from water, carbon dioxide and elements absorbed from the soil.

BOY STABS TEACHER TRYING TO OUST HIM FROM BUILDING

NEW YORK, June 9 (UP)—A 17-year-old butcher's helper plunged a knife into the back of a junior high school teacher last night as the teacher attempted to throw him out of a school gymnasium because he refused to help put away boxing mats. The teacher, James O'Farrell, 28, was taken to Knickerbocker Hospital in serious condition.

The boy, Jose Vargas, known also as "Chico Mambo," asked why he had done it, finally said: "He started to push me out in front of some friends."

Vargas had earlier been taken to O'Farrell's hospital where the gravely wounded teacher identified him.

PERMITS YOUTH TO TAKE LESSER PLEA IN KILLING

NEW YORK, June 9—Frank Santana, 17 years old, charged with the murder of 15-year-old William Blankenship, was permitted to plead guilty of second-degree murder yesterday after the prosecution presented a new version of what had hitherto been described as the "senseless" killing of a "model" boy. The conviction carries a sentence of 20 years to life.

Assistant District Attorney Andrew C. McCarthy's restated the case, noting that the victim was "not quite the innocent boy certain channels of information wished us to believe."

McCarthy's request that Santana be permitted to take the lesser plea was preceded by a similar request by the dead boy's father, William Blankenship Sr., a research chemist and voluntary civic worker against juvenile delinquency.

McCarthy described the dead boy as a member of a teen-age gang, "spilling for a fight" on the night of the April 30 killing and, in fact, the instigator of the encounter that ended with Santana shooting Blankenship.

70,000 MORE THREATEN TO STRIKE IN SINGAPORE

SINGAPORE, June 9 (AP)—Sympathy strikes by 70,000 factory, transport and dock workers threatened today as Singapore's government struggled to end three walkouts and prevent Communist-inspired rioting.

The 40,000-member Singapore Factory and Shipworkers Union warned it would call a stoppage within 48 hours unless a 40-day-old strike of 1300 Singapore harbor board clerks is settled. The leader of the union, Lim Chin

Siong, is a legislative assembly member from the extreme leftist People's Action party. Leaders of unions numbering 30,000 workers in the harbor and at the big British naval base also threatened to walk out in support of the harbor board clerks.

NEW WORKHOUSE UPRISING HALTED, INQUIRY OPENS

Causes of Tuesday's Riot Sought — Warden Baynes Imposes Firm Rule.

An investigation to determine underlying causes of Tuesday night's riot at City Workhouse was being conducted today by officials of the St. Louis Department of Public Welfare, after Warden Harold E. Baynes took prompt action to put down a less serious disturbance last night.

Baynes, who has been warden only since May 2, said he believed the trouble was being fomented by a small group of inmates who have in the past received special privileges from Workhouse administrators.

"These men were bound to test me sooner or later," he told the Post-Dispatch. "They wanted to see how far they could go with the new warden. I have been slow in putting my new program into effect, but—if this is the way they want to play, they will find they are not running the Workhouse."

Warden, Guards Ready. Warden Baynes and his guards were ready for last night's outbreak after the Tuesday riot. As a result the trouble was ended before it got well started.

The tipoff came when the guards heard a small noise and a discussion among prisoners in two cells of the north cellhouse. One of the prisoners was heard to say, "wait, we've got one minute before lights out."

The warden and his assistants moved closer to the cells where trouble threatened. Then, as the lights went out, the occupants of the cells began shouting and throwing bits of flaming newspapers into the corridor.

Eight city policemen responded to a riot alarm, Baynes and his men opened the doors of the two cells and herded the 14 inmates away from the other prisoners. They were placed in two holding cells in the Workhouse receiving room where any disturbance they created would not reach the others.

The trouble was over within minutes and the police officers were not needed.

Spreading of Privileges. Baynes believes the riot and last night's disturbance were started because of his efforts to extend to all inmates some of the privileges which heretofore have been given to only a few. In doing this, he said, he was forced to curb privileges granted a few inmates having influential friends on the outside.

"About 30 or 40 prisoners have been permitted to receive as many visitors as they wanted in the warden's office," he said. "The others received only a few visitors and had to talk to them through a heavy wire screen."

"I solved this by stopping the visits in the warden's office and opening up a brightly painted visiting room where all inmates could talk to visitors across a table. I discontinued use of the screen."

The Tuesday riot began after Warden Baynes posted new rules limiting the number of visitors and the number of letters a prisoner may receive.

"Previously mothers and close relatives of some prisoners were unable to see them because a favored few were getting as many visitors as they wanted," Baynes said. "The favored ones were using up all the visiting space by receiving delegations of friends from their neighborhoods."

The new rules, not yet in effect, provide that each prisoner may receive only one guest per visiting period. Visiting is permitted on Tuesday, Thursday and Sunday. Guests will be limited to immediate families except in some cases when an inmate can arrange to see two visitors to whom he is not related.

Visiting privileges also will be tied in with a new Workhouse rehabilitation program, Baynes said.

"I believe a man's family can do more to help him than an outsider," the warden said. "Some of the young men have been receiving visits from girlfriends without the parents of either knowing about it."

Baynes said he believed, for instance, that a man who is in the Workhouse because of his drinking habits could not be helped by a visit from a friend who also is an alcoholic.

About 154 inmates who were moved out of the north cellhouse Tuesday night because of the tear gas used to break up the riot were to be returned to their cells today.

Baynes said he would punish ringleaders of the riot by taking away "good time" earned by them. If he can obtain proof who the ringleaders are, "Good time" is taken off sentences being served by inmates.

Mrs. Edward Brungard, director of public welfare, said she believed the riot and disturbance would seriously retard the extensive progress being made by Baynes in establishing sound policies to improve conditions for the prisoners.

"I have the utmost confidence in Warden Baynes," she said. "He brought with him to his new duties many years of top-rated experience in the operation of penal institutions."

"Immediately upon assuming his duties he undertook a thorough investigation of conditions and set about the tremendous task of eliminating inequities and favoritism, and inaugurated in St. Louis those policies and practices nationally recognized as necessary in modern penology."

The final solution of the Workhouse problem, Mrs. Brungard said, will not be reached until a new $3,000,000 Workhouse, approved by voters in the May 26 bond issue election, is built.

"The facilities in which our prisoners are now housed are deplorable," she said. "Some of the buildings are more than 100 years old. Living quarters for prisoners are cramped. Due to limited space there is very little opportunity for the organized recreation or work programs necessary for the physical and mental well being of the men."

ST. LOUIS BROADCAST FIRM GRANTED LICENSE IN FLORIDA

Application of Missouri Broadcasting Co., which operates Radio Station WIL here, for the license now held by Radio Station WBRD at Fort Lauderdale, Fla., was granted by the Federal Communications Commission, it was announced today.

Officials of Missouri Broadcasting Co. said the Florida station had been off the air about nine months as a result of a fire. The St. Louis firm has concluded a lease of the station with option to buy and will start reconstruction of the facilities at once, they said.

CIVIL SERVICE COUNSEL TO HEAD REFUGEE RELIEF

Pierce Gerety Will Work Under Scott McLeod but Have 'Complete Authority.'

WASHINGTON, June 8 (AP)—Pierce J. Gerety, general counsel of the Civil Service Commission, today was given the hot spot job of running the refugee relief program.

The 41-year-old Bridgeport, Conn., lawyer was ushered into the assignment with some ceremony plainly intended to show high level Administration backing for his efforts to get more steam into the bogged down program.

Secretary of State Dulles announced the appointment, then personally escorted Gerety to the White House to be introduced to President Eisenhower. Also in the group was Scott McLeod, State Department security chief whom the law makes overall administrator of the law for admission of 214,000 refugees to the United States by the end of 1956.

The announcement said Gerety will serve under McLeod but will have "complete authority and responsibility for the operation of the refugee program."

Performance Under Fire. McLeod's performance in the refugee relief job has been under fire from Congressional proponents of a more liberal immigration policy. He was a chief target of bitter criticism voiced by Edward L. Corsi, prominent New York Republican who was ousted in April from a job carrying the same "deputy administrator" title now given to Gerety.

Corsi, let out 90 days after he was brought into the State Department as adviser to Dulles on immigration problems, called the refugee program "a complete failure and a national scandal." Dulles said he was let go because he was trying to take over the whole job in place of McLeod.

A State Department spokesman said the job description for Gerety's assignment is about the same as that of Corsi's post. At the White House Gerety told reporters the President "assured me of his great interest in the (refugee) program and his desire to see it succeed, and told me I'm to make it succeed."

Mr. Eisenhower himself has said the job is not going as fast as he had hoped, and only last week he sent to Congress 10 proposals for amendment of the law which he said would make it easier to carry out the plan.

The sharp talk about how the job is going revolves partly around the figures on persons cleared for entry under the program and actually admitted. The latest count, given by the State Department today is 30,652 visas issued, mostly to applicants from Italy, and 21,360 actually entered.

Mr. Eisenhower's proposals for liberalization of the law are under study by a Senate Judiciary subcommittee and Representative Walter (Dem., Pennsylvania, chairman of a House Judiciary Subcommittee on Immigration, has predicted the House never will take them up. Walter has a target of Corsi along with McLeod.

Gerety said Mr. Eisenhower expressed hope for speedy enactment of his refugee law proposals. He stated his own view that they would make success of the program easier to attain.

McLeod told reporters the entry of refugees is beginning to catch up.

Gerety is a 1942 honor law graduate of Fordham University. Before he went to Fordham he was a reporter on the Bridgeport (Conn.) Post. After graduation he worked five years with the New York law firm headed by the late Wendell Willkie, then went to Bridgeport with the firm of Curtis, Trevelyan & Gerety. He has been on leave from that partnership since June 1954, for Government service.

For a year before he took the full-time civil service legal post, Gerety was chairman of the International Organizations Employee Loyalty Board handling loyalty cases of Americans employed by such agencies as the United Nations.

SUGGESTS, IF YOU ARE

Past 30- watch out for age-spots* and wrinkles

Change hand care

Yes, if you are past 30—do watch out for those hard weathered brown spots and wrinkles that make the surface of your hands look as old—often older—than you really are. At 30 years, many smart women are changing to a new all-purpose hand cream called Estetica. It takes these spots and wrinkles out as ordinary hand preparations can never do. For instant inroads and found in other leading had creams or lotions actually begin breaking up brown pigment masses and stimulating new smooth beauty the instant it touches your skin. Continued use of Estetica will virtually guarantee you'll be free of age-spots and wrinkle worries indefinitely. Estetica keeps hands soft, smooth and fair as they can possibly be. Not a cover-up, but a fragrant, greenish cream-moderated without moderate look or odor. Product of a trustworthy 31-year-old laboratory. Originally $5.00 now only $2.00 for same big jar. Get Estetica today. Hands more beautiful tomorrow.

SMART GIRLS NEVER GO OUTDOORS WITHOUT IT...

Helene Curtis spray net

Neither sun, nor rain, nor summer breeze can worry the hair that's softly guarded by SPRAY NET

Once, summer was rough on a hair-do. Either you let it blow and hoped to look "informal", or you stuck it in place with something that left you with that plastic-coated look.

Not any more. With just a whisper of Helene Curtis SPRAY NET not a curl can droop, not a wisp can stray the whole day through. And your hair will be naturally soft, naturally silky—never stiff, never dry, because SPRAY NET contains exclusive spray-on Lanolin Lotion.

Smart girls never go outdoors without it. We hope that includes you. If it doesn't, better get outdoors and get SPRAY NET.

SMART GIRLS ALWAYS USE SPRAY NET...

BEFORE A BATH. Just a quick swoosh of Helene Curtis SPRAY NET—and even the steamiest tub won't wilt your wave.

FOR AN UNEXPECTED DATE. Just roll up those stragglers, spray, and your pincurls are set in minutes.

AFTER A SHAMPOO. Even fly-away hair remembers its place and settles down prettily when you make it behave with SPRAY NET.

IN DAMP, HUMID WEATHER. SPRAY NET holds that wave. Won't let curls go limp or wisps get out of line.

WHENEVER your hair must keep specially nice for hours, depend on SPRAY NET. Smart girls never go out without it.

NOW IN TWO FABULOUS FORMULAS

New SUPER-SOFT, SPRAY NET
 without lacquer, gives hair gentle control.

ST. LOUIS MEDICAL OFFICER HONORED BY SOUTH VIET NAM

Lt. (j.g.) Thomas A. Dooley III, Navy medical officer from St. Louis, has received South Viet Nam's highest decoration for his work in aiding refugees in Communist-dominated North Viet Nam, it was learned here today.

The award, the Officier de l'Ordre National de Viet Nam, was presented to Dooley recently by Ngo Dinh Diem, South Viet Nam Prime Minister, in his palace in Saigon.

Dooley, son of Mrs. Thomas A. Dooley, 4402 McPherson avenue, served as medical officer for three refugee camps in Halphong, a French enclave in North Viet Nam, from last August until the Communists occupied the city in May, following evacuation of residents wanting to live in South Viet Nam.

SHERIFF MOSLEY APPEARS BEFORE GAMING INQUIRY

County Grand Jury Looks Into Reports Gamblers Are Planning to Invade Area.

Sheriff Arthur C. Mosley of St. Louis county appeared before the county grand jury today in its investigation of reports that hoodlums and gangsters plan to bring organized gambling to the county, taking advantage of the expected confusion in transfer of the sheriff's police powers to the new county police department.

The jury, under direction of Prosecuting Attorney Edward W. Garnholz, was charged by Circuit Judge Franklin Ferriss last May 26 to determine as far as possible whether the reports are true.

At opening of the inquiry last Tuesday the jury heard testimony of Albert E. DuBois, superintendent of the county police department; Capt. Philip K. Moeller, head of the sheriff's gambling, liquor and vice squad; James W. Connor, operating director of the St. Louis Crime Commission; and Theodore C. Link of the Post-Dispatch staff.

Others scheduled to appear before the grand jury today were four witnesses in its inquiry into the handling of funds in the Kinloch School District. State Auditor Haskell Holman criticized the district's bookkeeping methods in an audit report issued in November 1953 and asserted that excessive salary payments had been made to teachers.

A civil suit to recover $34,169 from four former members of the Scudder School Board was filed in circuit court at Clayton today in a matter which the grand jury also was expected to investigate.

The suit, filed by the present six-member school board, alleged the money was paid to Alphonse H. James, who was a member of the old three-member board, supposedly for work done for the district.

District records are incomplete on transactions between the board and James, the petition said, adding that in any event the holding of a position for profit by a board member would violate state law.

Named as defendants in addition to James were Rex E. Neeley, president of the board; William H. Burns, Neeley's successor as president; and James McKinney, board clerk.

4 Czechs on Trial as Spies.

VIENNA, June 9 (AP)—Four Czechs accused of spying for the United States went on trial yesterday, Radio Prague reported. The broadcast said they are charged with collecting secret data on Czechoslovakia's army and economy and with having turned it over to "American espionage centers" in West Germany.

FIVE CHICAGO POLICEMEN ACCUSED OF LOOTING STORE

CHICAGO, June 9 (AP)—Five suburban policemen were summoned today before the Cook county grand jury in connection with theft of $800 of merchandise from a suburban supermarket.

Three of the five policemen constitute the entire law enforcement agency of Norridge, a suburb west of Chicago. The other two policemen are from neighboring River Grove. They were released last night after being questioned by State's Attorney John Gutknecht. He said the five admitted looting the Jewel food store in Norridge early last Friday. He quoted the policemen as saying they found the door of the store shattered when they went there to investigate a reported burglary. The policemen then helped themselves to cigarettes and hosiery, Gutknecht said.

HOUSE EXPECTED TO APPROVE $1 MINIMUM WAGE

Labor Committee Receptive to Law Passed by Senate Voice Vote Yesterday.

WASHINGTON, June 9 (UP)—The Senate bill raising the minimum wage from 75 cents to $1 and hour was sent today to a House Labor Committee already receptive to an increase.

The Senate, with rare speed and a minimum debate, called up the wage bill yesterday and pushed it to passage without a record vote.

A $1 minimum would mean increase for about 2,100,000 of the 24,000,000 employees covered by the minimum wage law, effective after next Jan. 1. It would have its greatest impact on the lumber, apparel, leather, tobacco, food and textile industries.

Informed sources said the House committee, which is now conducting hearings on the issue, is almost certain to follow the Senate's lead and approve the increase to $1.

But one source, who publicly supports labor's request for an increase to $1.25 an hour, told a reporter that there would be a close vote in committee on a motion to raise the wage to $1.10 an hour.

He said, however, that all concerned probably would be willing to compromise on a $1 minimum so that an overwhelming majority of the committee can be mustered in favor of the legislation.

The Senate passed the wage increase bill yesterday by voice vote after about an hour's debate—almost incredible speed for the usually deliberative Senate.

It also acted within three hours after President Eisenhower told his press conference that he saw no reason to change his recommendation for a boost to only 90 cents an hour.

But Republican leaders in the Senate made only a token fight for the President's figure and the chamber shouted down an amendment by Senator H. Alexander Smith (Rep.), New Jersey, an Administration supporter, to step up the increase in three stages during the next three years.

Under Smith's proposal, the wage would rise to 90 cents next year, 95 cents in 1957 and $1 in 1958.

There were expectations in some quarters that the House committee, headed by Representative Graham A. Barden (Dem.), North Carolina, would be inclined to trim the Senate bill to a figure more in line with Mr. Eisenhower's recommendations.

But Barden, who previously had indicated he favors the 90-cent figure, told reporters he has no "preconceived idea" on what the final boost should be. He said that would depend on the facts brought out by the hearings.

He indicated that, should the facts support such a move, he would be willing to go along with a boost to 95 cents an hour or $1.

The Senate passed and sent to the White House yesterday a bill to allow veterans buying farm homes the same government loan guarantees now available for those buying homes in cities.

The House passed and sent to the Senate a bill to authorize a new $36,000,000 museum of history and technology at the Smithsonian Institute.

The House passed and sent to the Senate a bill to authorize an outlay of $57,730,000 to complete the 32-mile inter-American highway in the next three years. The road will run from Laredo, Tex., to Panama City, Panama.

Natural Gas Hearing.
By the Associated Press.
A coal industry spokesman contended that "any legislation designed to benefit gas producers... should also contain provisions designed to protect the public's interest."

Rolla D. Campbell told a Senate Commerce Committee he referred to "the public's interest in continuity of supply and fair competitive conditions for all fuel industries."

Campbell is general counsel for the Island Creek Coal Co., Huntington, W. Va. He appeared on behalf of both hard and soft coal producers.

The committee is considering a bill to exempt natural gas producers from federal regulation. Campbell protested that "apparently, the feeling is that the natural gas industry should be the sole beneficiary of legislation bearing on competition between it and other fuels."

Instead, he said, "there should be equality of consideration by Congress for the competing fuel industries."

Indorses Kilgore Bill.
Specifically, Campbell indorses a bill by Senator Harley Kilgore (Dem.), West Virginia. He said the measure would grant the Federal Power Commission jurisdiction of natural gas pipelines' direct sales to industries, prevent "dumping" of gas at below cost prices during off-peak seasons and make natural gas imported from Mexico and Canada subject to the same rules as American produced gas.

The House Commerce Committee wrote the coal industry's amendment on foreign gas into a bill by Representative Oren Harris (Dem.), Arkansas, which it approved yesterday by a 16-to-15 vote. However, it voted down the other coal industry proposals.

DIXON-YATES DEAL FOUGHT BY 2 OF 3 TVA DIRECTORS

power when its contract expired in 1958.

Mayor Frank T. Tobey of Memphis later wrote Vogel that Memphis would take any necessary steps to protect its interest and that "under no circumstances would the city of Memphis ever become a market for Dixon-Yates power."

The record showed that Vogel asked the Budget Bureau last December to authorize a new TVA "management division," which would report directly to him. He also proposed new legislation that would make him TVA's "executive head," leaving to the board as a whole the determination of "broad general policies."

Budget Request Increased.

As a result, Budget Director Hughes wrote that TVA's 1958 budget had been increased $100,000—to $27,500,000—providing for "a management staff responsible to the chairman," Hughes added, however, that the legislative changes were not "contemplated."

A few days later, Vogel wrote again to Hughes, saying that Curtis and Paty had asked him to report their objections to the proposal.

"They believe it would interfere with the effective functioning of the board in the management of the corporation and recommend that it be deleted from the TVA budget," Vogel wrote.

Hughes replied that, in view of the disagreement, the $100,000 request would go to Congress identified only as a "contingency" item under administrative and general expenses. If the TVA board could not agree on it in the meantime, Hughes wrote, Vogel could present his recommendations to the appropriations committees.

Argues His Case.

Arguing his case before the subcommittee, Vogel said the proposal would put TVA "on a business basis." The management staff, he explained, would assist the general manager to correct duplications and inefficiencies. He said members of the new staff should come largely from outside TVA.

Such a staff would permit criticisms to be "viewed objectively," instead of "passionately by TVA itself," he said.

Giving an example, he said he had suggested several times that TVA put out a single standard safety bulletin instead of special bulletins for each plant. He went on:

"My suggestion is taken to the effect of the safety division, and it comes back and says, 'That will cost more.' That is the end of it."

"I think we need more objective studies, sir."

Cannon, taking over the questioning, brought out that Vogel had been with TVA only eight months and asked whether Vogel knew more about the agency than "men who had been with it more than a quarter of a century."

"The fact that you request dictatorship," Cannon began again.

Vogel broke in: "Sir, those are not my words."

"Your request," Cannon went on, "indicates you think you can do it better and you are better qualified to operate TVA."

Representative John Phillips (Rep., California), objected to use of the word "dictatorship" applied to "a man who merely wants to act as chairman of the board to which he has been appointed as chairman."

"Cannon replied: 'The thing speaks for itself. He wants to take it away from the board, a group of men who have been handling it with admirable success, and concentrate control in one man. That is pretty much a dictatorship.'"

Later, Vogel affirmed his belief in the wisdom and feasibility of the TVA act and said: "I have been accused of many things for making you what I consider a very simple suggestion in the interest of the United States and TVA."

The dispute bore a striking resemblance to a controversy last spring over an effort by Chairman Lewis L. Strauss of the Atomic Energy Commission to have himself identified by law as that agency's "principal officer." Critics have accused Strauss of grasping for one-man rule in the AEC.

Publication of the hearings disclosed that the three TVA directors originally asked unanimously for $98,335,000 in the new budget. When the Budget Bureau cut this to $27,450,000, Curtis and Paty appealed for an increase to $58,250,000 as a bare minimum needed to meet expected power needs in 1958.

Vogel, however, accepted the cut. He described as "convenient" and enough to "put TVA on easy street" the new generating units which he earlier had asked in requesting, urging now that they be deferred.

Dixon Says He Has No Thought of Turning Back.

NEW YORK, June 9 (AP)—A spokesman for the power combine building the controversial Dixon-Yates plant at West Memphis, Ark., said yesterday "we have not the remotest thought of turning back," despite hostile moves in Congress.

Edgar H. Dixon, president of Middle South Utilities, Inc., one of two big private power companies building the plant for the Atomic Energy Commission, said he was not surprised at the action by a House Appropriations subcommittee, which voted against granting $6,500,000 for transmission line link with TVA.

Dixon said the subcommittee's action "was just a first round and not unexpected in view of the group's makeup."

"While we are extremely concerned about the campaigns in Congress," he declared, "we are dealing with the Atomic Energy Commission and our primary concern is to build a plant and deliver power."

Hidden Beauties.

LAURENS, S.C. (AP)—Laurens long has boasted of beautiful women. The Junior Chamber of Commerce planned a beauty contest to select a representative for the Miss America pageant. But the contest was called off. No contestants.

LOCKHEED WINS BIG ORDER FOR TURBOPROP LINERS

LOS ANGELES, June 9 (AP)—Lockheed Aircraft Corp. has obtained a $65,000,000 contract with its design for the first commercial turboprop transport to be built in the United States.

American Airlines announced yesterday it had placed an order for 35 of the high-speed, medium-weight planes with cruising speeds of more than 400 miles an hour and a range of 2000 miles. Delivery is to start the latter part of 1958.

Awarding of the contract gives the first challenge to British leadership in the commercial jet-with-propeller field. The turboprop power plant utilizes a turbine and, instead of releasing its power in pure forward thrust as a jet engine does, it uses it to turn propellers.

Designs for the new four-engine planes were submitted by Lockheed, Douglas and Convair. Also considered was the Vickers Viscount, produced in Britain and introduced into airline service by British European Airways in 1953. Vickers entered the United States market in June 1954 with a $67,000,000 order from Capital Airlines for 60 planes.

The Viscount turboprop generally is considered the quietest and smoothest-flying airliner now in operation. The Lockheed design will be called the Electra. It will seat 64.

EAST ALTON PILOT ON PLANE HIT TWICE BY LIGHTNING

Pilot of a Navy transport plane, which was struck twice by lightning yesterday on a flight from Glenview, Ill., to Washington, was described in dispatches today as George Harvey, East Alton.

The first bolt struck the plane over West Virginia, at 10,000 feet, with no apparent damage. The second occurred over Virginia, knocking off an aileron and damaging a second aileron and wing. The plane, with 27 passengers aboard, landed at Anacostia Naval Air Station without incident.

MENON ARRIVES IN CANADA, SAYS TENSION IS DOWN

Confers With External Affairs Minister Pearson, to See St. Laurent.

OTTAWA, June 9 (UPI)—V. K. Krishna Menon, Indian Prime Minister Nehru's roving ambassador, arrived in Canada today from England and said the tension of the cold war was easing. Menon went immediately on his arrival here to the home of Indian High Commissioner Dr. M. A. Rauf.

Earlier he told reporters at Montreal that "I'm not negotiating" and the Indian Government does not consider itself a "mediator" in the cold war.

Tension Lower. "But on the whole there is a tendency for tension to get lower isn't there?" he said.

Menon met with External Affairs Minister Lester B. Pearson, who later escorted him to watch the opening of today's parliament session. Menon's schedule included a meeting with Prime Minister Louis St. Laurent later in the day.

He was expected to report on his recent visit with Chinese Communist Premier Chou En-lai in Peking, but refused to discuss his specific plans with reporters.

"I don't intend to tell you anything," he said. "If, in an unguarded moment I might say something, it might lead to difficulties."

Ottawa officials described the envoy's visit to the capital as "strictly a diplomatic mission" and set no formal agenda for the talks that will end tomorrow.

They said, however, he likely would seek Canadian aid to press his case for a conference between Red China and the United States on the Formosa problem.

Variety of Subjects. Before leaving London Menon said he would discuss "a variety of subjects" with Pearson, including the United Nations control commission in Viet Nam, of which Canada, India and Poland are members.

He will leave tomorrow for New York for a United Nations meeting in his capacity as India's chief U.N. delegate, and go to San Francisco later for the U.N.'s tenth anniversary celebrations. Next week, he and United States Secretary of State John Foster Dulles are scheduled to confer in Washington.

Macmillan to Address Pilgrims. NEW YORK, June 9 (AP)—British Foreign Secretary Harold Macmillan will speak at a dinner given by the Pilgrims of the United States June 16. He will stop here on his way to San Francisco for the tenth anniversary celebration of the United Nations.

JEWISH GROUP SAYS MORAL CHAOS CAUSES DELINQUENCY

NEW YORK, June 9 (AP)—The Synagogue Council of America says the wave of juvenile delinquency is a "symptom of a growing moral chaos and social disintegration."

The council, at its national meeting yesterday, said the youth crime problem "challenges every social and spiritual resource at the command of the community."

The body cited a "breakdown" in neighborhood ties and "indifference of parents in a community to the needs and problems of their own neighborhoods."

"We believe that the participation of neighbors in building a healthy community is an essential component of a healthy democracy," the council said.

SENATE LEADERS WORK ON STALLED RESERVIST BILL

They Hope to Separate Segregation Issue
From Plan for 2,900-
000-Man Force.

WASHINGTON, June 9 (AP)—Senate leaders maneuvered behind the scenes today to get President Eisenhower's military reserve bill out of a congressional blind alley.

Senators said Democratic leader Lyndon B. Johnson had personally taken over the task of rallying support behind the Administration's plan to build a 2,900,000 member reserve force by 1960.

The reserve bill has been stalled in the House by a dispute over an amendment sponsored by Democratic Representative Adam Clayton Powell, New York Negro, to bar assignment of reservists to segregated units of the National Guard.

Johnson's strategy is to steer the bill through the Senate first, without raising the segregation issue, in the hope that the House would then quickly accept the Senate version.

President's Plea.

President Eisenhower made an urgent plea at his press conference yesterday for congressional action on the reserve plan. He expressed hope that the Senate might take the initiative in breaking the segregation deadlock. At the same time the President criticized the injection of the segregation issue as extraneous to the question of building a strong reserve.

Powell retorted that Mr. Eisenhower must have received "very bad advice on this." Powell said it was not his anti-segregation amendment, but the "refusal of the Pentagon" to make the present reserve program work that is endangering national security.

The Associated Press quoted Powell as saying: "When the colored peoples are being wooed by Communism, we cannot afford to do anything to suggest that we are going backwards... we must make democracy work on a full and equal basis."

Representative Overton Brooks (Dem., Louisiana) said the reserve measure is dead in the House "for the present." Brooks, chairman of a subcommittee which drafted the measure, said he would approve having the Senate take the initiative "if it means getting the bill."

Other Developments.

There were these other developments:

1. The Senate Armed Services Committee opened hearings on the Administration's request for a four-year extension of the draft and a two-year extension of the doctor draft.

The draft extension has already been approved by the House, but the doctor draft extension is being held up by the House Rules Committee, partly because of complaints by medical groups that the law is discriminatory and not needed.

In their opening statements, chairman Richard B. Russell (Dem., Georgia), and Senator Leverett Saltonstall (Rep., Massachusetts), made it clear they believe the draft must be extended to maintain the strength of the standing forces. The two committee leaders suggested that if the draft must be extended, it may also be necessary to extend the doctor draft to assure the medical care of the draftees.

Opposed by A.M.A., A.D.A.

The American Medical and Dental Associations said extension of the so-called doctor draft is unnecessary to meet military medical needs.

Representatives of the medical and dental associations told the committee the military need for doctors and dentists could be met under the regular draft without recourse to special legislation. They said such special legislation is discriminatory.

The position of the medical groups is that the military is not making efficient use of its doctors and dentists, is overstating its requirements, and not relying enough on civilian doctors and dentists to help bear the load of military medical care.

2. The Senate Defense Appropriations subcommittee started working on the $31,400,000,000 defense appropriation bill. Some Democrats on the subcommittee were prepared to move that Administration reductions in Army and Marine corps strength be modified. But the Democrats have previously supported the move were backing away in view of the Administration's decision to request more money to step-up B-52 bomber production.

POLICEMEN HURT IN CRASH REPORTED IN GOOD CONDITION

Chief of Detective James E. Chapman and Police Inspector George Parker, injured in a traffic accident Tuesday night when responding to the riot alarm at City Workhouse, were reported in good condition today.

Parker, thrown from a police machine in a collision with another automobile at Meramec street and Gravois avenue, was reported to have suffered a head injury and possible internal injuries, but left St. Anthony Hospital for his home late yesterday. Chapman's condition was reported good today at the hospital. He suffered fractured ribs and injuries to the knees.

Police Board President I. A. Long, a passenger in the police sedan, was shaken up, but did not require medical attention.

JET ACE HONORED IN IOWA, ASKS FOR OTHERS' FREEDOM

SWEA CITY, Ia., June 9 (AP)—Capt. Harold Fischer Jr., home after two years' captivity in China, says he hopes Americans will "continue to work for the release of men still held in Red prisons in China."

The double jet ace spoke yesterday at a celebration at which 7000 persons—nearly 10 times the population of his home town—gathered to welcome him back.

The crowd included Iowa Gov. Leo A. Hoegh.

The captain, one of four airmen of the Korean war released by the Chinese Reds, said the celebration was "the high point of my life. It is terrific." He added:

"I know this is not done for me but because I am a representative of the many others who could have been in my place."

The townspeople had planned to buy Fischer a $8000 airplane, but they did not have time to raise that much money. Instead, Mayor Earl Ansen presented him with a check for $1000 to apply on the purchase of a plane.

GUATEMALA OFFERS AMNESTY TO EXILES OF 'GOOD CONDUCT'

GUATEMALA CITY, June 9 (UP)—President Carlos Castillo Armas announced today he would grant amnesty to a limited number of Guatemalans now living in exile.

Some 4000 Guatemalans fled when the pro-Communist regime of former President Jacobo Arbenz was overthrown. Armas said many of the self-exiles have requested permission to return. He said the amnesty would be limited to refugees of "good conduct," starting in July.

LONDON (INS)—A British furniture manufacturer plans to include a bottle of matching paint or varnish and a small brush with every piece of furniture he sells, to touch up scratches and nicks.

RADAR INVENTOR CAUGHT SPEEDING BY BRAINCHILD

CHICAGO, June 9 (AP)—The inventor of radar said yesterday his brainchild had turned on him.

Sir Robert Watson-Watt was asked in an interview with radio station WLS whether he felt radar is effective in motor traffic control.

"Very effective," he replied. "I was picked up by radar in Canada for speeding. It cost me $12.50."

Sir Robert was in Chicago for the installation of a new electronic computing device at Illinois Institute of Technology.

Children Appear to Suffer More Than Adults in H-Bomb Fallout

Navy Doctors Tell A.M.A. Session of Study of Marshall Islanders Accidentally Exposed.

ATLANTIC CITY, N.J., June 9.—Children exposed to a hydrogen bomb's radioactive fallout appear to suffer more effects than adults, members of the American Medical Association were told yesterday.

Five Navy doctors told the medical tale of 267 South Pacific islanders accidentally sprayed with the ray-emitting ash of the March 1954 thermonuclear shot in the Marshall Islands.

These people, including 28 Americans, suffered serious skin contamination many miles from the detonation of the bomb but many of their neighbors escaped completely because they took shelter or wore more clothing.

It was a result of the same accident that the crew of the Japanese fishing vessel, the Fortune Dragon, also became contaminated with radioactivity.

One of the crew died after a lingering illness.

Loss of White Blood Cells. But the Marshall Islanders, Navy physicians reported, did not apparently suffer any long-lasting effects except that the number of white blood cells—the ones that combat infection—were reduced slightly six months after the contamination occurred. Nevertheless there was no increase in incidence in infection among this group.

Most commonly the ash, which was pulverized coral mixed with radioactive elements from the bomb, produced scabs of the skin, neck and feet—the most exposed bodily areas. There was also temporary loss of hair in 90 per cent of the people where the ash stuck.

The sick children suffered more loss of hair than the adults and in addition, Navy doctors reported, the youngsters' blood appeared to be more sensitive to the rays of the fallout. The investigator said that this might have resulted from the greater dose of radiation.

Blue Fingernails. One of the peculiarities discovered was that four-fifths of the islanders developed a blue discoloration of the fingernails, but this occurred only in the natives and in the Negro soldiers, and not in the white soldiers. It appears, the doctor said, to be a characteristic of dark-skinned people exposed to radiation.

Actually the heaviest dose received by any of the islanders was only about a third of that which would have killed half of them. The rays coming from the ash were X-rays and Beta rays, which are high-speed electrons.

The ash fell from the sky like snow for several hours whitening the hair of the inhabitants and clinging to their skins. During the night or in the next couple of days, about three-quarters of the population developed nausea and a few vomited and had diarrhea.

The people also had aching and burning of the skin immediately after the fallout. Although concerned about the "poison powder" they did not attempt to avoid it or cleanse themselves thoroughly. However, the blisters, scabs and hair loss did not occur until 20 days after the accident and it took six months for the hair to grow back.

Discussing the possibility of skin cancer, Navy doctors said that the dosage was so small that the chances of the islanders developing this disease was not great but it was not entirely eliminated. They did not envisage any long-term internal effects.

Four of the women were pregnant during the accident and up to the time the report was prepared six months ago, three of the babies were born normal. The doctors did not discuss long-term effects on the heredity of this population.

The report was made by Dr. Robert A. Conard, Dr. Eugene P. Cronkite, Dr. Victor P. Bond, Dr. N. Raphael Shulman, and Dr. Richard S. Farr of the Naval Medical Research Institute, Bethesda, Md., and the Naval Radiological Defense Laboratory, San Francisco.

GETS 5 YEARS ON CHARGE OF CONCEALING HEROIN

Howard Leon Haskins, of the 3100 block of Thomas street, was sentenced to five years in prison yesterday by United States District Judge George H. Moore, after a jury convicted him of concealing 23 grains of heroin. Haskins, an ex-convict, is a Negro.

He was arrested March 17, on a parking lot in the 2800 block of Lawton boulevard where officers found the heroin in a plastic container on the ground. They said that amount would bring about $60.

DICK HAYMES GETS FORM TO APPLY FOR CITIZENSHIP

RENO, Nev., June 9 (AP)—Dick Haymes, singer husband of actress Rita Hayworth, picked up an application for citizenship here yesterday. He told reporters "I should have applied for citizenship a long time ago."

The Argentine-born singer was plagued by deportation proceedings after he made a trip to Hawaii in 1953 to woo Miss Hayworth.

Last week United States District Court in Washington ruled Haymes did not lose his chance for citizenship because of the trip to Hawaii. The court held the islands are a geographical part of the United States.

Processing of the citizenship application may be held up if the Government appeals the decision that Haymes cannot be deported.

TAXICAB DRIVER HELD
AFTER 70 M.P.H. CHASE

A taxicab driver who said he was Fred Thomas Jr. was arrested late last night when his machine crashed into a parked automobile following a chase at speeds as high as 70 miles an hour through streets and alleys between Delmar boulevard and Easton avenue, police reported.

The chase started, police said, when Thomas sped south on Walton avenue after traffic officers Charles Porter and Thomas Bowe had sought to arrest him for weaving in traffic on Page boulevard. They pursued Thomas nearly a mile before his car struck a machine parked in the 1400 block of Marcus avenue.

Then he tried to flee on foot, striking Bowe in his efforts to avoid arrest, police said. Thomas, a Negro, who gave an address in the 5000 block of Kensington avenue, was booked for Police Court appearance on 12 charges, including speeding, careless driving and resisting arrest.

RUSSIANS ANNOUNCE OIL AREA
PRODUCING MORE THAN BAKU

ROME, June 9 (AP)—Russia announced yesterday a vast new oil producing area has been established in the Soviet hinterland which will produce more petroleum this year than all the Baku oilfields.

The Baku fields were Russia's richest. The U.S.S.R. has ranked third in world petroleum production, according to the latest figures available in Rome.

"A new and powerful oil base called 'the second Baku' has been built on the vast expanse between the Volga and the Ural," the Soviet announcement said. "One may judge how rich in oil this base is by the fact that some of its regions, such as Bashkiria and Tataria, will already this year (1955) produce more oil than all the oil fields of the Baku region, the richest oil region in the country." The statement was not amplified.

SPELLMAN ASSAILS
ARGENTINE 'TYRANNY'

Anti-Catholic Measures Suggest 'Renaissance of Nazism,' He Says.

NEW YORK, June 9 (AP)—Cardinal Francis Spellman says recent anti-Catholic measures in Argentina "suggest a renaissance of Nazism."

The Roman Catholic archbishop of New York told a Fordham University graduating class yesterday that it "now appears that a new curtain of tyranny is descending on our blessed American atmosphere and blighting the Argentine."

He said persecution "might have been expected" in an avowedly atheistic or openly anti-religious country, and added: "But when this violent outbreak occurs in a nation such as Argentina, whose populace and whose government have been traditionally and predominantly Catholic, there must be hidden somewhere a strange influence."

A year ago, he said, Argentine President Juan D. Peron "stated that he considered himself a Catholic and a servant of the doctrine of Christ."

Peron's "startling and complete about-face," Cardinal Spellman said, "leaves us sorrowful and mystified by the rapid sequence of amazing events occurring in a Catholic country with a systematically organized program of violence against the bishops and clergy and the imprisonment of many of the religious and clergy who dared to criticize the ruling party and its leaders... these reactions... suggest a renaissance of Nazism in the Argentine."

Corpus Christi Procession to Be Indoors After Police Bar.

BUENOS AIRES, June 9 (AP)—Argentina's Catholic authorities have moved their annual Corpus Christi procession indoors following a police bar on the outdoor ceremony.

Church sources said last night the procession honoring the Eucharist would be held Saturday in the Metropolitan Cathedral instead of in Plaza de Mayo, on which the cathedral fronts.

Corpus Christi day is today, but church officials set the procession for Saturday because President Juan Peron's government has withdrawn recognition of the festival as a religious holiday.

STATE PRISON TO EMPLOY
DIRECTOR OF RECREATION

SPECIAL TO THE POST-DISPATCH.

JEFFERSON CITY, June 9.—Plans for improvement of conditions within the riot-scarred state penitentiary here include employment of a recreation director to organize and supervise a program of recreation and athletic activities, Warden Ralph N. Edison said today.

Examinations will be conducted the latter part of this month by the state division of personnel to select three qualified applicants, one to be appointed to the post.

U.S. AMBASSADORS ASSERT
YUGOSLAVS ARE FRIENDLIER

NEW YORK, June 9 (AP)—James W. Riddleberger, United States Ambassador to Yugoslavia, indicated today Yugoslav officials are more friendly toward American now than before their recent meeting with Soviet leaders.

Middleberger arrived here by plane to report on the meeting to Secretary of State Dulles in Washington next week.

Asked by reporters whether he had noticed any cooling on the part of Yugoslav officials toward Americans, Riddleberger replied: "On the contrary."

Sixth Victim of Plane Crash.

EDMONTON, Alta., June 9 (AP)—A sixth body was found yesterday at the scene of a fatal air crash 10 miles west of here.

Associated Airways, Ltd., owner of the plane, said the victim was Eldon Johnston, of Edmonton, a mechanic's helper. Johnston was one of four company employees "along for the ride" when the twin-engined Lockheed crashed and burned Tuesday.

Russian Invitation to Adenauer Marks New Policy of Dealing Directly With West Germany

It Is First Time Since End of War That Kremlin Acted Independently of West Powers in Relations With Bonn — 1922 Treaty of Rapallo Recalled.

By JOSEPH NEWMAN

The New York Herald Tribune-Post-Dispatch Special Radio.

LONDON, June 9.

THE SOVIET government has embarked on a new and sensational policy toward Germany and the Big Three Western powers. It is to seek a direct settlement with the government of West Germany independently of the United States, Britain and France.

Russia's new policy was disclosed in a note inviting West Germany to establish direct diplomatic, trade and cultural relations with the Soviet Union and asking West German Chancellor Adenauer to Moscow for this purpose.

The move is regarded here as one of the most important international developments since the end of World War II.

Postwar Approach. From the end of the war, when Germany was occupied by Russia and the Big Three Western powers, until Tuesday, when the Soviet note to Bonn was released, Soviet policy was to deal with the United States, Britain and France regarding the fundamental problem of Germany—how to reunite the country which had been divided into two hostile parts, a Communist East and an anti-Communist West.

This policy now has been abandoned in favor of a policy of pursuing a settlement directly with West Germany.

The implications are that Russia is no longer in a position of talking with the Big Three Western powers regarding free elections or another basis for settlement of the German problem. This development is certain to recall the Treaty of Rapallo, and the new Soviet policy might well become known as "the new Rapallo policy."

After the defeat of Germany in World War I, Russia, to the consternation of the Western Allies, concluded a separate postwar settlement with Germany on April 16, 1922. Under terms of this agreement, which was negotiated secretly, both countries renounced all claims to war indemnities; diplomatic and consular relations were resumed and trade relations were to be regulated "with mutual feelings of good will."

There is such a strong parallel between the actions of 1922 and this week as to suggest that the leaders of the Kremlin had read the terms of the Rapallo agreement carefully before drafting Tuesday's proposals to West Germany.

The history of Rapallo serves as a warning against regarding the Soviet note simply as a piece of propaganda intended to woo West Germany.

It undoubtedly will become the basic theme of future Soviet propaganda. Russia's aim obviously is to lure West Germany out of its Western alliance.

In pursuing this aim the Kremlin appears to be getting ready to talk business—with West Germany, not with the Western powers—for the first time since the end of World War II. If that is the case, the note to Bonn must be regarded as a "business" paper rather than a piece of propaganda.

The note contains a sentence which speaks of "certain aggressive countries who try to separate the two countries and to worsen relations between them (Russia and West Germany)." However, on the whole it is remarkably free of the vile language and the transparently false charges of which purely propaganda notes from Moscow usually are constructed.

Instead of engaging in accusations, the Soviet note points out points of identity between Germany and Russia with the aim of inspiring sympathy and friendship.

It remarks that "in the two world wars it was the Soviet and German peoples who suffered most. Their losses in human lives were far more than those of all other countries." It goes on to say that Russia "never had a feeling of revenge toward the German people."

Until now Russia refused to regard West Germany as a "country" and referred to it with

POSSIBLE SHIFT ON REICH UNITY

By JOHN M. HIGHTOWER

WASHINGTON, June 9 (AP)—

State Department officials suspect the Russian government has decided to accept the East-West division of Germany as being more or less permanent.

If that is true, it could have a profound effect on the Big Four talks proposed for Geneva next month since the unification of Germany is supposed to be a primary problem for consideration.

Speculation about Russia's policy arises from the Soviet invitation to Chancellor Adenauer to visit Moscow to establish diplomatic relations.

There is another possible meaning. As an alternative to accepting "two Germanies" permanently, the Moscow government could be setting out on a course which will lead it eventually to scuttle the Communist puppet regime in East Germany. This possibility is regarded by officials here, however, as almost too incredible to contemplate.

Yet the standards for judging Soviet behavior have been set by Moscow's agreement to such things as the Austrian independence treaty and the Khrushchev-Bulgarian mission to Yugoslavia that the experts are reluctant to rule out even the most extreme explanations.

In the background of Russian motivation officials believe there are strong needs for trade with the Western world and especially with West Germany. Probably a dominant desire is to woo West Germany away from its alliance with the United States.

Earlier this year United States officials would have found an invitation for Adenauer to visit Moscow beyond belief. But developments have conditioned them to almost any kind of a turnabout in Russian behavior.

12 REBEL REGIME LEADERS SENTENCED IN INDONESIA

JAKARTA, June 9 (AP)—The Indonesian government announced today that 12 leaders of a rebel regime in the South Moluccas, including the President, members of his cabinet and army leaders, have been sentenced to prison terms of 3 to 10 years.

All had been captured or had surrendered. They went on trial March 1 in the central Java city of Jogjakarta before a special military tribunal.

Lt. Col. Calatun, the presiding judge, said all 12 were convicted of organizing armed revolt against the constitutional government in the spring of 1950.

Loss of life was heavy in the 1950-51 revolution in the Moluccas, a group of islands at the eastern end of the Indonesian archipelago. D. J. Samson, listed as an army chief of staff, drew the heaviest sentence—10 years.

Senator Dirksen in Manila. MANILA, June 9 (AP)—Senator Dirksen (Rep.), Illinois, member of the Senate Appropriations Committee, arrived by plane last night from San Francisco on a tour of United States aid projects in Asia and Europe.

Secretary Wilson's Son Seeks Big Profits in Educational TV

Trying to Put Over Deal to Share License With Michigan College, Take 80 Pct. of Net Revenue.

By DREW PEARSON

(Copyright, 1955.)

WASHINGTON.

THE son of Secretary of Defense Charles E. Wilson is trying to take over an educational TV license for Michigan State College. John Hannah, who once worked for the elder Wilson as Assistant Secretary of Defense in Washington, made the deal with Edward E. Wilson, son of the Secretary.

Young Wilson is a General Motors distributor, being president of the Wilson downtown Cadillac Co., and the Wilson GMC Co., which sells trucks, and co-owner of Windrow Farms, a 1000-acre estate owned also by his father. He is a director of the Nelson Manufacturing Co., which sells parts to General Motors. At the age of 24, Wilson lists himself in his TV application before the Federal Communications Commission as having "marketable securities in excess of $1,000,000."

If his deal with Michigan State College goes through, young Wilson could be worth a lot more, for, by the deal, the college uses the much less valuable daylight TV time, while Wilson would use the highly valuable night and evening time. The college would get 20 percent of the profit, but with no right to audit the books, and no right to say what salaries are to be paid.

Some Michigan state Senators, debating the question in the Michigan Legislature, claimed that the valuable high-frequency TV license could make around $800,000 for Wilson, $200,000 for Michigan State. They finally OK'd the deal after complaining that they were pressured by General Motors lobbyists.

Speaking for the Justice Department, Brownell's assistant has urged Congressmen to revise the law making it mandatory for courts to fix a treble-damage fine against those guilty of violating the anti-trust act.

He neglected to tell the Congressmen that his former law firm has been trying to push through Congress for some years.

Nixon apparently thought they had forgotten that as a member of Congress from California he consistently voted against rural electrification. In the House, in five votes on REA he voted against it four times, was absent the fifth. In the Senate, he consistently voted against public power and against the Government's ability to furnish power to REA co-ops.

SECURITY - GO - ROUND—Hubert Humphrey, Senator from Minnesota, has some penetrating things to say about the topsyturvy handling of security rules.

State Department investigators, he says, deliver adverse security judgments 14.5 times more often than the Atomic Energy Commission, although the AEC is conceded to have one of the most effective security systems.

Stassen's Foreign Operations Administration, says Humphrey, has a third fewer employees than the United States Information Agency, yet Stassen fired 184 workers for security reasons in the same period that USA fired only two.

This seems to prove that a man's chances of getting fired on the basis of a wild, unproved accusation depend more on the security officer where he works than on his actual loyalty, says Humphrey. Humphrey's solution? Setting up specific standards for judging security cases.

BUTTONHOLER—It may be pure coincidence, but Deputy

FLEESON Real Threat Of Johnson's Leadership

Senator in Danger of Becoming Victim of His Own Virtuosity.

By DORIS FLEESON

WASHINGTON.

THE real truth about Senator Lyndon Johnson's leadership of the Senate is that he is in danger of becoming a victim of his own virtuosity.

The majority leader has just demonstrated again his enormous technical proficiency in two important votes within 24 hours. Both will be helpful to Democratic campaign orators next year.

Where Republicans had completely expected to put across a watered-down housing bill, Johnson snatched victory from defeat for the Democratic program by masking his real strength and by brilliant parliamentary maneuvering to put across a 135,000-unit bill. Then he whooped through on a voice vote the Democratic dollar-an-hour minimum wage as against the 90 cents preferred by the President.

Audience Is Limited. The brutal truth is that the audience for brilliant political technique is relatively limited. It is almost confined within the walls of the Capitol and most certainly includes very few of the voting public.

In a Johnson presentation, there are no heroes (Democrats) and no villains (Republicans). The G.O.P. President is rarely mentioned. There is little or no interesting conversation, much less real debate. The roll calls which separate the men from the boys are held to a minimum.

Inevitably the result muddles the party lines. It also makes for dullness and lack of public interest.

Not the Easy Way. It is not an easy way. Johnson plans and plots and spends literally hours on the telephone, explaining, persuading, conceding and cajoling. But the public sees none of this. What has been hard to achieve, looks easy and so cheap it can scarcely have the value attached to it that Democrats require for success in 1956.

When the minimum wage was so suavely enacted, the best political brains among the Democrats soberly confessed that it would have been better if they had been able to cast loud, clear votes for the record and perhaps review the long, hard struggle for any minimum wage at all.

CHILDS Threats Would Delay Release Of Other Americans, Experts Say

Peiping Believed Ready to Ease Tensions but Likely to Stiffen in Face of Intimidation.

By MARQUIS W. CHILDS
A Staff Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.
Copyright, 1955, The Pulitzer Publishing Co.

LONDON, June 9.

IF THE other Americans imprisoned by the Chinese are to be released in the near future, the release will come as a voluntary act by the Red regime, and any threats of intimidation that seem to have official sanction will have a delaying effect.

In the view of those who have been closest to the private negotiations that resulted in the release of four imprisoned airmen, efforts to make it appear that Communist China submitted out of fear in recognition of America's capacity to inflict nuclear punishment on the mainland will cause the door that has been opened a crack to be shut tight again.

The stress in the Peiping announcement of the release of the four was on the voluntary nature of this contribution to the easing of tensions in Asia. When Henry Cabot Lodge and Dag Hammarskjold, in interviews at the United Nations, implied that Peiping's action had come as a result of U.N. pressure, they did not, in the view of those who have been talking with the Communist Chinese, further the release of Americans still in Chinese prisons.

Unhappy Role for U.S. It is certainly not a happy role for America, this one of patient, waiting in the face of what seems, from the American viewpoint, to have been rights flagrantly violated; but it is apparently the only course that can save the lives of the others. Armed intervention would almost certainly result in their execution.

There is, of course, a broader aspect of the talks—they are scarcely called negotiations—currently going on. The objective is to bring about an understanding in the Formosa Strait that would eventually formalize what seems to be an informal cease-fire. Beyond that, the Chinese Communists show signs of wanting to end their isolation from the West if they can do it not by petitioning, but by a gradual relaxing of the barriers on both sides, so that slowly a change in status will come about.

Taking part in these talks are diplomats from India, Great Britain and Sweden. The most ac-

As one of the diplomats taking part in the current discussions put it, there would be no place in the world where the fathers and mothers or wives of these men would be safer, since the Reds would understand that anything disastrous that happened to them while they were in China would have a devastating effect on world opinion.

Clearly the Communists are using these men as a counter in their bargaining with the West. This is deeply abhorrent to even the most pragmatic of statesmen.

An Important Message to Married Couples With Property in Joint Names

A GREAT many people—particularly married couples—have some or all of their property in joint names. Property owned jointly with the right of survivorship passes directly to the survivor by operation of law upon the death of one joint owner. This is a convenient means of disposing of an estate but may be disadvantageous from the tax standpoint.

The table at right compares the tax-cost of disposing of a married man's estate under two different plans. Plan A is to put the entire estate in the joint names of husband and wife. Plan B is to keep all of the estate in the husband's name and then dispose of it under his own will under a plan which would divide the estate between two trusts for his wife—one trust to qualify for the "marital deduction" and the other trust not to qualify. His wife would be paid all of the income from both trusts. She would have the right to dispose of the principal of the marital deduction trust by her own will; whereas, the principal of the other trust would be disposed of after her death by the terms of her husband's will.

From the estate tax standpoint, the two-trust method is far superior to the joint property method unless the estate is less than $60,000—the amount exempt from Federal estate taxes.

The best way to develop a satisfactory estate plan is to confer with our officers about practical business and financial questions and with your own lawyer, who should draw your will and advise you on all legal matters. We cordially invite you to confer with us at your convenience and in confidence about your estate. There is no obligation involved.

TABLE COMPARING TAX COSTS OF TWO PLANS

NOTE: Tax computations in table above assume that the husband pre-deceases his wife, and that the full marital deduction is allowable. No allowance is made for state taxes and administration costs in computing Federal taxes.

LETTERS FROM THE PEOPLE

Designed to Discourage

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch:

As you have reported, the number of persons filing a claim for a refund of their 1954 earnings tax is quite limited. There are two obvious reasons for this:

1. The refund form is quite complex and requires some time to decipher.

2. The form must be notarized. Undoubtedly the average amount due a given person is meager. When one considers that one must incur the expense of a notary, the effort does not seem worthwhile financially or in terms of time.

The important point is that while individual claims are relatively small, in the aggregate they amount to a great deal.

It is apparent that the form was purposely devised so as to discourage claims by the citizenry. And while the federal tax refund generally exceeds that of the earnings tax, no notary's seal is necessary.

Indeed, the business ethics of our beloved Collector Del L. Bannister is to be questioned by all concerned. It would be well for Mr. Bannister to defend himself and his form before the June 30 deadline.

RICHARD H. GERDING.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch:

The reason more people aren't asking for a city earnings tax refund is purely economic. You have to pay carfare to get the form, pay a notary to notarize it and then mail it in, etc. It would cost me about 95 cents to get $1.16 of my own money back. That is a shame. I know the Republicans would have done a much better job.

CITY TAXPAYER.

Searching in Vain

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch:

I have waited in vain for some of the peddlers of doom to admit like was right last year when he said that, given his tax program with some inducement for risk capital and business, there would be prosperity in spite of peace.

Instead, attempting to pull a curtain over the corruption and bloodshed of the past, the hard-losing, dog-blame-me boys have turned to man strategists.

Without the benefit of any intelligence information, or, at best, relying on a captive analyst, they presume to know more about the enemy and what the air strength or armed manpower must be than the man who headed successfully the biggest military operation in history.

How far will the mania for gloom carry them? L. D. ANDERSON, Clayton.

Out of Sight

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch:

There are two mysterious disappearances—the flying saucers and Joe McCarthy. What has happened to them? ROBERT S. DAVIS, University City.

Names in the News

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch:

I am burned up over this charge of so-called graft in our St. Louis Police Department. How anyone with any intelligence could take the word of a woman who worked in such a house is beyond me.

I don't say the police officers are idle white boys who spread such a charge in the paper before they are proved? If such things are true why did she wait so long to tell it? Only because she wanted to get her hooks on money that has not been proved to belong to her.

If there were about 30 policemen in on this deal, prove it and print all the names, not just Mr. Shouder's and Mr. Dolan's. Let's be fair. I guess this will not be printed, but let us up on our Police Department; over all, it includes a pretty good bunch of fellows.

MRS. B. GULFOY.

Peace Is Peace

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch:

For two reasons the peace that exists today is not Eisenhower's peace.

First, the Democrats planted the seed and did the cultivating by building strength and limiting the war in Korea.

Second, and more important, the death of Stalin had more to do with stopping the shooting than all other factors combined. D.L.A.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch:

Here we are! The Citizens' Metropolitan Transit Committee of St. Louis and St. Louis County. We greatly appreciate your "interest" as shown by your editorial of June 3 entitled, "Committee in Hibernation."

On May 9 we described our committee's work to Mayor Tucker and Supervisor Matthews to that date.

Since then we have completed our schedule of conferences with 10 engineering firms specializing in the transportation and survey fields, and are presently awaiting their written proposals.

As soon as all the proposals are received, we will be in a position to make our final recommendations. We are sorry we have not made more noise but there was nothing definite to holler about.

Moscow's Bid to Adenauer

It has long been within the power of the Soviet Union to make such great concessions that the West Germans could hardly resist striking a bargain with Moscow.

Through its iron control of the East German Communists, the Soviet Union has power to decide whether the two Germanies can be unified on terms acceptable to the West. Through its control of the satellite government in Poland, it has power to decide whether a united Germany's frontier shall be pushed eastward.

Whether the Russians, in inviting Chancellor Adenauer to visit Moscow, are getting ready to play one or both of these cards can only be guessed at. Certainly the possibility exists that, having so successfully made a propaganda coup out of accepting for Austria terms that they had rejected many times before, the Kremlin's new leaders hope to duplicate the feat with Germany.

In any case the invitation to Herr Adenauer, so fiercely and so often denounced in Moscow as a warmongering tool of American policy, must be added to the growing list of startling reversals in Soviet policy.

The State Department is reported to be unenthusiastic about the prospect that Chancellor Adenauer may be visiting Moscow shortly after visiting Washington next week. But President Eisenhower's reaction is much more sensible. He says he entertains not a bit of anxiety over the Moscow bid to West Germany, and that he trusts Chancellor Adenauer completely both to represent German interests and to stand by his friends and allies. So it seems certain that after a suitable interval the Chancellor will accept Moscow's invitation and set out on what is becoming a standard pilgrimage.

It would be folly indeed to put any obstacle in the way of a "normalization" of Soviet-German relations if the Russians are really ready to offer normalization on acceptable terms. Western efforts to integrate Bonn with the Atlantic community have been made in full knowledge that some day Moscow might make a supreme diplomatic effort to balk them. The West assumed, however, that Chancellor Adenauer's pro-Western policy enjoyed enough popular support in Germany to withstand any blandishments that Moscow might offer.

If that policy cannot withstand blandishments now, we may as well know the truth. For if the Adenauer policy could not survive a visit to Moscow, it could hardly survive more severe tests which the Russians could devise for it.

The key, of course, will be what the Russians demand in exchange for the concessions they will offer. If they demand separation of Germany from the Western European community, or a spurious neutrality which means in fact Soviet domination, Chancellor Adenauer is sure to turn them down. But if they are prepared to accept some more reasonable settlement of the German problem, the Adenauer visit could conceivably pave the way for meaningful negotiations on the subject at the Big Four or subsequent foreign ministers' conferences.

At the very least, the West must undertake to find out what kind of settlement the Russians are now ready to consider.

Credit to the Whole Area

St. Louis is not the only community in this metropolitan area that is voting bond issues for new public school buildings these days. Many communities in St. Louis county and in Madison and St. Clair counties, on the Illinois side of the Mississippi, have given strong support to bond issues for new school facilities required to cope with rising school populations.

Here are a few of the communities and the amounts of issues their citizens have recently adopted:

CITY	AMOUNT	VOTE
Bellefonte	$2,158,000	4292 to 1712
Collinsville	1,050,000	1272 to 382
University City	1,000,000	2614 to 80
Ferguson-Florissant	850,000	2021 to 281
Brentwood	450,000	750 to 51
Bayless	230,000	235 to 32

This list is not at all exhaustive as many other St. Louis area communities have taken the same far-sighted action. But it is more than a little interesting that these six communities by themselves have voted a total of more than $5,000,000—approximately a third of the new bond issue for St. Louis's public schools.

A salute to them and all their neighbors who have done as much!

With No Party Lines

A 18-to-15 House committee vote to exempt natural gas producers from direct Government price control repeats a pattern. Votes on this issue have always been close and members of each party have always been on opposite sides.

During the Truman Administration the Senate voted 44 to 38 for the Kerr bill, which had the same purpose as the present measure. More Democrats than Republicans voted for it but a Democratic President vetoed the bill. Ideological opposition to price controls explained that vote only to a degree. Warmth for "freeing" the gas producers seemed to decrease relative to the distance from the gas-producing states.

Today the White House view seems to have been turned against utility regulation in the gas fields but the fight in Congress is still close and is so far undecided. For years utility regulation seemed an established principle for government. Now that natural gas has become a utility item of direct interest to millions of consumers, the struggle for rate regulation has to be fought out over again.

St. Louis as a Parent

The Board of Children's Guardians is making commendable progress in putting its work under qualified professionals and in beginning to use the most hopeful modern methods in its care of foster-children. This agency of the city, which is responsible for some 1000 boys and girls, is now looking forward to making its efforts still more effective.

It proposes to study, in the next twelve-month, the possibilities of preventive work, as it is called—that is, work to meet the needs of neglected children before separation from their parents became necessary.

Some changes both in city ordinances and in state law will be necessary if the Board is to serve this community as fully as it should. The Board can function to better purpose by being authorized to move in response to human needs rather than having to wait on the fulfillment of certain legal conditions.

One of the hobbies the Board should be rid of prevents it from helping children who are being neglected but whose fathers are employed. Another restriction prevents the Board from helping a child any further after it has reached its sixteenth birthday.

Some children of this age even have to be placed on relief—surely an inauspicious beginning for a young life.

Its school for boys, Missouri Hills, needs a psychiatrist consultant, a clinical psychologist and two more caseworkers—and a combined gymnasium, chapel and auditorium, the Board points out. Meramec Hills, the Board's school for girls, needs a caseworker. These are other objectives for the new work year ahead.

Priority for a New Workhouse

The brief but violent riot at the Workhouse is a vivid reminder that the ancient South Broadway Institution has outlived its usefulness and ought to be replaced as quickly as possible. While the proximate cause of the disturbance centered on inmate resentment of tightened restrictions on visitors, it is difficult for the outsider to avoid concluding that the physical properties of the place contributed substantially to the emotional explosion.

The Workhouse is seriously overcrowded, and it lacks proper facilities to keep its population constructively busy. Both factors make for tension, but the overcrowding alone is enough to keep large numbers of prisoners in a state of mental turmoil.

In his inquiry of last January, Isaac Gurman of the St. Louis Bureau for Men reported that as many as eight men were jammed into 100-year-old cells built for three occupants. In the institution's other cellhouse four men were crowded into an area meant for one. This borders on the medieval.

Fortunately, however, St. Louis now is in position to take positive action to cure the situation. The $110,000,000 bond issue approved last month contains an item of $3,000,000 to replace the Workhouse. The new Workhouse would be designed for 500 inmates, 80 per cent of whom would be housed in dormitories as befits an institution for misdemeanants. It would be located on a sizable tract in the country where truck farming would be possible.

How soon this project becomes a reality will depend upon how high it stands on the priority list of things to be built with the bond issue funds. The list now is being drawn up by the City Administration, and it will be recommended to the Citizens Bond Issue Supervisory Committee headed by Sidney Maestre. Surely the new Workhouse should stand near the top of the list of improvements.

Status of Overseas Student Program

Several readers have inquired as to the status in Congress of the bill to provide funds for the next fiscal year for the international educational exchange program. This is the program under the Fulbright and Smith-Mundt Acts through which students from overseas have studied in the United States in the postwar period. At latest report, the situation was this:

President Eisenhower requested $22,000,000 for the coming fiscal year for this purpose. The House committee, partly at least at the urging of Representative Curtis of Webster Groves, cut this to $12,000,000 and so it was passed by the House. The Senate then restored the cut and passed the bill so as to provide the $22,000,000 asked for by the White House.

The difference remains to be adjusted in conference. Senate conferees have been appointed, but House conferees have not yet been chosen. No date has been set for the meeting of the conference committee.

We strongly hope the Senate view will prevail. This is a relatively inexpensive program which enables many intelligent young people from other countries to learn what the United States is really like. Few ventures in international affairs are more capable of lasting benefit.

Exit Saffaras, Enter Sassafras

Saffaras is at last to become Sassafras as the founders of that little Hoosier town had intended long ago. Congressman William K. Denton of Indiana has introduced a bill to rename the town and thus correct the error of a misguided clerk who spelled it "Saffaras" on official papers establishing the post office.

The change in name will take Saffaras from the category of towns with oddly spelled and weirdly pronounced names such as Succasunna, N.J., Sapulpa, Okla., and Sucarnochee, Miss. So a bow to Saffaras and a welcome to Sassafras. Whenever the new name appears in the papers a lot of noses will sniff the warm, spicy aroma of that pungent old remedy for spring fever—sassafras tea.

There Were 18

A recent significant rollcall in the Senate has not received the attention that is its due. This was on the amendment proposed by Senator McCarthy to the Eisenhower Administration's foreign aid bill. The Wisconsin Republican called for withholding United States aid from any country engaging in trade with Communist China while Americans are still held prisoner by the Communists. Senator George, without in any way justifying the imprisonment of Americans, said that such a limitation would make the aid program "unworkable."

The McCarthy amendment was put to the test. Sixty Senators voted against it. Only 18 voted for it. Here are the 18:

Daniel, Tex.	Johnston, S.C.
Frear, Del.	Kerr, Okla.
Thurmond, S.C.
Barrett, Wyo.	Knowland, Calif.
Curtis, Nebr.	Langer, N.D.
Dworshak, Ida.	McCarthy, Wis.
Goldwater, Ariz.	Potter, Mich.
Hruska, Nebr.	Welker, Ida.
Jenner, Ind.	Williams, Del.
Young, N.D.

For Rich Little Poor Girls

Gloria Vanderbilt is publishing a book of poems in September, and we hope it is better than we expect it is going to be. The title, however, is not reassuring, it being "Love Poems."

It has been our experience that love poems which are not good are worse than most other poems which are not good.

The heiress and former Mrs. Leopold Stokowski who is now about to appear as a poetess appeared as an actress not so long back. She had a bit part in a revival on Broadway of William Saroyan's "The Time of Your Life." During the run she did a TV sketch with fellow-player Franchot Tone, and the kindest thing that could be said about it would not be very kind.

It's that old business of the poor little rich girl all over again, and we hope the rich little poor girls see from it how lucky they are. If they can't act, they can rely on the theatrical managers to spare them the embarrassment of proving it in front of an audience. If they can't write poetry, a wall of kindly rejection slips will hide that deficiency from a cruel world. Because there are times, as Miss Vanderbilt seems fated never to find out, when "No" can be the kindest word in the language.

Erosion of the Fifth Amendment

The Mirror of Public Opinion

Despite recent Supreme Court decision, basic right of citizen to refuse to be witness against himself is under attack; editorial cites new immunity law; 'Constitution wasn't written to protect Communists, should not be rewritten to catch them.'

From The Wall Street Journal

THE FIFTH AMENDMENT.

No person shall be held to answer for a capital or otherwise infamous crime unless on a presentment or indictment of a grand jury, except in cases arising in the land or naval forces, or in the militia, when in actual service in time of war or public danger; nor shall any person be subject for the same offense to be twice put in jeopardy of life or limb; nor shall be compelled in any criminal case to be a witness against himself, nor be deprived of life, liberty or property without due process of law; nor shall private property be taken for public use without just compensation.

This interpretation of the privilege came as the Supreme Court set aside the conviction of three men found guilty of contempt for refusing to answer questions about Communism put to them by a congressional committee.

In one case the defendant pleaded the Fifth Amendment by associating himself with a prepared statement by a witness who preceded him before the committee.

A Federal District Court had held this particular defendant had failed to specify reliance on the Fifth Amendment and instead simply refused to answer questions. But Chief Justice Warren wrote that congressional committees should "recognize a veiled claim of the privilege."

If this sounds almost as though committees and grand juries must be possessed of second sight to determine whether a witness is invoking the Fifth Amendment or is simply refusing to answer questions on another ground, the remedy is as obvious as it is available.

All that needs to be done in the future is to ask, at each refusal to answer whether the Fifth Amendment is being invoked. The claim then is no longer veiled.

There is nothing veiled about the privilege against self-incrimination. Article Five of the Bill of Rights is written in pretty plain language: "No person . . . shall be compelled in any criminal case to be a witness against himself."

What that means is that no man can be forced to testify in his own trial; it also means that no man can be forced to testify at any time if he believes that his testimony may result in his own trial, or may incriminate him or degrade him in any way.

Communists, of course, have availed themselves of this privilege time after time, and sometimes people are led to forget that the Fifth Amendment wasn't placed in the Bill of Rights as an escape hatch for Communists.

It is, in fact, one of the greatest privileges a free people can possess. For it means that the burden of proof of guilt rests clearly and solely on the evidence adduced against him.

These are privileges and rights not to be tampered with, whether through a misunderstanding of what they mean or a deliberate attempt to limit them as the Congress did last year in passing the Compulsory Testimony Act—the law which grants immunity from prosecution but which compels a witness to testify or be held in contempt.

The law flies directly in the face of the Fifth Amendment, for the granting of immunity from prosecution is really only another way to force a person to testify against himself or go to jail. No one can say what future prosecution may flow from forced testimony.

Either the Fifth Amendment means what it says or the immunity law—now on appeal to the Supreme Court—effectively amends the Constitution to eliminate the privilege against self-incrimination just to make it easier for the Justice Department to catch Communists.

But the Constitution wasn't written to protect Communists and it should not be rewritten to catch Communists when the rewriting endangers the freedoms of everyone.

Mozart Relics: Lost, Strayed or . . .

Howard Taubman in The New York Times

The United States Information Agency has problems enough, and it could well be forgiven if it shuddered a little at the sight of a document headed, "Memorandum: The damages suffered by the International Mozart Foundation during the last World War."

Theodore C. Streibert, director of the agency, has examined the memorandum and has communicated with some persons in this country who might help. If he and his friends can come up with all the answers, they will be miracle men, indeed. Let us see if we can aid them.

Did you serve with any of the American armed forces in the Salzburg area of Austria in May, 1945? Do you know of anyone who sent home or brought back some choice souvenirs having to do with Mozart?

Maybe it wasn't American soldiers at all who carried off such souvenirs. Certainly this column would not make such a reprehensible accusation. But one who happened to be with United States Army forces in Italy and Austria in 1944 and 1945 is bound to recall that some Americans, as well as some Englishmen, seemed to be remarkably lucky in the way they happened to run into objects d'art and other mementoes for which there was no handy claimant.

In 1954 it is a little late to be hunting for missing objects, but here is the International Mozart Foundation laying claim to a number of things associated with Mozart. The foundation does not make specific charges. It does, however, make the following preliminary points: "During the war a great number of valuable possessions of the Mozart family, all relics of W. A. Mozart, were packed in boxes and brought into a cavern of the Salzburgwerk Hallein. After the war ended in May, 1945, a group of United States soldiers entered the depository by force and opened the boxes."

At the head of a long list is the golden watch of Mozart, a gift from the Empress Maria Theresa. Spindlewatch of Epine with raised golden case. Framing and hands decorated with facet diamonds (about 200). Back cover with a portrait of the Empress in enamel with green ribbon-and-leaf decoration. Inside engraving—"W. A. Mozart 1788."

As a result, the opening paragraph of the memorandum concludes on a note of pained restraint: a number of things "were lost." The foundation merely is pleading for the return of these things, and one must agree that they belong in Salzburg. Whether the Mozartium ever will get them back remains to be seen.

U.N.'s Assault on Starvation

THE STORY OF FAO, by Gova Hambridge. (D. Van Nostrand Co., 303 pp., $4.50.)

Whenever the amateur advocates of international co-operation gather, someone is certain to say that progress toward world peace comes not in the dramatic debates of the Security Council but in the slow and unspectacular work of the functional agencies.

These agencies are international organizations affiliated with the United Nations, each concentrating its attention on a limited range of problems (usually non-political) like food and agriculture, or world health, or international civil aviation. The work of each unit proceeds on a voluntary basis—cooperation, and not coercion, is the foundation of action.

The North American Regional Representative of the Food and Agriculture Organization, Gova Hambridge, has written "The Story of FAO" to introduce the layman to the work of his agency. It is quite a remarkable book because it contains no fanfare, no applause, no promises, and no "glorious record" of past accomplishments.

So very often authors with the peace of the world and the welfare of mankind deep in the heart carry their extravagant claims and notions well beyond the point of persuasion. In this book, Hambridge does just the opposite, and his deliberate lack of emphasis on the importance of FAO encourages the reader to make his own generous conclusions.

The opening chapters contrast the lives of an Egyptian farm family and an Iowa farm family. Since the overwhelming bulk of the world's population lives by farming on a level similar to that of the sickly, poor and short-lived Egyptian, Hambridge suggests an upgrading process to bring hundreds of millions closer to the Iowa standard. This was the idea which led to the establishment of the Food and Agriculture Organization through which member governments could co-operate in a worldwide assault on starvation, malnutrition and undernourishment.

FAO had its official beginning in Quebec in the fall of 1945; it was the first of the new United Nations agencies.

Well over half the book is devoted to descriptions of work either contemplated or actually in progress. Occasionally it sounds like a statistical recitation, but more often the reader gets a sense of something vitally important, and an admiration for the hardworking men and women who carry out the FAO projects.

The deficiencies of the book are the omissions: exactly how is FAO connected with the U.N.; what are its sources of revenue; how are projects determined; what are the relationships between FAO and the governments of the countries in which projects are carried out; how popular is FAO—what are its weaknesses; is it growing or not? None of these questions is answered satisfactorily and they should be. Nevertheless, the book is good, and it deserves the attention of those who are interested in the ways by which the world may achieve a durable peace.

Nostalgia for Her Past

AN IMPOSSIBLE MARRIAGE, by Pamela Hunsford Johnson. (Harcourt, Brace, $3.75.)

This carefully detailed, nostalgically remembered story of a woman, looking backward 20 years to the four years of her first love and unhappy marriage, is reminiscent of Frost.

Christine Johnson, meeting again her girlhood friend, recreates for herself her first encounters with boys, her girlish fears and compromises, and her marriage to a man who knew himself to be weak and was self-contemptuous and destructive.

The characters and incidents are done in great detail. They are believable. The writing is intelligent and sometimes sensitive. But the delicacy and humor as well as sense of beauty with which a Proust or Colette would have touched the same subject are missing.

NELL CONVERSE PUTZEL.

THOMAS L. STOKES

The Search for Issues

DEMOCRATIC party leaders seem to have come to the conclusion that they must fight the 1956 presidential election on issues rather than what they call "personalities."

When they speak of "personalities" they have in mind a personality named Eisenhower. Until and unless he says otherwise, they must figure on him as the man the Republican party will rely upon to carry the banner in next year's election. At the same time Democrats must accept the "personality" of the President as the President of the United States.

Lyndon Johnson, their chief, has been deflected upon the President for acts of his administration that create those issues.

Some may have recalled what happened to the Republican party in a similar situation, that is, when it controlled the Eightieth Congress—1947-49—with a Democrat, Harry S. Truman, in the White House.

A Scary Example.

The Republican plan for that Congress was to put through a tax cut, reduce expenses, and tighten labor laws at the first session, which they did; and, at the second session, just before the 1948 election, to put through a social welfare program.

The latter they failed to get done. The late Senator Taft of Ohio, Republican Senate leader, did his part, getting through the Senate a minimum wage increase bill, a housing bill, and a federal-aid-to-education measure.

But all these were killed by the House—and just the week before the Republican party's national convention. The convention went ahead, nonetheless, and endorsed in its platform the measures which the House had rejected.

That inconsistency was meat for President Truman. He pounced on it at the first opportunity, which was when he addressed the convention which renominated him. Nor did he let the subject drop. He kept at it all during his campaign against Gov. Thomas E. Dewey of New York, whom he defeated.

The Far Right Balks.

It was the ultra-conservative core of the Republican party in the House then that ditched the minimum wage-education-housing program. Similarly, it is the ultra-conservative core of the Democratic party, concentrated chiefly in the South, which is resisting—and will continue to resist—a minimum wage increase, and housing and school construction bills.

It would be strange indeed to see a Republican President twisting a Democratic Congress for failure to enact measures that are in the pattern of the Democratic philosophy of recent years—but it might happen.

They happen to be also included in President Eisenhower's program, but in each instance the Democratic measures go further, providing more public housing, a bigger increase in the minimum wage, and direct appropriations for schools instead of bond issues and restrictions on the use of federal funds.

He also coupled some activity with his conversation. He pushed housing and minimum wage bills to the floor of the Senate early this week, for example.

On the side he urged the need of further reforms in our social security system to permit women to become eligible for old-age pensions at 60 years of age, instead of 65 as now, and to allow persons who become totally disabled to begin to draw pension immediately. He even went so far as to forecast that such legislation might be possible at this session.

Also, he promised to try to get a school construction bill before the Senate before the summer recess, an objective that

ART EXPERTS DISCUSS TOURING GOYA EXHIBIT

Spanish, U.S. Authorities Praise St. Louis Hanging of Show.

City Art Museum's arrangement of "Goya's Drawings and Prints" was praised yesterday for "visual and educational impact" by two visiting art experts who are in St. Louis for the Friends of the Museum preview beginning today at 8 p.m. The show, which will open to the public tomorrow at 10 a.m. and extend through July 4, was hung under supervision of William N. Eisendath Jr., acting director of the museum.

His plan follows chronological order, beginning at the left of the door to Gallery 32, the museum's largest gallery, and continuing through the adjoining Gallery 18 to the right. Special guests of honor at tonight's reception will be the two visiting authorities—Juan Ramon Parellada, cultural counsel at the Spanish Embassy, Washington, and Mrs. John A. Pope, chief of the Smithsonian Institution's traveling exhibition service, which arranged the show's American tour. Both attended the previous openings, at Washington's National Gallery and New York's Metropolitan Museum.

"In Washington," Mrs. Pope said, "the grouping was by subjects, and in New York many beautiful related works from private collections and from the Met itself were added. Each of these hangings used more, but smaller, galleries."

"Neither arrangement, however, was so clearcut and so impressive as your chronological display. This emphasizes Goya's 50 years of advance, ending in 1828 at the age of 82, from the merely decorative and rococo work of his youth to the strong, terse expressionism of his maturity."

"It's beautifully hung," Parellada agreed. "And the show is a wonderful expression of Spain, for nothing could be more Spanish than Goya. In his drawings, moreover, Goya is being more intensely himself than anywhere else."

But there are two things about the show that the general public should keep in mind. One is that prints and drawings, beloved by the true connoisseur, need intimate study, are not theatrical at a glance and are hard to hang effectively.

"The other point, especially for those who read Spanish, is that Goya's accompanying notes are in very unorthodox Spanish, very 'Goya' Spanish, misspelled, grammatical, enigmatical—mere jottings. Like the drawings themselves, they were intended mostly for his own eyes, like a man keeping a diary."

"That is why the show is such a remarkable document for revealing the veiling Goya the man, and that is why the City Art Museum's Goya 'Self-Portrait' in oils is such a fitting addition to the touring collection."

Drawings and prints in the traveling show, most distinguished of 45 now circulating in America under auspices of the Smithsonian Institution's exhibition service, were chosen by

In addition to 129 drawings and prints lent by Madrid museums, the show includes 33 prints from the National Gallery in Washington.

HELEN KELLER HOME FROM WORLD TRIP

T'm About Worked Out, She Says After Journey in Behalf of Blind.

NEW YORK, June 9 (UP)—Helen Keller returned today from a five-month, 40,000-mile world trip on behalf of her fellow blind and said it would be her last great trip.

"I'm about worked out," Miss Keller said as she left a plane at Idlewild Airport. She will be 75 years old on June 27.

The woman who made her name a world she has neither seen nor heard and has been barely able to talk to, smiled when she was asked what was her greatest handicap.

"Lack of brain power," she replied.

Miss Keller's long trip, primarily through India, Pakistan, Burma, the Philippines and Japan, was made on behalf of the American Foundation for the Overseas Blind in an attempt to improve both the prevention of blindness and the facilities for the blind in those nations.

She praised governments in those eastern nations which she said "have taken the initiative in trying to raise the state of life and the abilities of the blind along with other groups of the unfortunate."

Interviewed at Los Angeles last night she had said that Japan was "making wonderful progress" in teaching the blind. But she said "fatalism, poverty, disease and superstition" still hampered efforts in some parts of the East.

Miss Keller, accompanied by Miss Polly Thomson, was met at the airport by actress Kahane Cornell, a member of the foundation board and chairman of the Helen Keller seventy-fifth birthday committee.

Miss Keller left for her Westport (Conn.) home where she said she will "rest up" and prepare her report for the foundation.

FITZPATRICK, WILLIAMS DONATE PULITZER AWARDS

Special to the Post-Dispatch. NEW YORK, June 9—Daniel R. Fitzpatrick, St. Louis Post-Dispatch cartoonist, and Tennessee Williams, playwright, have donated their 5500 Pulitzer Prize awards to Columbia University's graduate School of Journalism, Dean Carl W. Ackerman announced yesterday.

Fitzpatrick, who was this year's winner in the cartoon division, donated his prize to the dean's fund. Williams, who was the winner in drama for his play, "Cat on a Hot Tin Roof," asked the school to award his prize to a member of the 1956 class who shows special interest in the creative arts.

GRAHAM TO END PARIS CRUSADE, 31,000 AT RALLIES

PARIS, June 9 (AP)—Billy Graham tonight ends his five-day Paris crusade, which so far has brought out more than 31,000 persons. Nearly 2000 of them have answered the American evangelist's call to make "decisions for Christ."

"We have fallen in love with the French people," Graham told a crowd of nearly 10,000 last night. "We like everything about you, even your coffee."

Although the Paris crowds have been much smaller than those during his recent seven-week campaign in Britain, Graham said he was "extremely gratified" by the turnout. Graham's words are translated into French as he speaks here.

In London, a spokesman for the evangelist announced the opening of an office in the British capital. It will serve as headquarters for the crusade organization in Europe.

LT. Col. Vincent H. Schroeder, who retired from the Army last October after 28 years of service, died of a heart ailment yesterday at his home, 3423 Westridge lane, St. Ann. He was 49 years old.

Col. Schroeder, a civilian employee of the Corps of Engineers, was a resident engineer of the $12,500,000 Military Personnel Records Center, under construction at 9700 Page boulevard, Overland.

Surviving are his wife, Mrs. Irene Bardot Schroeder; a son, John F. Schroeder; his mother, Mrs. Sadie Schroeder; a sister and a brother. Funeral services will be at 10 a.m. tomorrow at St. Gregory's Catholic Church, 3486 St. Gregory lane, St. Ann, with burial at Memorial Park Cemetery.

TWO TEACHERS IN CLAYTON RETIRE; TAUGHT 78 YEARS

Miss Ann Mills and Miss Claire Schneider, teachers in the Clayton public school system, will retire tomorrow. It was announced by John L. Bracken, superintendent of schools.

Miss Mills, a graduate of Washington University, has been a teacher for more than 40 years and has taught for 37 years at Clayton High School. She taught Latin and social studies.

A graduate of Southeast Missouri State Teachers College, Miss Schneider has been in the Clayton system for 38 years. She has been in charge of second grade children at Bellevue School in the last several years. Both teachers have received certificates signed by Board of Education members and were honored by parent-teacher associations at their schools.

'BRIGADOON' NEXT AT MUNICIPAL OPERA

Four Members of Original Broadway, National Companies Are in Cast.

Municipal Opera's second production of the season, "Brigadoon," will open for a week's engagement at the outdoor theater in Forest Park Monday night. Four members of original Broadway and national companies are in the cast.

The four and the roles they will play are: Virginia Oswald as Fiona MacLaren; Joan Kitting as Meg Brockie; Lidija Franklyn as Maggie Anderson; and John C. Becher, Mr. Lundie. Miss Oswald is currently appearing as Natalie in "The Merry Widow."

Other "Brigadoon" principals include David Atkinson, David Nillo, Earl Williams, Robert Eklies, Oliver Cliff, Norman MacKay, Frank Maxwell, Christine Mayer, and stock players Christine Palmer, Eugene Dorian and Lewis Boyard.

Atkinson, who had the male lead in "Inside U.S.A." on Broadway and recently took principal parts in "The Girl in Pink Tights" and a revival of "Caroussel," is returning to Municipal Opera for the first time since his debut here as leading man in two shows in 1950.

Miss Kitting will be seen later this summer in four other Forest Park productions. Her Broadway appearances have included major parts in "Kiss Me, Kate," "Three Wishes for Jamie," "A Tree Grows in Brooklyn" and "Wonderful Town."

"Brigadoon" was first presented by Municipal Opera in 1950, shortly after its successful run in New York. Frederick Loewe wrote the music and Alan Jay Lerner, the book and lyrics. The musical play concerns a village in the Scottish highlands that comes to life one day every hundred years.

BETWEEN ROUNDS

Records Don't Support Odds on Welter Match.

ODDS-MAKERS who have installed Carmen Basilio of Canastota, N. Y., the favorite over Champion Tony DeMarco of Boston in the welterweight championship match tomorrow at Syracuse certainly seem to have ignored the figures.

DeMarco's slugging percentage is much better than that of Basilio. Tony, in 45 bouts, 40 of which he won, scored 25 knockouts for a mark of .556 while Basilio in 62 contests scored 20 kayos out of his 44 victories for a knockout percentage of .323.

It is said the men who figure the odds are not installing Basilio the favorite because he is a native son, either, but consider him a better combination boxer and puncher than the champion. So they like Basilio's chances at 5 to 6.

Despite the fact that Basilio was beaten 11 times in his career, going back to 1948, the 28-year-old son of an onion farmer never has been stopped. And he is unbeaten in his last 11 bouts, although he boxed two draws in that stretch.

DeMarco, who scored something of a sensational knockout in the fourteenth round to lift the crown from Johnny Saxton April 1 of this year, has been unbeaten in his last 17 starts, although he was held to a draw by Jimmy Carter, the lightweight champion, Feb. 11, the last bout he had before winning the title.

Early in his career, DeMarco was stopped twice, by Art Sifolatta in five rounds in 1939 and by Chick Boucher in four rounds in 1931. He later knocked out Boucher in six rounds.

DeMarco is 23 years of age, five years younger than Basilio, so it is something of a mystery why Carmen has drawn the support he has—except that he is a native son. He made a really excellent showing against Gavilan.

In his two bouts with Chuck Davey, Basilio was very disappointing. He was held to a draw in their first meeting then lost a decision in their second bout.

And you'll remember what Gavilan did to Davey when they fought in Chicago for the welterweight championship. Gavilan toyed with Davey and stopped him in the ninth round.

After Basilio made his fine showing against Gavilan, however, he was sidestepped by Gavilan first and then Saxton, after Johnny won the title from the Cuba Kid.

At the time Saxton signed to box Tony DeMarco in Boston, the New York Commission raised such a ruckus about Basilio not getting the chance that both DeMarco and Saxton agreed that the winner of their bout would oppose Basilio in Syracuse.

Soft Touch Not Soft. Saxon's manager explained that he thought he should be allowed to take Tony DeMarco first because he looked upon the Boston boy as a soft touch for a guaranty of $10,000. He was disillusioned, however, when Tony stormed over Saxton and stopped Johnny to win the title.

Now, it is understood, that the winner between Tony and Basilio is to give Saxton a chance to regain the crown, just when fight fans thought they were finished with the Philadelphia boxer who has done little except cause trouble with his unpleasant style.

That should detract nothing from Tony and Basilio, however, and Syracuse fans displayed their anxiety to see the match by buying out the Auditorium with its 9400 seats within 24 hours.

Actually it was less than 24 hours because the seats were to have gone on sale at 9 o'clock in the morning but by 7:30 o'clock, Syracuse police ordered the windows opened and the distribution to begin because the crowd was tying up traffic.

So, gross receipts of more than $115,000 are assured, plus another gob of dough from the latest gimmick in the business. The promoter has arranged to pipe into the Coliseum, which seats 10,000 people, a telecast of the bout at $3.50 per seat.

Also the national television price is said to be $45,000, making a total of nearly $200,000 for a welterweight match—pretty important money.

The contest will be telecast here over KSD-TV at 9 o'clock. The Syracuse area will be blacked out except for the private telecast in the Coliseum.

If the bout turns out as good as advance indications would seem, it will come at a time when boxing really needs it to take away the sting of the investigations in Philadelphia, New York and California which have given boxing the worst black eye it ever has had.

Koufax Is Reinstated; Dodgers Sell LaSorda BROOKLYN, June 9 (UPI)—The Brooklyn Dodgers released Southpaw Tom LaSorda outright to their Montreal rival yesterday and reinstated Sandy Koufax, 19-year-old bonus pitcher who had been on the disabled list.

LaSorda, 27, had relieved in four games for the Dodgers this season but had no decisions. All major league clubs waived him. The lefty had a 14-5 record for Montreal in 1954.

Indians Find Homers No Cure-All for Slump in Flag Race

Newcombe Wins 10th; Slaughter Aids K.C.

NEW YORK, June 9 (AP)—

It might be a good idea if General Manager Hank Greenberg told his Cleveland Indians to forget about breaking the American League home run record and got them busy hitting the singles that win ball games.

Particularly since the Tribe is snarled in a slump just when the first-place New York Yankees—the team with the homer patent—are due to pay a week-end call.

Greenberg got the homer idea last spring. "Wouldn't be surprised if we hit 196," said Hank with an eye on the record 182 hit by the 1936 Yankees.

Manager Al Lopez agreed. "Singles," he scoffed. "I'll take the home run anytime."

Oh, yeah? In the last six games, the Indians four times have hit three home runs in a single contest. Result: They've lost five of the six, including the four homer-happy games.

With a third of the season gone, the Indians are four home runs ahead of their 1954 pace that won the A.L. homer title, but they've lost four more games than a year ago.

Leave 'Em and Weep. What's more, they've left 41 runners stranded in the six-game span for the lack of those snubbed singles. Going for the fences, the Tribe has batted just .222 in the slump, and has slipped into third place, four and one-half games behind the Yankees.

And here's the kicker: Even with the increased homer pace, which has netted 52, Cleveland is just second best. The Yanks have clubbed 70.

The Indians had one of their three-homer games last night, but wound up losing to Boston in 12 innings, 5-4. The Red Sox had only one homer—and six singles.

Although remaining in third, the Tribe didn't lose ground to the Yanks, who were beaten 3-1, by Detroit. The second place Chicago White Sox also were static, losing to Baltimore, 3-2. Kansas City topped Washington, 3-2.

The National League played 'em tame, but Brooklyn beat Cincinnati, 3-1, as undefeated Don Newcombe became the first pitcher to win 10 this year. The New York Giants regained third from Milwaukee, defeating the Braves, 5-4 in 10 innings. Pittsburgh edged the Chicago Cubs, 2-1.

Finishing Touch. Boston beat the Tribe on Jim Piersall's double and a fielding error. Vic Wertz tied it at 4-4 for the Tribe with his solo in the ninth. Gene Stephens' three-run homer gave the Red Sox a 4-1 lead in the fifth. Al Rosen homered for the other runs scored by the Indians, who had only six hits.

Detroit had but six hits, too, but made the most of Bob Turley's single. Frank Lary, with the help of four double plays, won his sixth.

Tuesday's four-player deal between the White Sox and Senators. Jim Busby, reclaimed by the Sox, hit into a bases-loaded double play at Chicago, where Floot Evers won it for the Orioles with an eighth-inning homer. It was only the fourth hit of loser Jack Harshman.

At Kansas City, a two-run homer by Clint Courtney—the ex-White Sox catcher—wasn't enough for the Senators. The A's took it on a pinch-single by Enos Slaughter in the ninth.

No Stopping Newcombe. Newcombe was in command all the way for the Brooks, who moved nine games ahead of the second place Cubs. The unbeaten right-hander, despite rain and cold, tossed a four-hitter, fanned seven, walked none and retired the last 16 men he faced. Newk, who was 9-3 a year ago, also singled and doubled to figure in two runs.

Frank Keller's wind-blown Texas League double scored the winning run to beat Gerry Stiles. Ted Kluszewski got his sixteenth homer for the Redlegs.

A pinch single by Bobby Hofman won for the Giants, who edged ahead of Milwaukee in the standings after the Braves had tied it at 4-4 in the ninth with the help of two New York errors.

At Pittsburgh, Dale Long's bases-empty home run in the ninth packed it away for the Pirates. Long also doubled to score the other Bucs run on a singled by George Fosse in the second. Jim Davis was the loser, replacing Bob Rush, who was lifted for a pinch-hitter in the ninth. Ron Kline won his third, breaking a six-game losing streak dating back to May 6.

Phillies Sign Three From College Ranks PHILADELPHIA, June 9 (AP)—The Philadelphia Phillies announced the signing of three rookies—an outfielder, an infielder and a pitcher.

Signed was Outfielder Bobby Hunt, 20, who has been hitting .435 with the University of Alabama in the Southeastern Conference. Pitcher John Paul Anderson, 21, also from Alabama, and First Baseman Roger Anderson, 20, from the University of Minnesota.

Hunt and John Anderson will be assigned to Reidville in the Class-B Carolina League. Roger Anderson will be sent to Three Rivers in the Class-C Provincial League.

Almost a Dark Disaster

ALVIN DARK, agile New York shortstop, resorted to an acrobatic tumble to save himself from a bad fall in the fifth inning of the game with Milwaukee. At top left, Dark (19) starts to fall as Braves' first baseman, GEORGE CROWE, is pulled off bag stretching for low throw from Shortstop Johnny Logan, who fielded Dark's grounder. Umpire FRANK SECORY indicates Dark is safe as Giant coach FRED FITZSIMMONS looks on. At upper right, Dark goes down and at bottom he loses cap as he rolls on ground. Giants won in 10 innings, 5-4.

Characters Plain, Plot Needs Time In Cardinal Tale of 2 Managers

By Bob Broeg

Of the Post-Dispatch Sports Staff

PHILADELPHIA, June 9—Under new playing field management the Cardinals so far have made no improvement where it counts most—in the victories that boost the box office—but there have been interesting changes, some of which might lead to a happening of the better things expected from a talented young ball club.

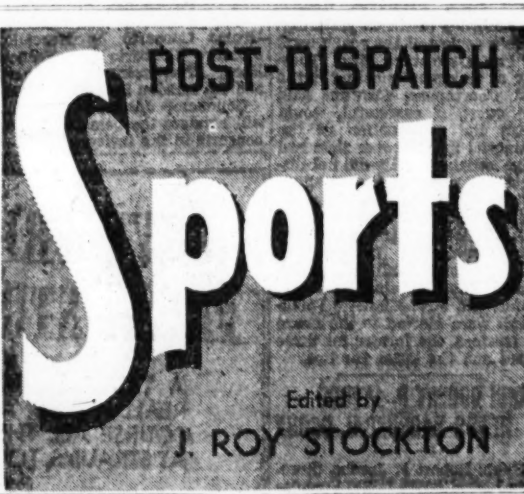

Until last night when rain prevented a Redbird game at Philadelphia for the third time this season, setting up a probable righthanded pitching duel of Rookie Larry (2-2) Jackson against top star Robin (8-4) Roberts tonight, the Cardinals of Harry Walker were exactly in the same position—fifth—in which Eddie Stanky left them 12 games ago.

Whereas they had won 17 and lost 19 under The Brat, they owned to the moment only 4-8 mark under The Hat, whose admirers could point out that, for crying out loud, seven of those games had been with the top two teams in the league. However his detractors could counter, chuckling, that fattening on the Cardinals ranked foremost among the good reasons Brooklyn was first and Chicago second.

Comparisons can be odious and obnoxious, but they are uncomplimentary, and certainly premature and unfair if, for instance, an attempt were made here to evaluate the relative ability of a manager who handled a ball club for more than three seasons and a successor who hasn't had the team for two weeks.

They're Not Twins. Yet comparisons, if not conclusions, are inescapable when such diverse personalities are involved as the tall, trim and dark Walker and the short, stocky and light-complexioned Stanky.

Stanky, a year older than Walker, but two years younger (34) when he became manager, smoked cigars and drank moderately, only beer. Walker, neither smokes nor drinks and has had to learn to acquire a tolerance for people who do, including the majority of ball players.

Edited by J. ROY STOCKTON

4B Thurs., June 9, 1955 ST. LOUIS POST-DISPATCH

third baseman, managed Stanky in the minors. Walker's father, Ewart, was a Washington pitcher, his uncle Ernie, a Browns' outfielder and, of course, brother Fred (Dixie) preceded Harry into the big leagues.

They both like the movies. Otherwise, there is dissimilarity of personality that has reflected itself in the attitude of the ball players. A losing clubhouse still is almost as grim as a morgue, and Walker, like Stanky, is a hard loser, but The Hat's gall of defeat is not as bitter as The Brat's. Although Harry is more gregarious, Eddie could do more with the spoken word as an instrument of cutting sarcasm, therefore hurt friend and foe alike more with his oral rapier than does his less serious, light-hearted successor, who can rib without needing, kid without cuffing.

Walker, consequently, is more friendly if not a better friend. He's a more informal boss, and so far less critical and, as a result, the Cardinals are more relaxed from rookies to veteran. Harry and the field, in the field foreman's company and out of it.

Tactically, to date, Walker has used the blunt and stolen base more than Stanky, who also recognized speed's great value offensively and defensively, yet snubbed hunting generally and the sacrifice specifically with a mental aggressiveness toward hitting that never ceased to be an incongruity from a self-made player adept at laying down the ball and wheeling walks.

Eddie guarded his pet plays like military secrets. Harry talks openly about his and explains his theories and expected enemy counter-measures. Similarly the new manager works openly and easily with players he believes need correction or demonstration while the former manager, fearful he might be thought trying to impress an outsider and/or fearful a player might be uncomfortable with an audience, kept instruction and lessons strictly Q.T.

Curt Roberts Hit on Head by Pitched Ball

HOLLYWOOD, June 9 (AP)—

Curt Roberts, Hollywood second baseman, suffered a brain concussion when struck by a pitch by Bubba Church of Los Angeles last night.

Roberts, 23 years old, was taken to Washington Hospital where X-rays later today will determine whether his skull was fractured. He was reported resting well.

Dr. Murray Small, team physician, said the plastic helmet Roberts wore under his cap probably saved his life. The pitch struck him high on the forehead.

Colts Find Punter in Bowling Green Star

BALTIMORE, June 9 (AP)—

Coach Weeb Ewbank of the Baltimore Colts hoped to have ended his need for a punter today by signing Billy Bradshaw, formerly of Bowling Green.

Bradshaw was the leader among small college football players the past two seasons, averaging 43.9 yards for the Ohio college. Ewbank had to look for a kicker after Cotton Davidson went into military service.

Clarence Norsworthy Jr. Beats Medalist Warren Riepen

Gains 3rd Round of State Golf

By Robert Morrison
Of the Post-Dispatch Sports Staff

KANSAS CITY, June 9—Clarence Norsworthy Jr., tall son of a former St. Louis professional and once a pro himself, knocked the medalist out of the Missouri amateur golf championship today.

The 27-year-old Norsworthy, playing out of Triple A where he once helped his father in the pro shop, accomplished a feat that was the envy of many entrants here when he defeated Warren Riepen of St. Joseph, 4 and 3, in a second-round match. Norsworthy thus led an advance of six St. Louisans into this afternoon's third round which was to reduce the field to eight quarter-finalists. Six from St. Louis were beaten in the second round.

Riepen, an experienced and proficient 42-year-old amateur who had won the state title twice (1948 and 1950) had an off day and Norsworthy quickly seized the opportunity that presented itself.

Back After Layoff.
A railroad employee since regaining his amateur status last summer, Norsworthy had played little tournament golf in recent years because it took a two-year layoff to gain reinstatement.

But he jumped to a quick three-up lead on Riepen in the first four holes, held on to be two up at the turn, and then coasted in when Riepen hit out of bounds on two holes on the back nine.

Norsworthy was out in an approximate medal of 37, two over par, and he was three over for the necessary distance of 15 holes.

Holding a four-up lead with four holes to play, Clarence missed the green at the par four No. 15. Riepen fired a fine iron to just seven feet from the pin. Then Norsworthy chipped to about eight feet and holed it putt, and when Riepen missed, the hole was halved and the match was over.

Just a Vacation.
"No one is more surprised than I am," chuckled young Norsworthy. "I just came up here for a short vacation."

"I've done this thus far to deserve the title to go to two down."

Norsworthy birdied the fourth to add another hole to his advantage.

"After I got that lead, I really got the lump," Clarence said. He double-bogied No. 5 and bogied No. 7 to lose both holes and Riepen was back in the match. But at the ninth Riepen went over par and was again two down.

At the twelfth and thirteenth Riepen showed he definitely was in the hole when he hit out of bounds off the tee to lose both holes.

Riepen was medalist with a score of 71 Tuesday. A medalist has won the state tournament only twice in postwar years. Jack Geiss of St. Louis did it in 1949 at St. Louis and Jim Tom Blair in 1952 at Kansas City.

Blair Defeats Weiss.
Jim Tom Blair, Jefferson City, one of the tournament favorites who has done little thus far to lose the distinction, caught Jonas Weiss of St. Louis on one of Jonas's worst days and beat him, 6 and 5.

Weiss, suffering from sinus trouble, was five down after nine holes which Jim Tom played off in mediocre fashion. However, the young man from Jefferson City was two under par in the remaining four holes and said he finally had got to hitting the ball better.

Charley Fawcett Jr. of Nor-

Norris Says All Is Serene in Garden Change

NEW YORK, June 9 (UP)—A reorganization of the corporation that operates Madison Square Garden, New York's famed sports arena, has been announced.

James D. Norris, who will be president of the new Madison Square Garden Corp., said the reorganization of the board of directors would have no effect on boxing, ice hockey or other sports.

Gen. John Reed Kilpatrick, present president, will be the new chairman of the board.

Norris held a news conference after it was reported that six members of the board, including Chairman Bernard P. Gimbel, of the Gimbel's department store family, resigned last night.

Gimbel would not comment on a New York Herald Tribune report that the six quit because they felt they have been "captives" of Norris.

Kilpatrick and Norris confirmed that six board members had resigned but said there had been "no friction nor acrimony" connected with the actions. Nine board members will remain, the officials said.

Others who resigned were Stanton Griffiths, Jansen Noyes, Walter P. Chrysler Jr., Sidney J. Weinstein and William M. Greve.

Kilpatrick said he, Norris and Board Member Arthur M. Wirtz of Chicago own "more than 60 per cent" of the Garden Corporation stock.

Hugh Stewart Beats Argentine at Bristol

BRISTOL, England, June 9 (UP)—Hugh Stewart of Pasadena, Calif., Malcolm Fox of Baltimore and four United States women players won second round matches in the West of England Grass Courts tennis tournament yesterday.

Stewart defeated Ernesto Della Paolera of Argentina, 8-6, 7-5, and Fox edged R. O. Knowde of Australia, 6-4, 4-6, 6-3.

In women's second-round play, Mrs. Dorothy Head Knode of Alameda, Calif., eliminated Miss R. Davar, the only Indian entry, 6-3, 6-0; Connie Clifton Ball of Daytona Beach, Fla., whipped Miss L. Nichols of Australia, 6-3, 6-1; Lois Felix of Meriden, Conn., beat Miss J. De la Spain, 6-2, 6-4; and Katherine Hubbell of Conway, N.H., won by default when her opponent withdrew.

Fawcett was just two over par in the match.

Neck and Neck

NEW YORK, June 9 (AP).

YOU could hardly ask for closer games than the ones played in the major leagues yesterday.

Five of the seven games were decided by one run. The other two wound up with only two runs separating the winning and losing clubs.

The results: Giants 5, Braves 4; Pirates 2, Cubs 1; Orioles 3, White Sox 2; Red Sox 5, Indians 4; A's 3, Senators 2; Tigers 3, Yankees 1; and Dodgers 3, Redlegs 1.

Champion Giants Down 80,000 in Attendance

NEW YORK, June 9 (UP)—The world champion New York Giants' 1955 attendance is about 80,000 less than it was last year at this time.

Souchak to Grossinger

GROSSINGER, N. Y., June 9 (UP)—Mike Souchak, the former Duke football star who is leading money-winner on the 1955 pro golf circuit, has been signed as playing professional by the Grossinger Country Club.

Souchak has won the Texas, Houston and Seminole opens this season and established the all-time P.G.A. record of 57 for 18 holes in the Texas Open.

Al Bessellink is the other Grossinger playing pro, while Joe Turnesa is the home pro at the course.

Parlo Breaks Belmont Record

NEW YORK, June 9 (UP)—The Foxcatcher Farm's Parlo, the 1954 three-year-old filly champion, set a new Belmont Park track record of 1:41 4-5 for one and one-sixteenth miles yesterday in scoring an easy three-length triumph in the $25,000 added Top Flight Handicap.

Parlo, given a smart ride by Eric Guerin, moved from front near the three-quarter mile pole and never was seriously threatened. Her time eclipsed the old mark of 1:42 flat set by Misty Morn 12 days ago.

The Shawmut Stable's Gainsboro Girl, the sixth choice in the field of 12, finished second after setting the early pace. A half length in advance of J. S. Phipps's Spinning Top, while the well-regarded High Voltage, the reigning three-year-old champion, wound up a beaten seventh. High Voltage was the second choice of the crowd of 20,092 behind Parlo.

Parlo, winner of four of 10 starts last year with earnings of $135,200, returned $6.10, $4.10 and $3.20.

These Predictions Are Based on Normal Water and Weather Conditions.

Gasconade and Osage rivers have been murky in early part of week but are clearing. Big Piney muddy, with very little possibility of it being in fishing shape by this weekend.

Wappapello is three feet above pool level, with one gate open below the dam. All other lakes near pool level. Taneycomo, Norfolk and Bull Shoals waters are slightly cloudy but should be in fishing shape Saturday if there are no more heavy rains. Osage arm of Lake of Ozarks is muddy and not fishable.

Popping bugs and surface casting lures are best bait this week.

Ezzard Charles Outpoints Holman to Avenge T.K.O. of April

Ex-Champ Eyes New Title Shot

CINCINNATI, June 9 (UP)—Former Heavyweight Champion Ezzard Charles, fresh from an avenging victory over big Johnny Holman, said today he would resume his campaign for another title shot "in four or five weeks."

"I'll fight anybody—Don Cockell, Nino Valdes or Archie Moore," declared 33-year-old Ezzard who turned the tables on Holman of Chicago last night with a unanimous 10-round decision at the Music Hall.

Holman, 27, had won over the ex-champion on a technical knockout in the ninth round at Miami Beach April 27, but last night in their nationally televised and broadcast return bout he was handcuffed by Ezzard's change in style.

Instead of fighting upright as usual, Charles showed his hometown fans he could go into an opponent head down—in Rocky Marciano fashion—and press him at close quarters. Holman, who needs plenty of room for his looping punches, could get little power or accuracy into his blows.

There were no knockdowns. Ezzard, favored at 9-5, was hurt only once, by an overhanded right to the head in the fourth round. But he came out fighting in the fifth. He gave Johnny a body beating in nearly every session.

At 195½ pounds, Charles was two pounds heavier than in their first bout. Holman at 202, was three-fourths of a pound lighter.

According to Cincinnati rules, a referee and three judges were used. Only the judges voted. They favored Ezzard on points as follows: Gene Nitzsche, 98-96; Joe Craven, 98-89, and Paul Pusatari, 100-94. Pusatari gave Charles every round. The United Press gave him eight.

--- 16 VICTORIES, ONE DRAW IN LAST 17 FIGHTS, 11 OF THE VICTORIES WERE BY KNOCKOUTS, INCLUDING THE TITLE-WINNING K.O. OF JOHNNY SAXTON IN APRIL ---

Two long shot winners, C. N. Salerno's Comet Meadow and Our Laura of the Meadow Lane stable, captured races by margins of a head in two interesting events on last night's program at Fairmount Park.

Comet Meadow, 5-year-old gelding which is a son of Valinda Lamar, in taking the sixth six-furlong race refunded $24.80, $8.40 $5.00 on a $2 across-the-board investment. Sky Ranch, Mrs. L. Battles' 4-year-old colt, gave Comet Meadow a hard fight during the stretch run. San Andres finished third, two lengths behind Sky Ranch.

Charley Billeaud, who was up on Comet Meadows, had previously booted Bevsboy home first in the second race, a one mile and 70-yard event, Charley was the only double winner all evening and he has a dozen victories to his credit.

The three-year-old filly, Our Laura, came from behind to catch Smart Hussy and finish as the victor in the $1000 ninth, a six-furlong sprint. Our Laura, daughter of Bull Run, rewarded her backers with $24.20, $16.40 and $7.20 mutuels. Smart Hussy, a leader until half-way through the stretch run, was trailed by one-half length by Like To, 3-year-old filly which belongs to Ed Kolajay.

Turf fans saw two other horses return good prices in the fifth and eighth races. Ula, racing here for the first time after winning at Beulah Park, beat Thurman Gammon's Chinese Yen by a length in the fifth and the 9-year-old mare's prices were $16.40, $6.80 and $5.00.

A half-length separated Lady Latin, first-place finisher in the eighth, and Ace Tip, T. O. Logsdon's 6-year-old mare. Lady Latin's followers redeemed $16.00, $4.60 and $4.00 tickets following her victory.

Harper Has 9-Under 28 for Nine Holes

PORTSMOUTH, Va., June 9 (AP)—Chandler Harper, who led the nation's National Open qualifier three days ago, toured the Elizabeth Manor Country Club course here yesterday in a nine-under-par 28 for the first nine holes.

"It was the best nine holes I've ever shot," said the veteran Virginia golfer, who plays out of Chattanooga, Tenn. Harper had seven birdies and an eagle.

On Monday he led the qualifying for the open with a 36-hole total of 134 at Chevy Chase, Md., where he established a course record.

Suspended Boxer Pleads Amnesia In Failure to Show Up for Bout

DETROIT, June 9 (UP)—Johnny Lombardo, faced with a life suspension from the ring because he failed to appear for a 10-round welterweight match with Pat Lowry in Toledo, O., Monday night, said today he apparently was stricken with amnesia.

Lombardo asserted he remembered nothing from the time he left a Toledo radio station Monday night until he found himself wandering aimlessly here yesterday afternoon.

"I've never had amnesia," he said. "But that's what it must have been."

"After the broadcast Monday night I went out alone for a walk and don't know how I got hit on the head and I had only three or four dollars with me to start with."

"The truth is stranger than fiction, and this is the truth," he said. "I swear to it."

Lombardo said he went to the home of a friend here Monday and realized it was too late to report for the prefight weigh-in. He said the friend called his manager, Connie Noonan, who told him the fight had been canceled.

CHURCH COUNCIL STUDIES RUSSIAN TRIP

Would Permit Exchange of Views With Clergy of Soviet Union.

NEW YORK, June 9 (AP)—The National Council of Churches is considering the possibility of sending American church leaders to Russia to exchange views with Soviet Union clergy.

The council's 250-member general board yesterday voted to study the advisability of such a move. Final decision will rest with the council's policy and strategy committee.

The council is a federation of 30 Protestant and Eastern Orthodox denominations with 35,500,000 members.

In the Soviet Union, Christianity's main arm is the Russian Orthodox Church, headed by Patriarch Alexei. Baptists and some other Protestant denominations also have churches there.

The possible conference between American and Russian church leaders, the board said, would be aimed at achieving "a just and durable peace."

The Rev. Dr. Eugene Carson Blake, president of the National Council, said many Christian leaders believe "lines of communication should be kept open even though there sometimes appears to be no immediate prospect of agreement."

The general board also approved plans for financing construction of a 17-story, $14,000,000 united church center on Riverside drive, Manhattan.

The center, which will house National Council offices as well as agencies of several individual denominations, will be paid for through credits and a $3,000,000 cash outlay.

The board also approved a declaration terming the United Nations an essential agency "to avoid international anarchy and war." The statement is to be presented at a Christian "festival of faith" in San Francisco on June 19, the day before the U.N. opens a meeting there marking the tenth anniversary of its founding in that city.

SULZBERGER NAMED OFFICER OF CHATTANOOGA TIMES CO.

CHATTANOOGA, Tenn., June 9 (AP)—Arthur Hays Sulzberger, publisher of the New York Times, has been elected vice president of the Chattanooga Times Printing Co., succeeding the late Col. M. B. Ochs.

This was announced yesterday by Maj. Gen. Julius Ochs Adler, president of the Times Printing Co. and publisher of the Chattanooga Times.

Ben Hale Golden, assistant general manager of the Chattanooga Times, was elected a director to fill the vacancy caused by the death of Col. Ochs. Other directors are Mrs. Arthur Hays Sulzberger, Adolph Shelby Ochs, Mrs. Ben Hale Golden and Charles McD. Puckette.

Tips on How to Buy and Use Tuna

It Pays to Know Various Types of Tuna and Buy One Best Suited for Particular Use.

By DOROTHY BRAINER
Post-Dispatch Food Editor

SINCE tuna is in the spotlight on this page today, let's start our marketing at the shelf containing canned seafoods.

As is true with most canned foods, the homemaker can save money if she buys the grade which will best suit the purpose for which the tuna is to be used. There is no point, for instance, in buying chunk-style tuna if it is to be used in a recipe for which it must be shredded, or in buying fish selected for color if it is going into a sauce in which its color will not be apparent.

Only the streamlined albacore may be labeled as "white meat." Of snow-white flesh and bland flavor, its color is similar to the white meat of chicken and, because it is firm in texture, it is termed "solid pack" on can labels. Yellowfin, skipjack and bluefin customarily are canned as "light meat" tuna. These are deeper in color than the white meat and of rich, full flavor.

There is no quality difference in the styles of pack of canned tuna; style of pack refers only to sizes of pieces in the can.

Fancy, standard, chunk, shredded or flaked packs are yours for the choosing. Fancy pack is free from dark meat, bones, skin or flakes. It is selected for color and contains choice cuts of solid meats. Use it when large pieces of tuna are desirable.

Standard pack contains at least 75 percent large pieces, with flakes filling out the can; it has no dark meat, bones or skin. Chunk-style tuna has bite-sized pieces of light meat.

Grated, shredded or flaked tuna, obviously, contains the smaller pieces. These are fine for use in fish loaves, patties or spreads.

Those on special diets will appreciate the new dietetic pack, canned in distilled water without added salt or oil.

And even Baby can eat bland-flavored tuna—there is a special strained tuna pack available in three and one-half ounce cans.

GOING on to the meat counter, we find cold cuts and franks in good supply. The better beef buys will be found in the forequarter cuts—chuck, rib steaks and rib roasts. Incidentally, those rib steaks are ideal for barbecuing because they are just the right size for individual servings.

And in pork, it's canned hams and fancy bacon.

IT is fun to watch the seasons change in the fruit stands. Now we see California sweet cherries, Bing and Tartarians, appearing in regular supply.

The first of the homegrown gooseberries and black raspberries have put in an appearance. We need not remind you that red raspberries usually follow the blacks in short order. Of course these offerings are very limited and in the luxury class, but they do herald the real berry season.

Some homegrown strawberries linger on, but they are past their peak with Michigan and California taking over.

The quality of cantaloupes is improving and there are some honeydews from Texas available. It might pay to take a chance. Watermelons also are cutting quite nicely.

Not too much change in the citrus market; grapefruit may not be quite as plentiful, and you may find a few better buys in the small sizes of California oranges.

One item is worthy of note—there are more limes around town than is customary, and rumor has it that they will be abundant throughout the season.

And again we mention the mangoes to which we called your attention last week. They, too, are expected to be more plentiful than usual and with every indication of a short peach crop it may pay you to become better acquainted with this exotic fruit.

NOW for a quick run-down on vegetables. You might write beets and cucumbers at the top of the week's good buys. Cucumbers are cheaper than they have been so far this year.

Cabbage is still a good bargain, as is cauliflower. Even if these two items should advance a penny or so they still would be budget buys.

Celery is low in price and good in quality, and carrots rate a pat on the back. The quality is improved on tomatoes and we are getting closer to the vine-ripened ones from nearby.

Potatoes of all kinds, with the exception of a few fancy Idaho russets, are down in price. Finally, use onions any and every way you want. Onions of all kinds, sizes and shapes are yours at bargain-basement prices.

Good Casserole for Summer Day

These Lemon Tuna Balls fit right into the scheme of summer living, since the casserole can be made early in the day, and stored in the refrigerator until about an hour before dinner.

IT IS A SMART homemaker who has a nice, fat file of tuna recipes because tuna is one of those adaptable foods that can solve just about any menu problem. In addition to the ease with which it fits into many types of meals, it can be depended upon to stretch the budget on those lean days just before the paycheck is due, and a few cans of tuna on the pantry shelf are a fine safeguard against unexpected dinner guests. Add to these virtues its admirable nutritional score (it is one of the greatest of all protein foods) and it is easy to understand its popularity.

Tuna fits right into the scheme of summer living, whether it is used in a sandwich or in a casserole such as Lemon-Tuna Balls which make it possible for you to join in the fun when you have guests for dinner.

Early in the day, make the sauce and brown the tuna balls while the noodles cook. Spoon all ingredients in a casserole and keep in the refrigerator until about an hour before dinner. When heated together the slightly tangy lemon sauce blends beautifully with the rich tuna balls. Serve a plate of lemon wedges so that each person may squeeze additional juice over his serving.

Lemon-Tuna Balls

One can tuna.
One-fourth cup chopped onion.
Two eggs, beaten.
One and one-half cups bread crumbs.
Two tablespoons lemon juice.
One teaspoon parsley, minced.
Salt and pepper.
One-fourth teaspoon dry mustard.
One-third cup milk.
One-fourth cup fat for frying.
One six-ounce package noodles.
Flake the tuna and add other ingredients except fat. Form into small balls and brown in hot fat. Cook noodles in boiling water according to directions on package. Add tuna balls to noodles and sauce.

Lemon Sauce:

Three tablespoons flour.
One-fourth teaspoon paprika.
One-half teaspoon salt.
One-fourth teaspoon dry mustard.
Two cups milk.
Three tablespoons lemon juice.
One tablespoon margarine or butter.
Combine flour, paprika, salt and dry mustard; gradually stir in hot water. Cook until mixture is clear and thick, stirring constantly. Remove from heat. Add lemon juice and butter. Combine with tuna balls and cooked noodles.

Hot sandwiches can taste mighty fine for luncheon or supper on a hot day. For instance, this hearty

Hot Avocado Tuna Sandwich

Four tablespoons butter or margarine.
Four tablespoons flour.
One teaspoon salt.
Dash pepper.
Two cups milk.
One medium-sized avocado.
One seven-ounce can tuna.
Split toasted bun.
Sliced hard-cooked egg.
Minced parsley.

Melt butter and blend in flour, salt and pepper. Stir in milk and cook and stir until thickened. Cut avocado into halves lengthwise and remove seed and skin. Cut fruit into cubes. Drain tuna and flake coarsely. Stir avocado and tuna into white sauce. Heat but do not boil. Serve over buns. Top with sliced hard-cooked egg and parsley. Yield: four to five servings.

Tuna combines nicely with many types of fruit. (Try adding it to Waldorf salad if you want a more hearty version of this favorite). Here it teams up with citrus in

Orange Tuna and Rice

Three tablespoons butter or margarine.
One tablespoon all-purpose flour.
Three teaspoons grated orange rind.
One teaspoon grated lemon rind.
One tablespoon sherry.
Three-fourths cup milk.
One-fourth teaspoon salt.
One seven-ounce can solid-pack tuna, drained.
Three cups cooked rice.
Melt butter or margarine over low heat. Add flour and blend. Add two teaspoons orange rind, lemon rind, sherry, milk and salt. Cook over low heat five minutes, stirring constantly. Add tuna which has been broken into pieces with a fork and cook five minutes longer. Add remaining one teaspoon grated orange rind to rice and and stir until gelatin is dissolved. Combine celery, onion, green pepper, tuna, cream cheese, mustard, salt, paprika and lemon juice; mix well. Add gelatin mixture and blend well. Turn into oiled one-quart mold and chill until firm. Unmold and surround with crisp salad greens, if desired.

The popular pizza pie has a tuna version, too.

Tuna Pizza Pie

Two (six and one-half or seven ounce each) cans tuna.
One-half cup chopped onion.
Three tablespoons butter or other fat, melted.
One can (eight ounces) tomato sauce.
One can (six ounces) tomato paste.
One teaspoon crushed oregano.
One-half teaspoon salt.
Dash pepper.
One package hot roll mix.
One-half cup sliced stuffed green olives.
One-half pound sliced cheese.
Drain tuna. Flake. Cook onion in butter until tender. Add tomato sauce, tomato paste and seasonings; bring to a boil and simmer 10 minutes.
Prepare hot roll mix as directed. Divide in half; roll in two circles about nine inches in diameter. Place each circle on a well-greased baking sheet and fold over one-fourth inch of the outside edge to form a rim.
Cover each circle with one-half the sauce, tuna and olives. Arrange slices of cheese on top. Bake in a hot oven, 425 degrees, for 20 minutes or until crust is brown. Yield: six servings.

Here is a dish that would be ideal for a summer luncheon. Serve it with its own special sauce, add a crisp vegetable salad, muffins and butter with lemon sherbet and crisp butter cookies for dessert.

Chinese Tuna

Six tablespoons butter or margarine.
Six tablespoons flour.
Three cups milk.
Three-fourths teaspoon salt.
Two egg yolks, well beaten.
One cup (one seven-ounce can) tuna.
One-half cup toasted split blanched almonds.
Two cups chow mein noodles.
Two egg whites, stiffly beaten.
Two tablespoons chopped, crisp sweet pickles.
Melt butter in saucepan over low heat. Stir in flour and blend. Add milk gradually and cook, stirring over low heat until smooth and thickened; add salt. Mix one and one-fourth cups cream sauce with egg yolks, tuna, almonds and noodles. Mix well. Carefully fold in stiffly beaten egg whites. Pour into well greased nine by five by three inch loaf pan. Bake in moderate oven (350 degrees) for 30 minutes, or until set and lightly browned on top. Unmold on hot platter and serve with remaining one and three-fourths cup cream sauce to which has been added two tablespoons chopped crisp sweet pickles.

Keep this recipe for some summer day when it is so hot that just the very name will seem refreshing:

Seaspray Salad

Two tablespoons unflavored gelatin.
One-third cup cold water.
One-half cup boiling water.
Three-fourths cup chopped celery.
One-fourth cup minced onion.
One-fourth cup chopped green pepper.

Two six and one-half ounce cans chunk-style tuna, drained.
One three-ounce package cream cheese, crumbled.
Two teaspoons prepared mustard.

One teaspoon salt.
One-fourth teaspoon paprika.
Three tablespoons lemon juice.
Soften gelatin in cold water five minutes; add boiling water

CANNED FRUIT JUICES MAKE GOOD PUNCH

WITH graduation parties the order of the day, quick-and-easy punches made with canned juices and nectars come to the aid of the busy hostess.

Apricot nectar, pineapple juice and blended orange and grapefruit juice are brought to fizzy festiveness with ginger ale, then topped to perfection by a sherbet float—which may be orange, pineapple, lime, or raspberry.

Graduation Punch

One 46-ounce can unsweetened blended orange and grapefruit juice.
One 12-ounce can apricot nectar.

One 12-ounce can pineapple juice.
One quart ginger ale.
One quart lime or pineapple sherbet.

Chill fruit juice and ginger ale. Just before serving pour juice and ginger ale into punch bowl. Add sherbet by spoonfuls and stir in lightly. Yield: about one and one-half gallons.

ANOTHER interesting innovation in party punches, Grape Lemonade, is a pretty and perky cooler which is ideal for smaller groups.

Grape Lemonade

One-half cup sugar.
Three cups water.
One-half cup lemon juice.
One cup pineapple juice.
One cup grape juice.
Combine sugar with one-half cup water and heat until sugar is dissolved. Cool. Add remaining water and fruit juices. Add ice cubes and stir until well chilled. Yield: about one and one-half quarts.

HERE are two simple punches, nice for a graduation party or for any party throughout the summer. Fresh or frozen

To Toast the Graduate

A graduation calls for a party, and a party calls for a punch such as this one made with apricot nectar, pineapple juice, orange and grapefruit juice and "fizzed" with gingerale. Scoops of fruit sherbet float on top, a few fresh strawberries add a color accent.

fruits and juices may be used.

Party Punch

Three cups sieved, sweetened strawberries.
Three cups orange juice.
One cup lime juice.
One-half cup sugar sirup.
Two 28-ounce bottles pale dry ginger ale.
Combine strawberries, orange juice, lime juice and sugar sirup. Pour over ice in punch bowl. Just before serving, add pale dry ginger ale.

Blue Moon Punch

Three cups grape juice.
Two cups grapefruit juice.
Two cups orange juice.
One-half cup sugar sirup.
Two 28-ounce bottles pale dry ginger ale.

Combine grape juice, grapefruit juice, orange juice and sugar sirup. Pour over ice in punch bowl. Just before serving, add pale dry ginger ale.

SALAD COMPLEMENTS MEAT OR FISH COURSE

THIS delightful salad combines the crispness of cucumbers and green peppers, the tartness of lemon juice, the accent of onion juice, and the fluffy smoothness of whipped nonfat dry milk solids. It is on of those gems easily and quickly made early in the morning or in advance of a busy day. Economical, it serves eight generously. It is a delicious complement for fish or meat.

Cucumber Salad

One package lime flavored gelatin.
One cup boiling water.
One-fourth cup lemon juice.
One-half cup cold water.
One-half cup nonfat dry milk solids.
One-fourth cup chopped green pepper.

Two cups chopped cucumber.
One teaspoon onion juice.
One-eighth teaspoon salt.
One-half cup mayonnaise.

Dissolve gelatin in boiling water. Add lemon juice and cool until slightly thickened. Place cold water in a chilled bowl. Add nonfat dry milk solids and beat until very stiff. Add thickened gelatin. Beat until fluffy.

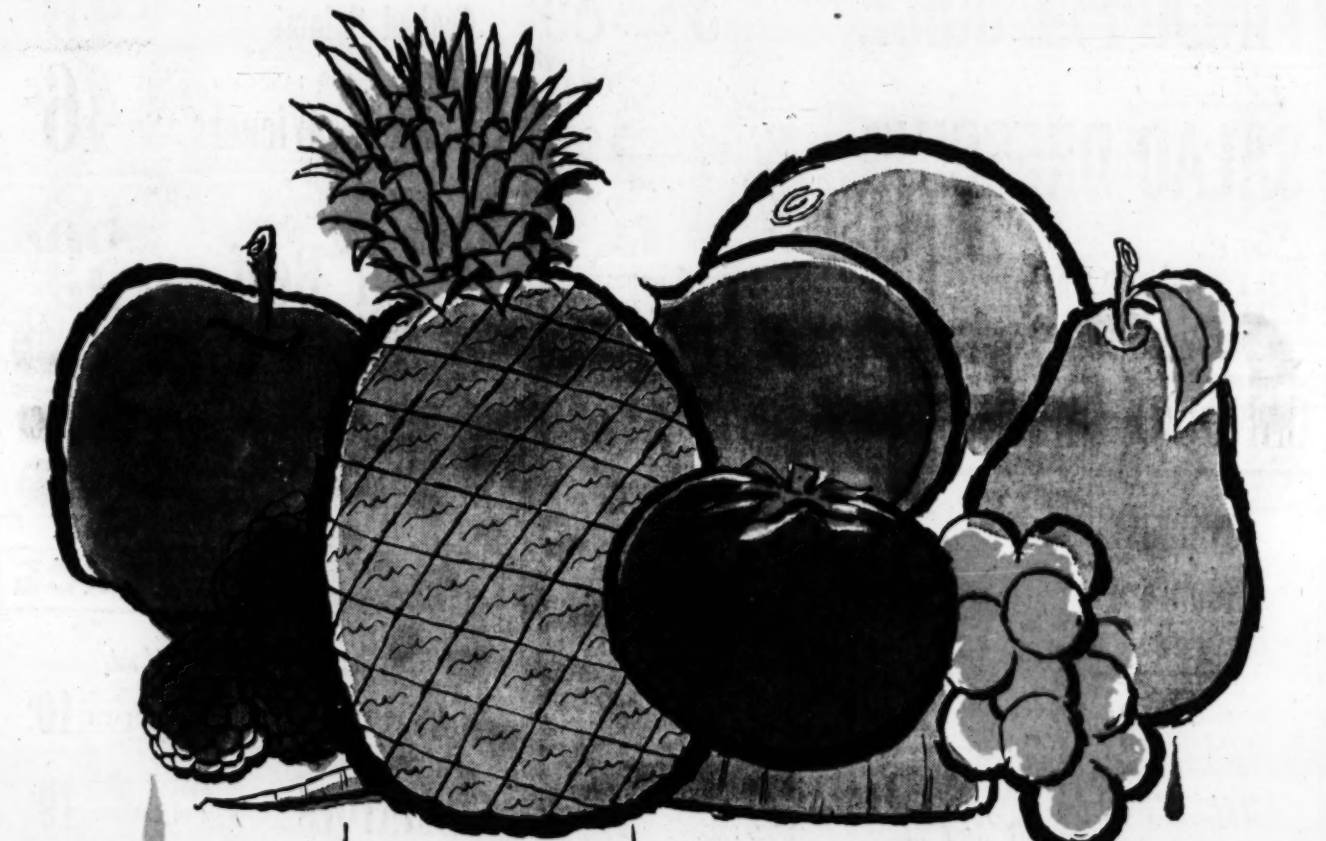

Fold in chopped vegetables, onion juice, salt and mayonnaise. Mix well. Turn into an oiled one-quart mold or eight individual molds. Chill until firm.

When ready to serve, unmold on a bed of watercress or other greens. Serve with French dressing.

*Peeling may be left on cucumber for color.

Storing Ground Meat

Ground meat should be placed, loosely wrapped, in the coldest part of the refrigerator. It should be used within 24 hours.

COON SKIN CAP CAKE TO ENCHANT CHILDREN

Young Davy Crocketts can have their coon skin cap and eat it, too with this easy-to-make, one-bowl Davy Crockett cake which is perfect for children's parties.

Davy Crockett Cake.
One and seven-eighths cups sifted cake flour (two cups minus two tablespoons).
One and one-half cups sugar.
One and one-fourth teaspoons double acting baking powder.
One half teaspoon soda.
One teaspoon salt.
Six tablespoons cocoa.
Two-third cup white all-vegetable shortening.
One cup buttermilk or sour milk.
One half to two-third cup un-beaten eggs (two large or three medium).
One teaspoon vanilla.
One-eighth teaspoon red coloring.

Sift the flour, sugar, baking powder, soda, salt and cocoa together into a bowl. Add the shortening and milk. Mix for two minutes on medium speed of mixer or by hand, counting 150 beating strokes a minute. Scrape sides and bottom of bowl frequently.

Add the eggs, vanilla and red coloring. Mix two minutes as before. With a small portion of the batter make six cup cakes (fill 2-inch greased muffin pans half full and make 18 to 20 minutes in a moderately hot oven, 400 degrees). Divide remaining batter equally between two round 8-inch layer cake pans which have been rubbed with shortening and lined with paper cut to fit. Bake 20 to 25 minutes in a moderate oven, 350 degrees, or until done.

Chocolate Cream Frosting.
One-half cup, (one-fourth pound margarine or butter).
Three cups sifted powdered sugar.
One-third cup cocoa.
Four tablespoons milk.
One teaspoon vanilla.
One and one-half cups toasted coconut.

To toast coconut, place in a thin layer on a baking sheet and bake in a moderate oven (350 degrees) 15 to 20 minutes or until a light golden brown. Cool. Cream the margarine or butter slightly, add one cup of the sugar and the cocoa, creaming until smooth. Then add the milk, vanilla and remaining sugar alternately, creaming smooth.

TO ASSEMBLE CAKE, frost the two layers as for any cake, covering top and sides with chocolate cream frosting. Cover sides heavily with the toasted coconut, then in stripes across the top as pictured. For the tail of the cap, cut a half-inch slice from the side of each cup cake and place them in a row, cut side down, curving the line

FOUND SHOT IN HEAD, DIES

Robert Paul Winkler, a laborer, was found shot in the head yesterday in a second-floor bedroom at his home, 5434 Walsh street. A .22-caliber rifle was lying nearby. He died five hours later at City Hospital. His father, Julius E. Winkler, said he heard a noise when he was in the kitchen and rushed to the younger Winkler's room. He told police his son, 22 years old, had been despondent.

SECOND ROUND SHOTS GIVEN IN 2 SCHOOLS

Handicapped Children in Two City Systems Get Inoculations.

Second shots of the Salk polio vaccine have been given to first- and second-grade students in the two schools for handicapped children of the St. Louis public school system, Dr. Lloyd L. Tate, director of health and hygiene for the school board, said today.

Sufficient vaccine was left over after the first shot was given these children and the first- and second-graders throughout the system to permit the second inoculation, Dr. Tate said. "We believed the youngsters at Elias Michael School and at Gallaudet School had enough physical handicaps and should not be asked to run the risk of polio infection if it was possible to avoid it," he said. "A number of them have rheumatic hearts and would be more seriously affected by the disease than the otherwise normal child."

Parents were notified of the availability of the serum and not one rejected the offer, Dr. Tate said. About 70 children in the two schools received the shots last Monday.

The supply is now virtually exhausted and further shots cannot be given until a new shipment is received, Dr. Tate said. He pointed out the difficulty of administering the program after the school vacation begins the end of next week and said that the next shots probably would not be given until classes resume in September. He said this would be in ample time to provide the immunization desired.

JUNIOR COLLEGE NAVY CREDIT

A program to allow graduates of junior colleges to use their college training to the fullest extent while in Navy service was announced today by the Navy's recruiting station here.

Under the program, eligible applicants with a junior college degree are guaranteed specialized training in one of 31 occupational fields after completing their nine weeks recruit training. The Navy Recruiting Station is in the Old Customs House, 815 Olive street.

BRITONS OBSERVE QUEEN'S BIRTHDAY LAST TIME IN SUEZ

ISMAILIA, Egypt, June 9 (AP)—Under a boiling sun, crack British guardsmen trooped the color on the Queen's birthday for the last time in the Suez Canal Zone.

Thousands of British officers, soldiers and their wives, watched the ceremony on the sandy drill ground of Moascar barracks.

By the Queen's official birthday next June all British troops will have departed from the strategic canal zone under the British-Egyptian agreement.

31 PICKETS ARRESTED AT MIAMI BEACH HOTELS

MIAMI BEACH, Fla., June 9 (AP)—The AFL Hotel Employees Union maintained its picket lines at four oceanfront hotels today, after 31 of its members were arrested by police. The were picked up late yesterday and charged with loitering.

It was the largest number of arrests in the 57-day strike which the union began in an attempt to be recognized as the bargaining agent for its members. Police said further arrests would be made if others congregate near the hotels. Union spokesmen said most of those arrested were either coming off the picket lines or getting ready to go on.

The Martinique was struck yesterday and the Robert Richer the day before, bringing to 20 the number that have been either struck or picketed.

Dip right into summer! It's here now!

JAZZ ENTHUSIASTS HAVE HARD TIME GETTING CONCERT SITE

NEWPORT, R.I., June 9 (AP)—The Newport jazz festival has finally found a spot for its three concerts next month after getting less than enthusiastic response at two proposed sites. The festival originally was scheduled for the Newport Casino, where it held its first concert last year. Casino officials, however, refused to permit its return. Festival officials next sought to hold the affair at Belmont court, the former Belmont estate on Bellevue avenue. Summer concertists said they would protest to city officials.

The jazz enthusiasts went before the city council last night and won permission to hold the concerts in Free Park July 15, 16, and 17.

KIEL, Germany, June 9 (UP)—The Soviet Union will return 62 United States naval vessels, received in World War II under the lend-lease agreement, to the United States Navy at this North German Baltic seaport starting next month, it was announced yesterday.

The Schleswig-Holstein state government said the vessels, 56 torpedo boats and six small ships equipped to hunt submarines, are now stationed in Soviet and Soviet-occupied ports in the Baltic sea area. The announcement said the ships would be returned in groups of 10 to 15 vessels in the next three months.

CHARGES DEFENSE 'MEDDLING' BY BANK

Congressman Says Intercession by Boston Firm Got Contract for Kaiser Corp.

WASHINGTON, June 9 (AP)—Representative Daniel J. Flood, (Dem.), Pennsylvania, asserted today the air force had reversed itself and awarded a contract to the Kaiser Aluminum & Chemical Corp., after intercession by a Boston banker.

In a speech prepared for the House, Flood demanded a congressional investigation.

The contract, he said, was let in April for the Kaiser company to operate a heavy press extrusion plant at Haverhill, Md. These presses are used to stamp out large sections of combat aircraft to speed production.

Flood said Secretary of the Air Force Harold G. Talbott "found Kaiser unfit to operate" the facility when negotiations were first undertaken in November 1954.

But the contract was awarded to Kaiser in late April, Flood added, providing for the company to lease the Government-owned press to fill both Air Force and private orders.

"I have learned from friends in eastern banking circles," Flood said, "that no less a personage than the chairman of the board of the First Boston Corp., G. D. Woods, went to the Secretary of the Treasury and asked him to intervene with the Air Force to get this facility for Kaiser."

There was no immediate comment from the Air Force.

Flood said the First Boston Corp. is reported to be "handling financial details of a public share of sales in the Henry J. Kaiser Co."

"The First Boston Corp.," he continued, "is an outstanding financial institution. But they should not be permitted to meddle in the affairs of our national defense for the sake of profit and at the expense of our Air Force."

"Nor should Kaiser and his industrial empire be enriched at the expense of our Air Force."

"Although Kaiser companies have operated successfully in many industries, I do not know whether they can successfully operate the Haverhill heavy press extrusion facility."

NARCOTIC ADDICTION OF G.I.s IN FAR EAST ABOVE AVERAGE

WASHINGTON, June 9 (UP)—Narcotics addiction among United States troops stationed in the Far East is considerably more prevalent than among civilians in this country, Dr. Frank S. Berry, assistant defense secretary for health and medical matters, told a Senate Judiciary subcommittee yesterday.

However, he said the problem among American troops is being "increasingly well handled" and has been reduced to "relatively minor proportions."

Figures compiled by the Far East Command last fall for Dr. Berry showed the drug addiction rate running at 7 per 1000 in white troops and 14 per thousand in Negro troops. The Government estimates the drug addiction rate in the civilian population in this country at slightly more than 3 per 1000.

YOUNG DEFENDS STOCK DEAL IN RAILROAD FIGHT

Boasts of Transaction in Which Texas Friends Acquired N.Y.C. Stock Without Cash.

WASHINGTON, June 9 (AP)—Robert R. Young emphatically defended today a transaction in which two Texas millionaire friends acquired 800,000 shares of New York Central stock without putting up a cent of their own.

Young told a Senate Banking subcommittee that "it was the cleverest deal in my financial history."

Senator Herbert H. Lehman (Dem.), New York, said he wasn't "interested in clever deals but in facts."

Young, who won control of the Central in a spectacular proxy fight last year, told Lehman: "The public has never got the story straight and you are confused right now."

Young, almost shouting at times, insisted that Sid W. Richardson and Clinton W. Murchison of Texas risked $20,000,000 in acquiring the 800,000 shares of Central stock and that Alleghany Corp., a holding company controlled by Young, 7,500,000 from a banking syndicate, and 5,000,000 from Alan P. Kirby, a financial associate of Young.

Young testified Alleghany agreed to buy back the Central stock at $25 a share, the same price as paid by Richardson and Murchison. In return, Young said, Richardson and Murchison guaranteed Alleghany against loss, paid 4 1/2 per cent interest for the money, and agreed to split 50-50 any appreciation in the value of the stock. Central stock now is selling at about $43 a share.

Young said Alleghany Corp. made about $10,000,000 in the transaction without any risk on its part.

Lehman commented that Murchison and Richardson voted the 800,000 shares for Young's slate of directors.

Role of Credit.
When Lehman said the Murchison and Richardson didn't put up any money of their own, the financier replied: "The nation runs on credit. Even the housewife runs on credit."

The subcommittee is looking into recent proxy fights for control of corporations, including Central and Montgomery Ward, to determine whether to advocate new laws to govern them.

Young assailed what he called non-owning boards of directors and "their interlockings with each other to dominate the corporate, if not the political life of the nation."

"Some way must be found to diffuse this power before it becomes absolute," he said.

Young said Central, the second largest railroad in the nation, was "dominated by four personalities, all bankers, owning among them only 450 shares of Central stock, less than $2500 apiece."

"Through their subordinates and fellow bank directors, they interlocked with the directorates of 14 other railroads, including Central's most powerful competitors, and with 56 other mammoth corporations having assets of more than 107 billions," Young continued.

Corporations' Influence.
"So in the New York Central proxy fight we had to contend not only against its great resources but in varying degrees against the officers and employees of 107 billions of associated properties. Indeed, we had to contend against the subtle influence of all those large American corporations which for their own quite human reasons sought to discourage revolts by shareholders."

Among Young's recommendations "to encourage ownership and emancipate management, thus renewing competitive enterprise," were secret ballots for stockholders.

A secret ballot is necessary he said, "if in hotly contested proxy fights we are to get the uninfluenced vote of those who may be subordinate to either contestants or partisans."

"By the use and intimidation of employees the 'ins' have an almost insurmountable advantage over the 'outs,'" Young said.

"The employee-shareholders must almost of necessity vote for the 'ins' unless their ballot can be made secret."

Management's Advantage.
Young told the subcommittee the Central management "mobilized its employees all over America, on passes and expense accounts, and was able to personally interview every shareholder—even down to one share—while we, the 'outs,' could afford to personally contact only the smaller number of holders of 100 shares and above."

William White, who led Central management's unsuccessful fight to ward off Young's bid for control, testified yesterday that the Security and Exchange Commission should not act as a policeman in proxy battles.

White said, however, that there should be full disclosure as to the interest of all principals engaged in proxy contests and arrangements which they may have made with any persons or companies supporting them.

ST. LOUIS POST-DISPATCH TAXES ON BRITISH STATE INDUSTRIES URGED IN REPORT

LONDON, June 9 (AP)—A royal commission on taxation suggested yesterday that Britain's state-owned industries be taxed the same way as any others. The recommendation came in a 448-page report by the commission after two years' work.

It called for a flat-rate tax on industrial profits instead of the complicated differential system now in force. In principle, it said, this flat-rate system should be applied also to nationalized undertakings such as coal, railroads, electricity and gas.

The commission suggested a "spread-over" tax scheme for authors and actors who might earn big amounts one year and much less the next. Now they pay perhaps 80 per cent or more in big years but in lean years cannot get any tax back. Eleven members of the 14-member group stood out against any taxation on capital gains such as profits from selling property or stocks. Three members—two trade union officers and a university economist—signed a dissenting report calling for a capital gains tax.

TAX VALUATIONS

Exact Percentages of Hike for 26 Affected Counties to Be Announced.

JEFFERSON CITY, June 9 (UP)—Final orders requiring a raise in assessed valuations in 26 Missouri counties will be issued by the State Tax Commission by July 11, it was learned yesterday.

Announcement of the impending tax commission action was made earlier this year and resulted in a rash of protests, one investigation and a series of bills introduced in the recently adjourned State Legislature.

James M. Robertson, chairman of the State Tax Commission, said the commission had not changed its mind as a result of the public and legislative clamor. He said orders stipulating the exact percentage of increase will be issued by law, between June 20 and July 11.

Hike in All Valuations.
The increase will raise all assessments up to 30 per cent of true value. The 26 counties involved now have assessed valuations set at less than 20 per cent of true value.

Robertson said county clerks are required to file by June 20 an abstract of the assessed valuation for 1955 of all property in their counties. The commission then will appraise at the required percentage increase based on that abstract, the chairman said.

Some counties not included in the list of 26 already are taking steps to raise voluntarily their valuations up to 30 per cent, Robertson said. He said the action presumably resulted from the original announcement which said all counties will be required to raise their assessments, if below 30 per cent, within the next three years.

Protest in Legislature.
Protesting legislators during the recently adjourned assembly tried to stave off or at least soften the tax commission's action. One investigation was conducted by a special committee of the Missouri house headed by Representative J. S. Wallace (Dem.), Scott county. The committee concluded that the tax commission acted too hastily and without sufficient study.

However, an appeal by the House committee for the commission to delay its order for one year was turned down. A bill requiring a one-year delay was passed by the House, but died in the Senate.

The only bill to complete its legislative journey was a measure which would require county officials to lower tax levies to offset an increase in assessed valuations ordered by the state. The bill, as finally passed, would apply only in the event an increase ordered by the state was 10 per cent or more.

On Governor's Desk.
The bill, which carries an emergency clause to make it effective immediately, is now pending on the desk of Gov. Donnelly. If signed by the Governor, the emergency clause would presumably put the bill into effect by the time the final Tax Commission orders are issued.

The 26 counties involved in the commission's order are Audrain, Boone, Camden, Cape Girardeau, Cass, Christian, Crawford, Dunklin, Franklin, Greene, Jasper, Jefferson, Lincoln, McDonald, Mississippi, New Madrid, Newton, Pemiscot, Perry, Platte, St. Charles, St. Francis, St. Louis, Scott and Wright.

ADA OFFICIAL DEPLORES LACK OF 'BRAINS' IN GOVERNMENT

WASHINGTON, June 9 (AP)—A leader of Americans for Democratic Action said yesterday there is a deplorable lack of "eggheads . . . people with brains" in the Eisenhower Administration.

Robert B. Nathan told the House Anti-Trust subcommittee that the eggheads have been driven into exile by big businessmen.

"Representatives of business have moved into many governmental agencies and serve their private interests with little or no opposition," he said.

CAN'T SLEEP?

Sugar when you're trying to lose weight?

I get "energy to burn" from Sugar... and one teaspoon of Domino Sugar has fewer calories than one of your tomatoes!

It's smart to stay slim and trim and get Domino's "Energy Lift" too!

Which is Less Fattening?

Yes, 3 teaspoons of Domino Sugar actually contain fewer calories than 3 small tomatoes!

Sure, you need Domino Sugar to sweeten coffee, tea and your favorite foods. But equally important . . . Domino Pure Cane Sugar supplies quick-energy—fast. Faster than any other food.

What's more, there are only 18 calories in a teaspoon of Domino Sugar. That's fewer calories than in many "reducing diet" foods! If you're reducing, remember: "Sugar-starved" people often lose pep and energy instead of weight! Just as Tomatoes are famous for their health values—in a well-balanced diet, Domino Sugar helps supply the quick food-energy you need every day for pep and vitality.

So be smart . . . use a sensible amount of satisfying, low-calorie, high-energy Domino Sugar at every meal . . . for only one sugar is Domino Pure.

FREE! For the safe, sure way to lose weight without losing pep, or giving up Sugar . . . send now for Domino's New Reducing Diet Booklet! Address: The American Sugar Refining Company, Box 236, New York 5, N. Y.

(and get old nylon white again, too!)

Got any old slips in your bureau drawer, too dingy to wear but too good to throw away? Then here's good news. You can rewhiten yellowed, dingy nylon with new Surf.

Got any new nylon things you're hoping to wear a long, long time? Take heart. You can do that thing—they come through white and bright as new when you wash them in new Surf.

Scientists find a new whitener

Yes, something new has been added to Surf. The scientists have developed an ultraviolet whitener. It puts powerful ultraviolet rays (like those in sunshine) to work for you. This is not a bleach. It is not a bluing. It is not something you pay extra for. But it really rewhitens your old nylon things and keeps new nylon looking new.

Is it safe for everything?

Absolutely! You won't find a detergent on the market that will get all your wash—cotton, rayon, new and old miracle fabrics—as white and clean as Surf. It's for everything you wash, from lingerie to dungarees. And it's mild to your hands, too!

This is our promise

It comes from one of America's oldest, most trusted makers of soaps and detergents. We promise that when you wash your new white nylon slips, blouses and other things in Surf, they'll stay as white as the day you bought them. And if you'll wash your old, yellowed nylon things with new Surf, you'll see them getting whiter and whiter. After several washes you'll enjoy wearing them again.

Here's your guarantee

Look for Surf next time you're at the store. (It's in the same sky-blue and sunshine-yellow box as always.) Buy it and try it for all your wash. Then, if you don't find it beats any other detergent for getting everything white and clean, we'll return every penny you paid. No ifs, ands or buts. Better put new Surf on your shopping list right now!

Pixie Pie What a Dish!

Pixie Pie

1 envelope (1 1/2 tbs.) Knox Unflavored Gelatine
3/4 cup sugar
1/4 teaspoon salt
3/4 cup undiluted Carnation Milk
3/4 cup water
2 squares Baker's Unsweetened Chocolate
3 egg yolks, slightly beaten
3 egg whites, unbeaten
1 teaspoon vanilla

Mix thoroughly gelatine, 1/2 cup of sugar, and the salt in saucepan. Add milk, water and chocolate. Stir over medium heat until chocolate is melted and gelatine dissolved. Do not boil. Blend with egg beater. Pour slowly over egg yolks, stirring constantly. Return mixture to saucepan and cook and stir until thickened (about 3 minutes). Cool 15 minutes.

Beat egg whites until foamy. Add remaining sugar gradually, beating to stiff peaks. Blend in chocolate mixture gradually. Add vanilla. Spoon into crust. Chill until firm. Garnish with whipped cream. Then drizzle with mixture of 1/2 square Baker's Unsweetened Chocolate melted with 1 1/2 tablespoons light corn syrup.

Pixie Pie Coconut Crust

Spread 2 tablespoons softened butter evenly on bottom and sides of a 9-inch pie pan. Sprinkle 1 1/2 cups (4-ounce package) Baker's Coconut into the pan and press evenly into the butter. Bake in a slow oven (300 degrees F.) 15 to 20 minutes, or until crust is golden brown. Cool.

Graduation Invitation

Every year about this time, members of high school and college graduating classes all over the country proudly invite friends and relatives to attend their graduation exercises. And—just as proudly—we invite these fine young people to consider A&P careers.

During the 95 years A&P has been part of the American scene we've welcomed generations of June graduates to the ranks of our loyal employees. They've found A&P a good place to work... and they've helped to make it a good place to shop. But we're constantly striving to make it still better. If you have any suggestions, or if you are interested in joining our organization, your friendly A&P Manager will be glad to talk with you.

HEALTH STUDY GRANTS TO WASHINGTON U.

U.S. Funds Totaling $113,867 Given to School of Medicine Researchers.

Washington University School of Medicine has been granted $113,867 for research by the United States Public Health Service, it was announced today by Dean Carl V. Moore.

The largest grant, $35,455, is for continued study of the use of iron by the body and of practical ways of fortifying foods with iron. Dean Moore and his associates have already discovered that radioactive iron baked in bread is well absorbed when eaten.

Dr. William J. Harrington, assistant professor of medicine, and Dr. Moore also will study the reasons for the destruction of substances in the blood known as platelets, which are important in normal clotting.

Dr. Everts A. Graham, Bixby professor emeritus of surgery, and Miss Adele B. Croninger, research assistant in surgery, have received $18,800 to pursue their research on experimental production of cancer by tobacco products.

Other grants made were: $14,035 to Dr. Albert Roos to continue his studies of distribution of gas in the lungs in an effort to evaluate the severity of lung diseases.

Dr. Amos I. Chernoff, $13,545 for study of "Protein Abnormalities and Hemolytic Syndromes."

Dr. Lillian Recant, $8,160, for research in "Metabolic Response to Starvation," a study that may lead, it was explained, "to better understanding of the possible source of diabetes."

Dr. Seymour Reichlin, $7,195, for study of endocrine glands; Dr. John R. Smith, $6,177, for continued research into the mechanism of failure of the heart muscle; Dr. Samuel C. Bukantz, $6,000, for continued studies of bronchial mucus; Dr.

Auto Victim, Bystander Comforting Her

Roving Reporter.

ANGOLA, La., June 9 (UP)—George Hill, serving eight years at the state prison here for forgery, left with a guard 10 days ago to write a feature story for the prison newspaper, about the St. Gabriel prison farm near Baton Rouge, and has not been heard from since. The guard has been fired.

Arthur Hess, $3240, for study of the embryology of mammalian central nervous system, and Dr. Gordon M. Schoepfle, $1296 for studies of nerve impulses.

SENATOR THINKS
AUTOS STILL NEED
REAR CURTAINS

WASHINGTON, June 9 (AP)—Senator Kilgore (Dem., West Virginia), had a question all ready for L. L. Colbert as soon as the Chrysler Corp. president finished reading a statement yesterday at a Senate hearing on monopolies.

"You know," said Kilgore, "I've always been sorry about one thing you took off the De Soto years ago."

"You used to have a curtain over the back window that could be closed from the front seat. But you only kept it on one year. I never could understand why you took it off."

"Maybe we ought to put it back," said Colbert with a smile. "Oh, Senator Kilgore's older now," put in Senator Wiley (Rep., Wisconsin). "He doesn't need it any more."

2 HELD IN POPLAR BLUFF
ADMIT 5 HOLDUPS HERE

Two St. Louis youths, arrested yesterday at Poplar Bluff in the investigation of an automobile accident, have admitted five holdups in St. Louis, Butler county Sheriff William Brent reported today.

The prisoners, booked as Paul Leonard, 18 years old, and G. D. Parrish, 20, a former Workhouse inmate, were arrested after a stolen automobile overturned when being driven at high speed on U.S. Highway 67, near U.S. Highway 53. Under questioning by Sheriff Brent and Highway Patrolmen, the pair is reported to have admitted stealing the machine last Tuesday from a St. Louis used car salesman, whom they robbed of $28.

The youths also admitted, the sheriff said, that they twice held up two restaurants, one on Chouteau avenue near Seventh street, the other on Delmar boulevard near DeBaliviere avenue for a total of about $170. Both had worked at a drive-in restaurant and roomed in the 5000 block of Washington boulevard, the prisoners said. St. Louis police were notified.

PRESIDENT PLANS FLIGHT TO PENN STATE TOMORROW

WASHINGTON, June 9 (AP)—President Eisenhower plans to take off tomorrow afternoon in a small plane for his long-planned visit to Pennsylvania State University at State College, Pa.

The White House said today he would fly in a four-seater Air Force plane if the weather permits. Mr. Eisenhower used the plane for the first time last week, flying to his farm at Gettysburg, Pa. If the weather is unsuitable tomorrow for flying the President will go by train to Lewistown, Pa., about 30 miles from State College.

The President will deliver the commencement address at the University Saturday and will receive an honorary law degree. He plans to spend Friday night at the home of his brother, Milton Eisenhower, president of the university. Saturday he will visit his farm at Gettysburg and will return to Washington Sunday evening.

WIRETAP TIPSTER TO SERVE
5 DAYS FOR COURT CONTEMPT

NEW YORK, June 9 (AP)—William J. Keating, convicted of contempt for refusing to answer grand jury questions in a wiretap investigation, plans to start a five-day jail sentence tomorrow.

Keating's attorney, James D. C. Murray, said his client would appeal from the affirmation of his conviction by the appellate division of Supreme Court earlier this week, and wanted "to get it over with."

The contempt action followed Keating's disclosure in February of a police raid on an east side telephone wiretap center, in which no arrests were made. After the revelation by Keating, then counsel for the New York City Anti-Crime Committee, police arrested four men for running the wiretap.

In the ensuing investigation, Keating refused to tell how he found out about the secret raid. He held that his sources were a matter of privilege and did not have to be disclosed.

MRS. CLYDE WILLIAMS DIES,
EX-REPRESENTATIVE'S WIDOW

Mrs. Clyde Williams of Hillsboro, widow of the former United States Representative from the old Thirteenth and Eighth Missouri districts, died yesterday in Stillwater, Okla., at the home of a daughter, Mrs. Henry D. Iba, wife of the Oklahoma A.M. College basketball coach. She was 72 years old.

Mrs. Williams, the former Lola Marsden of Victoria, Mo., had been staying with the Ibas. Her husband, who was 81 when he died last November, was a Democrat and life-long resident of Jefferson county. He was elected to seven terms in Congress and also was county prosecuting attorney for three terms beginning in 1902.

Funeral services will be at 1 p.m. Saturday at the Mothershead undertaking establishment at De Soto, with burial in Hillsboro Cemetery. Also surviving are another daughter, Mrs. Alfred Merle Lee Kaufman, Beaumont, Tex., and a son, Duane Williams, Indianapolis.

STATE G.O.P. PEACE MEETING
PROBABLY WILL BE JUNE 26

The special meeting of the Republican State Committee, planned by Chairman Perry Compton of Montgomery City in the hope of settling the bitter dispute among the party's leaders, probably will be held Sunday, June 26, in Columbia, Compton said today.

He had announced last Saturday that he would call such a meeting, in line with a recommendation by a group of St. Louis Republicans that a "small" committee be appointed to take over control of the party in the state unless the feuding stops.

Compton, who heads one faction in the split stemming from distribution of federal patronage, has offered to resign if the heads of the other faction also would resign. They are Republican National Committeeman A. D. (Bud) Welsh of Ladue and Mrs. Estelle Tanner of Jefferson City, National Committeewoman. Mrs. Tanner has said she would not resign. Welsh has declined to comment.

U.S. AND STATE AID HERE
IN '54 TOTALLED $16,000,000

The St. Louis City Welfare Office of the State Division of Welfare provided financial assistance in 1954 amounting to $16,000,000 to some 40,000 persons in the city, it was announced today in the office's annual report. The St. Louis county office gave an additional $3,000,000 to persons in need. It was pointed out by Henry

F. Chadeayne, chairman of the St. Louis City Welfare Commission, that these amounts, all going directly to persons in distress, were more than three times greater than the fund collected by the Community Chest last year.

Of the six programs administered through the office, four are financed by federal and state funds. These are old-age assistance, aid to dependent children, aid to the totally and permanently disabled and aid to the blind. The blind pension and general relief are financed entirely by the state.

Feeds Wrong Meter, Gets Ticket.

HOLTVILLE, Calif., June 9 (UP)—Mrs. Paule Nicke ran a borrow a coin when she saw a policeman approaching her automobile, parked next to a meter, which showed a violation. She dropped the coin in the meter a step ahead of the officer. It was the wrong meter and she got a ticket.

FIRST PHONE CABLE BENEATH ATLANTIC

New Repeater to Permit Travel of Voice Under Ocean.

NEWINGTON, N.H., June 9 (UP)—A British ship took on supplies at Newington today for a voyage as historic as any ever made across the Atlantic ocean. Like a great seagoing spider, it will spin a thread that for the first time will make it possible for the spoken word to travel beneath the ocean between America and Europe.

H.M.S. Monarch, a 480-foot, 8000-ton vessel built after World War II, arrived in this New England coast town near Portsmouth yesterday after a week's trip from the United Kingdom. It sails June 22, spinning out the cable for 1600 miles to an average depth of two miles on the ocean floor between Newfoundland and Scotland.

Clear Sound. When the new cable goes into use in 1956, callers in New York and London—or elsewhere on this continent and in Europe—will be able to hear each other as clearly as if they were engaged in a local telephone conversation. Gone will be the static, fading and blackouts characteristic of the transoceanic radio-telephone.

Workmen have started stuffing the ship's four cable tanks with the complicated line that will cost its sponsors $40,000,000. Half the cost will be borne by the American Telephone & Telegraph Co., the balance by the British Post Office and the Canadian Overseas Telecommunication Corp. The first Atlantic telegraph cable was laid in 1858. Later, when the telephone came along, it was found that, while Morse code dots and dashes could pass over thousands of miles of copper wire, the human voice could not. Nearly 100 years passed before the problem was solved. One of the wonders of the electronic age makes possible the transmission of a small voice beneath the mighty ocean. It is the repeater or amplifier, a seven-foot long, sausage-like link built into the cable at intervals of 40 miles. This device almost literally takes what it hears and shouts it with renewed vigor to its neighboring repeater.

To be economically practicable, the repeater must perform satisfactorily undersea for at least 20 years. While it is used in telephone long lines on land, there it is easily accessible for repairs. Not so, on the ocean bottom. It there should be trouble below, it would cost more than $250,000 to locate, raise and repair the cable.

Every conceivable protective measure was employed to prevent the intrusion of foreign substances in the delicate manufacture process at a Hillside (N.J.) plant of the Western Electric Co., a subsidiary of A.T. & T. A degree of sanitation matched only by a hospital's operating room called for the plant to be machine-scrubbed and vacuum-dried daily. The 200-odd workers wore special lint-free nylon clothing, had their shoes scrubbed before entering, and wore no cosmetics. The repeaters, costing $70,000 each, literally are worth their weight in gold.

Straight As Arrow. Tempests and icebergs must give way to the Monarch once the ship is committed, for it must try to sail as straight as an arrow for the other side of the ocean. Summer is the only time the North Atlantic is calm enough to permit such an undertaking, and the first cable must be completed before September.

is will stretch from Newington, N.H., to Oban, Scotland, and on to the west coast of Scotland, about 60 miles from Glasgow. The second cable will be laid from Scotland to Newfoundland in the summer of 1956. A radio way will bring the system down to Portland, Me. Each cable will be equipped to transmit speech in one direction. Voices from New York will travel eastward over one cable and voices from London will be carried westward over the second cable. The system will be able to carry 36 conversations at the same time, as against the present 14 conversations via radio-telephone between the United States and Great Britain.

TEDDY SNOW CROP SAYS:

"My Snow Crop Orange Juice is Far Richer than Thin Watery Juices!"

—that's because I keep the Delicious Vitamin-Rich 'Meat' of the Whole Orange!"

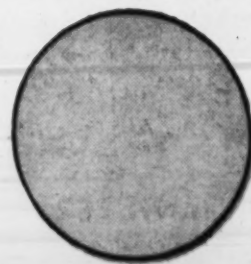

How do you get the "whole orange" orange juice? How do you get all the vitamins and minerals, the deliciousness that Nature put into this beautiful orange? That's easy! When you shop, just say "Snow Crop."

Just say "Snow Crop" and you get orange juice like this—with all these golden flecks of rich, delicious, vitamin-packed orange "meat." You can see with your own eyes how different it is than thin watery juices!

SEE THE BIG DIFFERENCE!

This magnified picture shows you what goes into Snow Crop juice... the whole orange! Not only the juice, but the rich, wholesome "meat" that holds the juice. The rich "meat" that gives you more vitamins—more wholesome nutrition.

Now look at this magnified thin watery juice. What a difference! Those wholesome and delicious flecks of orange "meat" have, sadly, been strained away. Your doctor will tell you it isn't nearly as good for your children as "meat-rich" Snow Crop.

One 8-ounce glass of SNOW CROP Orange Juice is as good for your health as drinking the juice of 4 whole oranges!

And SNOW CROP, unlike thin watery juices, keeps in the rich, healthful, vitamin-packed, mineral-abundant "meat."

Fighting Blaze In Planing Mill Lumber Stock

St. Louis firemen working to control blaze last night at the Petersen Planing Mill Co., 2800 Lyon street, which caused damage estimated at $50,000. One fireman was overcome by smoke from burning lumber stocks and sawdust. Much of the damage was caused by water poured into the building to bring the fire under control in less than two hours after it started at 9:15 o'clock. Residents of nearby dwellings were forced to leave their homes because of dense smoke. A crowd of several hundred persons gathered to watch the fire, which caused four alarms. Twenty-two pieces of fire fighting equipment were sent to the scene.

NEW COUNTY WATER PLANT

Aerial view of St. Louis County Water Co.'s $5,000,000 North County plant, on Missouri river near Charbonnier road, which went into partial operation yesterday. At upper center is a circular pre-sedimentation basin, 200 feet in diameter, into which water from river (at right) is pumped. From the circular basin the water flows into two coagulation basins, each larger than a football field. The basin nearest the river, shown nearly full of water, went into operation yesterday; the other basin will be completed next month. At lower end of basins are six filter beds from which water goes to pumping plant (bottom).

Pleasant Delusions About Farming

By Leonard Hall

LAST week we put in a day which really set me thinking. Often we are asked for advice about moving to the country; sometimes by people who want to retire and take life easy and sometimes by those who expect to build a working farm from which to earn a livelihood. Almost always, unless the inquirer was actually raised on a working farm, there is an unstated proposition in the back of his mind. This is that farming is really a pretty uncomplicated way of living and earning a living, which anyone with a grain or two of sense should be able to pick up and make a success of doing. Especially something simple like beef cattle farming where you just let the grass grow and sit on the porch and watch your animals build profitable pounds of fine sirloin steaks.

There are other ideas, too, about farming which can only be listed as pleasant delusions and which it would be highly advisable to eliminate from one's mind when one is contemplating buying a farm. One is that a cheap farm is a bargain. The truth is that it is always cheap because it is poor to begin with and can perhaps never be built into productivity, or else because it has been run down and worn out to the point where building it back is an expensive, discouraging and back-breaking process.

ANOTHER IDEA has often been expressed to us by men who have spent their lives in business, often as successful executives. They generally put it something like this: "Why, I'll just buy a farm and build a home on it to live in and then get some smart farmer to either work for me or farm the place on shares. Either way, I ought to be able to make a comfortable return to supplement my retirement income."

Generally these fellows have friends who own farms which seem to run smoothly, have beautifully kept and manicured fields and herds of fine purebred cattle. But these friends are still in business, with earnings that put them in high income brackets; and it is seldom, indeed, that the income from these farms represents anything like a return on the investment that is going into the place for buildings, machinery and fine herd sires. Moreover, our prospective farm owner doesn't realize that a "good farmer" is a jewel without price, farming a successful farm of his own; that to have someone "run" the farm entails, above all else an owner with more knowledge than his helper; and that to farm successfully on shares is even more difficult, since no renter has the owner's interest primarily at heart.

BUT LET ME TELL ABOUT OUR DAY: a fairly typical one in the life of the best cattle operator. Not long ago the Missouri Legislature passed a bill making it possible for farmers to co-operate with the state and Federal Governments in developing herds of "Bang's free" cattle. Bang's disease or contagious abortion is the disease which not only causes cows to lose calves prematurely and can run through herd like lightning, but which causes undulant fever in human beings. There are those who believe it is basically a nutritional ailment caused by obscure deficiencies of trace elements, but this is beside the point for the moment. Meanwhile, Bang's can only be controlled by herd testing, elimination of carriers and calfhood vaccination of heifers and herd sires. Now money has been appropriated so that farmers can have their herds tested.

Here at Possum Trot we have always vaccinated our calves for Bang's and blood tested our mature cows, because the disease has long been rampant in the Ozark counties and wipes out whole herds every year. But we signed up with our veterinarian, Wayne Sheets of Farmington, to test the whole herd under the new program so that it can be accredited. On the day of the big job Matt arrived early, and by 6:30 we'd headed out to bring in the first cattle, these being the cows with young calves at side. Then we brought in the rest of the herd from another pasture.

WAYNE AND HIS HELPER, JACK, arrived promptly at 9 and we had everything ready. He had brought his special squeeze chute which we backed up to our loading pen so that the animals could be driven into it. Then the 50 or more tubes for blood samples were made ready, along with vaccine and needles for vaccinating young heifers, blackleg serum for baby calves, ear tags, tattooing clamps and ink, sterilizing equipment and everything else we anticipated needing. Then one by one the cattle were driven into the chute, a process none of them enjoy and against which some of them protest bitterly and effectively with heads and feet. Perspiration poured freely and everybody worked. There were a dozen things to think about; heifers to examine, a sick and very wild cow to treat, calves to vaccinate and dehorn and records kept of every operation. It was a job no tyro could have done, known enough about to handle or kept up with as a helper.

Finally at 12 o'clock we finished with the sick cow and turned her out with her calf into a pasture by herself where she had worlds to eat and couldn't infect other members of the herd. After coffee clock Dr. Sheets headed for the next herd, and by 1 o'clock Matt and I were running the cattle through again to spray against flies. Then each lot was driven back to its pasture or moved to a new one. At 6:30, ready for our third change of clothes for the day, Matt and I agreed we were "foot weary" but that it was a job well done.

Morning Phone Call

By Christopher Billopp

WHEN a man has worked an extra day he should have a day coming to him. Or for some other valid reason he may stay at home on a regular workday.

Then, after his normal time to leave home, a telephone call will come from a friend of his wife. If the man answers the telephone the friend will be surprised to hear a man's voice.

It then is up to the man to put his wife's friend at ease. He should point out that it never occurred to him that women deliberately wait for their husbands to get out of the house before beginning to call each other up.

He should assure her he is confident the call is not being made for the sole purpose of gossip but in order to get vital matters attended to.

If the friend still appears flustered he should restore her composure by stating that even if the call had no serious purpose he would not blame her. He would confess that even the most conscientious men do not devote every moment of the day to hard work. He would remark that he has known many occasions when the most valuable men in the organization spend time discussing baseball or golf.

He should state that he is convinced these telephone calls do not seriously interfere with the work his wife is supposed to do while he is away from home. He should insist that on the contrary he is glad she has these contacts with other women, since they build up her morale.

He should make it clear he has no intention of laughing and joking with other husbands over what happens as soon as they are out of the house.

Such an attitude should be reassuring to friends who call a wife in the morning and, to their consternation, get a reply in a man's voice.

The Lost Art of Breakfast Eating

No Longer Does Man See a Nourishing Meal at the Start of His Day

By Hoyt Alden

WE'VE just finished scanning another article on the decline of the American breakfast. Young people and husbands, the articles all say, aren't getting enough food to start the day properly. And then they keep asking why.

One of the main reasons, it would seem pretty obvious to most menfolk, is that no one gets up and gets breakfast any more. We're not naming any names, of course, but there was a time in this country when breakfast was considered just as important as any other meal, and when the family came down it was prepared, and the family sat down and ate it together, just like they eat dinner at night.

One of the first things we have to do to bring back the American breakfast is get over the idea that it's a hit-or-miss sort of meal to be taken on the run. And the next thing we have to do is quit depending on prefabrication, and by that we mean stuff that comes in packages. We need to get off the "crackly-wacky" standard and back on the ham and eggs standard.

NEXT to its lack of appeal, the worst thing about today's breakfast is its lack of balance. When a man has to make his breakfast on a doughnut and cereal, it's as off balance as a three-legged table. On the other hand, you start the day with oranges, prunes or figs and you have your fruit. A couple of eggs and toast and you have protein and starch. A little butter on the toast provides fat, and with a little sugar in the coffee you have a pretty well balanced meal and you can face the day.

Along with balance, of course, there is such a thing as taste and appeal. There's no better way to encourage breakfast eating than, first, have it ready when the family is ready, and two, make it appetizing.

We men, of course, no longer expect to come down to a breakfast like they used to serve around the turn of the century, when breakfast might include anything from a breakfast steak, through oysters, chicken hash, sausage and mashed potatoes, and sweet potato soufflé.

IT SEEMS PRETTY OBVIOUS TO MOST MENFOLK THAT NO ONE GETS UP AND GETS BREAKFAST ANY MORE.

But he certainly would be pleasantly surprised, however, to come down some morning to a breakfast which started out with, say, a baked apple. Followed by a small two-egg omelet, and accompanied by hot buttered toast and good coffee.

There is no national law—and will the Little Women please note—which says that tomato juice or orange juice are the only things with which to open a breakfast. Try, for instance, apricots in season; sliced bananas and cream, blackberries in season, figs, grapes, nectarines, peaches, pears, pineapple, plums, raspberries, strawberries and of course, melons.

Did you ever try a bacon roll along with scrambled eggs? Here's how. Get some hot dog rolls, split them lengthwise and toast them a little. Then, instead of a hot dog, a couple of slices of crisp fried bacon in each roll. Serve them hot, and they're really good.

fast which combines boiled tongue, eggs and toast. It might follow a nice dish of fresh strawberries.

Allow two slices of boiled tongue, two eggs and two tablespoons of light cream for each serving. Cut the tongue in very small pieces and cook it in a tablespoon of butter and cream until well heated.

Beat the eggs with a fork until they're well mixed, and season them with salt and pepper. Add the tongue to the eggs and cook them, stirring all the time, until the eggs are thick. Pile them on slices of hot toast and get them on the table while they're hot.

SCRAMBLED eggs are fine, but like anything else, they can get monotonous. When they do, scramble them this way: Beat six eggs well and then put in a half cup of sour cream, a half teaspoon of prepared mustard and salt and pepper to taste. Heat up three tablespoons of butter in the skillet, and cook the eggs gently, stirring all the time until they're scrambled but still creamy.

Serve them hot alongside a slab of fried ham, and you've got a man's breakfast.

We are inclined to overlook the possibilities of fish for breakfast. There are numerous ways to use them, such as kippered herring with scrambled eggs, but here is a good, old fashioned breakfast dish which will appeal to most men, baked finnan haddie.

Allow about a third of a pound of fish per person. Soak the fish in cold water for an hour the night before and drain. Put the fish in a baking pan (this is for one serving) and add a cup of cold milk. Bring it to a boil and simmer it for 20 minutes, but don't let the fish boil. Pour off the milk, and save it.

Rub softened butter over the top of the fish, season it with pepper and bake it in a preheated oven at 375 degrees for 15 minutes. Add half a cup of milk, and bake it 10 minutes longer.

These are just a few ideas to relieve the breakfast situation. More later.

Be careful about doing any varnishing in the basement unless the basement is both warm and dry. A damp basement will prevent the varnish from drying.

Importance Of Manners, Appearance

By Angelo Patri

DOD was a candidate for a scholarship in one of our most famous universities. His sponsor, who was a well-known educator, had written, "He is a genius in mathematics and science. Do not be prejudiced by his appearance and lack of culture."

Dod was granted the all-important interview and was promptly turned down. This result was repeated at another great school. Dod had no manners at all, no poise, no outward sign of inward grace. He had been taught in public schools and the teachers had done their best not only to foster his very evident gifts but to put a little polish on his manner and speech, none of which took.

Dod was embarrassed. He knew he was "good" and he couldn't see why he was not given a chance. "I'll tell you why," said one of his instructors in exasperation. "You look a mess, you act like a mess, you talk like one. Who wants a mess like you around? Can't you stand so that both shoulders are level? Can't you keep your hand out of your pocket? Can't you quit chewing? Haven't you strength to take a bath and comb your hair and look like something human?"

"SO I SHOULD be a dude? Huh?"

"Be anything you like, but just remember it is what other people like that is going to get you somewhere."

Being intelligent, well-informed, even a genius is not enough. In order that this power can be harnessed to usefulness, there must be character, personality and good manners. In order to serve people or even to work beside them, in order to find a market for what one has to offer, one must be personally acceptable.

Teachers, especially those in big public schools of cities, are often beset by this situation. They meet boys and girls who are gifted, but who for one reason or another do not meet acceptable social standards of speech, manners, even good grooming, and who refuse to take seriously any suggestion

1. THERE ARE THREE KINDS OF ALCOHOLICS. NAME THEM.

1. 2. 3.

Answer to Question 1. AUTHORITIES Haggard and Jellinek say the three kinds are: (1) Persons who are tired of life itself, had no youth, and were "born old." They drink to live. (2) Persons unable to solve their problems and conflicts. They drink to forget. (3) Persons with ambitions but not enough guts and drive to carry them out. Drink makes them feel successful. These last seldom marry, and if they do, they prefer the tavern to the home. All need medical and psychological help.

Answer to Question 2. Yes, but only with moderate success. Psychologists E. E. Ghiselli and C. W. Brown gave eight tests to 67 taxi drivers: reaction speed; judgment of distance; knowledge of mechanical principles; interest, age, education, driving experience, arithmetic ability. The scores on these tests showed almost no relation to the accidents these men had had during a five-week period. Another test was speed in making a pencil dot in a lot of irregular spaced circles; also speed in making dots in a lot of small circles. This related more closely to accidents than any of the other tests.

Answer to Question 3. Especially wise, because heretofore colleges have competed with each other, using scholarships as bait to attract gifted students regardless of their financial need. Now 92 colleges and universities have combined to search out and give aid to bright boys and girls who could not otherwise go to college. For information write to College Scholarship Service, College Entrance Examination Board, New York City.

MIKE TODD wants Jean Simmons and only Jean for his "War and Peace" movie, and can't understand why people are skeptical about his plans to film it. "After the big job with 'Oklahoma'—and in a new dimension yet—anything is possible," he says. Mike's also after Montgomery Clift for the male lead.

ESTHER WILLIAMS... SHE INTRIGUED THEM IN EUROPE.

"Oklahoma" will run on the screen for two hours and 25 minutes, with a 10-minute intermission. Why the intermission? It's boring to wait. . . . Spike Jones, as a long-haired actor strolled by: "Is that his hair or is he wearing a Davy Crockett cap?"

Esther Williams intrigued them in Europe with her informal dress, and the way she kicks off her shoes at night clubs and parties. . . . Dick Powell's company is trying to buy the life story of Helen Keller. . . . Marlon Brando will tour with "The Teahouse of the August Moon" for a month during the summer, which will get him in shape for the movie version in the fall.

Bob Hope says that, every time Bing Crosby walks by, the scent of money hits you and almost knocks you over. . . . Betty Hutton, who sold her house to Dorothy Lamour, is now planning to buy a house near Dotty's former home. It would be simpler for everyone to stay put.

Joe E. Lewis tells me that the distilleries outbid the movie studios for his life story. . . . Jack Bean and Mitzel Gaynor are heading to New York City June 10 to catch the Broadway shows, and to talk to Leland Hayward about a play he has for Mitzel.

Dean Martin takes his family to Hawaii for a long vacation right after he and Jerry Lewis finish their final television show of the season. Jerry has taken an island in the Bahamas where there are "no phones and no cameras. I'll stay there with my family indefinitely—meaning perhaps for the whole summer." The boys have nothing scheduled until September.

ANN MILLER, WHO isn't getting married, isn't even engaged and had the time to do a movie, refused to play the other woman to Debbie Reynolds in "The Tender Trap" which starts June 15. Annie preferred to accept a good-will tour of Europe for M-G-M—all expenses paid.

Bright new British starlet Dana Wynter, when asked how she became interested in going to medical school, said, "My father told me that I would be the only girl in a classroom of 150 men. I couldn't turn down such a male harem."

Jack Webb is giving up his radio show, "Dragnet," and he's six months ahead with his TV'd version of the same. Partner Ben Alexander thought it best not to be in Jack's movie, "Pete Kelly's Blues." "Then it wouldn't look Dragnet-y," he figured.

Separate Vacations

By Dr. Paul Popenoe

MANY a man thinks he needs a vacation from his wife when what he really needs is a vacation from himself. Mr. W. is confused on this point, I think.

"We're looking forward to vacation time," he remarks, "and you have been saying that the whole family, or at least husband and wife, ought to take their vacation together. This doesn't make sense to me, Dr. Popenoe. I am with my wife fifty weeks out of the year. The way I look at it, we would be better off if I have a two-week vacation from her, and she from me. Doesn't that make sense?"

DR. PAUL POPENOE

NO, MR. W. As a matter of fact, you are not with your wife very much. Probably, each of you needs a vacation, and I hope you have a good one, but it will be the vacation as such, and not the separation from each other, that will benefit you most. Her job may be just as monotonous as yours, and she needs a vacation too. If the two of you get away together, you may enjoy each other a great deal more than you thought possible. Many middle-aged couples have discovered this.

When either partner wants to take the real vacation of the year without the other, it may represent an attempt to escape from something that ought to be faced. Sometimes, it represents an infantile piece of selfishness. A man will go off on an excursion that involves great expense and would have a tantrum if his wife spent one-quarter that amount on something really worthwhile.

Of course, sometimes the wife's vacation represents more extravagance too. She tries to show off at an expensive resort, living on a scale she could not maintain at home, and then is dissatisfied on her return.

THE ANSWER IS, begin to plan right now for some wholesome, inexpensive, mutually shared enjoyment that will represent a complete break in the grind of the rest of the year and that will build up interests in common for the partners, if not for the entire family. You will have something to think about and talk about together. Your mental hygiene will be improved, and your marriage will be safeguarded.

All this will result, however, only if you plan carefully. Husband and wife should get away from each other and from the home for a day or two, or a weekend at a time as they can during the year. But, if the one big vacation of the year is not made a family affair, it is usually an indication that the family bonds need tightening.

Social Problems

By Emily Post

READER writes: "I plan a large wedding reception in a private club. There will be 200 guests. I had intended using place cards to seat the guests, but the caterer told me that place cards are not used at a reception of this size. I think it would be very awkward and cause much confusion among the guests not to be told where to sit. What is your opinion?"

Answer: Seating 200 guests with place cards is definitely not practical. As a rule only three tables are seated with place cards—the bridal table and the parents' two tables. The other guests sit where they find room with friends or relatives of their own.

Learn to Spend Your Money Wisely

Arthur C. Meyers Jr. Conducts Economics Course on Channel 9 to Tell St. Louisans How to Do It

By Mary Kimbrough

JUST because those dollars and dimes burn a hole in your pocket and you're always broke, don't assume you're such a smart spender. There's an art to getting rid of money and right now an unknown number of St. Louisans are going to school to learn about it in a televised "how-to-do-it" economics course.

The 30-minute class is taught by Arthur C. Meyers Jr., blondish, bespectacled associate professor of economics at St. Louis University, at 8 p.m. each Friday over Station KETC, channel 9. Now in its sixth week, the course will continue through July 22—one of the evening adult education classes financed by public contributions. The station yesterday began a three-day drive for $150,000 in individual gifts.

"Most people assume that because they find it so easy to get rid of money they know all there is to spending," said Meyers. "It isn't true at all. If they could learn to spend wisely, they'd have more money. The more they know about spending, the more they can save."

Father of five, Meyers has dipped into his own spending and/or saving experiences for additional course material. But aside from the fact that the youngest children assume "Daddy is in the television set" when they see his face on the screen, his study and experiments have failed to disturb the customary household routine.

"They're used to seeing me out in the kitchen measuring foods and figuring costs so this is nothing different," he said. "Besides we figure these things out together within our own family."

THE professor's family, living at 6337 Bancroft avenue, consists of his wife and severest television critic; Art, 14 years old; James, 8; Thomas, 6; Robert, 4; and Joan, 2. To their parents—as well as to the television viewers who listen to Dr. Meyers each week—the children are known as No. 1 boy, No. 2 boy, No. 3 boy, No. 4 boy and Girl Child.

Meyers is not sure who else is listening, but he knows the family is gathered around the set when he discusses how to buy everything from clothes to cars, outlines the comparative attributes of fresh or frozen foods, and points out how to cut corners on the family budget.

"It's somewhat disconcerting, after being used to a classroom, to talk economics to a couple of cameras," he said. "And you certainly have no idea how the jokes are going over." He tries to relieve dry economic theories and statistics with occasional family stories and jokes he picks up from his children or colleagues. But even though his wife calls him the "tall George Gobel," because of his serious straight-faced manner, he doesn't class himself as an entertainer. He's a college professor dedicated to the job of showing housewives and other family spenders how to get the most for their money.

And that brings up one of Meyers' economic crusades—against the assumption that women spend most of the money in this country.

"If you mean the wife and mother is the agent for spending, that's one thing. Sure, she does most of the shopping, after family discussion, but she doesn't dole out the money at her own discretion. In other words, she doesn't necessarily control the family purse strings."

As things are today, it is not just the central companies that are affected in a major strike, for when business reaches out as does the automobile business the entire nation feels the effect of a shutdown.

THE OTHER CAUSE for rejoining is that the Supreme Court voided the ouster of Dr. John R. Peters by the Loyalty Board. This vindicates and clears Dr. Peters.

On the other hand, the Constitutional question of whether anyone has a right to face his accusers in a Congressional committee investigation has not been settled and one must hope that in time the Supreme Court will take up this very important matter. It seems to be one of the absolute necessities at the present time when investigations are an ordinary matter, and unless it is established that innocent people may continue to suffer.

Tasty and Pretty

Pretty Salad: Arrange canned drained pineapple rings on a platter and circle each with sprigs of watercress. Cut strawberries in half lengthwise and arrange them, petal-fashion, in the center of the pineapple slices. Serve with mayonnaise enlivened with Bahama-type mustard thinned with cream. Offer the salad with sliced ham, casserole-style creamed potatoes and tiny cornmeal muffins for a super lunch. Fresh pineapple rings may be substituted for the canned if desired.

Replacing Insect Screening

MANY in Oklahoma writes to say that he has finally figured out a good and easy way to fasten insect screening to a wood frame so the screening fits good and tight. Here's how he does it: First, he removes the old screening and then he places the frame on a workbench or table with a one-inch thick strip of board under each end. He just blocks up the ends.

Next he takes a couple of C clamps and sets them in the middle of the frame—one on each side. The clamps fit under the table or bench and other sides of the frame. Then he tightens up the clamps so that the sides of the frame are pulled down against the table. Now he's ready to go to work and fasten the screening in place. He takes one end along the frame and then pulls the screening down over the frame getting it nice and even on both sides. He pulls it as tightly as he can across the frame and then tacks this end to the frame.

He says the whole operation is easier if you use a stapling machine rather than tacks and a hammer because you won't need as many hands. But you can use tacks if you want. Anyway, after he's got the screening secured at each end he removes the clamps. This allows the frame to spring back to its original shape and in doing so it pulls the screening nice and tight.

Next he tacks the screening to the sides of the frame and finally puts the little strips of molding back into place. He says the whole operation takes only a few minutes and that he's never failed to get a real tight job for his money. We tried it and we'll have to agree with him. Real easy. Works on doors, too.

Contract Bridge

By Ely Culbertson

IN A 13-TABLE duplicate match, no fewer than eight Souths landed at the same contract, namely, five spades doubled, but only one of them found the winning line of play. West, dealer.

Neither side vulnerable.

SOUTH

Naturally, in view of the freakishness of the deal, there was quite a variety of bidding, but as it happened this particular auction took place at eight tables:

West	North	East	South
1♠	2♠	4♠	4♠
1♠	2♠	4♠	4♠
1♠	2♠	4♠	4♠
1♠	2♠	4♠	4♠
1♠	2♠	4♠	4♠
1♠	2♠	4♠	4♠
1♠	2♠	4♠	4♠

THE OPENING lead varied, but no West was altruistic enough to lay down the club ace, and the consequence was a one-trick set at seven tables, the declarers losing the heart finesse and then two club tricks on East's marked shift to that suit.

At the table where the contract was fulfilled—as in some other cases—West decided that his partner's double of hearts might indicate the ace (and in any event indicated a stopper), so he opened his singleton heart. South, a ranking expert, studied the situation carefully, with due reference to the bidding, and then made his plan, each step of which was (and had to be) meticulously timed.

SOUTH PUT UP the heart ace from dummy and immediately led the diamond queen. East covered and South trumped. Declarer then led a trump to the ace and was pleased at the 1-1 break. He returned the diamond 10, and was also pleased to see that East could not cover that card. South discarded his remaining heart on this trick, and West was fixed. If he laid down the club ace, South would obviously take the rest, and if West did not make that play, South would establish the hearts on a ruffing-finesse through East and make an overtrick.

Note that South could not afford to delay his diamond lead from dummy by as much as one trick. If he had cashed out trump first, he would have been beaten by sound defense.

Out-of-Town Guest List For Late June Wedding

By Karin Hayward

SEVERAL out-of-town guests will be in St. Louis June 24 to attend the wedding of Miss Helen Finney Laird, daughter of the Rev. Dr. and Mrs. William H. Laird, to Richard Alan Hettlage. Those who will be here include the prospective bride's grandparents, Tenn.; Mrs. Staige Davis Blackford, Charlottesville, Va., and William Suhling, Lynchburg, Va.

An uncle and aunt of Mr. Hettlage, Mr. and Mrs. Irvin Talbot, will arrive Monday and will remain for the wedding, visiting the prospective bridegroom's parents, Mr. and Mrs. George Charles Hettlage, 474 Edgewood drive, Clayton, and also Mrs. Talbot's other brother-in-law and sister, Dr. and Mrs. Thomas Greshman Donnell of Barnhart, Mo. The Talbotts are on way to their home in Los Angeles after a Caribbean cruise. Mr. Talbot is musical conductor at Paramount Studios. Also planning to be here are Mr. and Mrs. John Birk of Cleveland, O.

Party Series Planned for Miss Laird.

MISS LAIRD and Mr. Hettlage will be guests of honor Saturday evening at a cocktail party to be given by Mr. and Mrs. Edward E. Murphy Jr. and Mr. and Mrs. Crossman Hobart at the Murphy home, 37 Midpark lane, Ladue. Mr. and Mrs. John L. Hammer Jr. and Mr. and Mrs. Robert Fulton Mathews have planned a luncheon Sunday, June 19, at the Mathews home, 39 Picardy lane, Ladue, and that evening Miss Nancy Goodbar will entertain friends of the couple at a cocktail party at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Alvin J. Goodbar, 806 South McKnight road, Ladue.

Mr. and Mrs. Felix N. Williams, 10 Fordyce lane, Ladue, will give a barbecue supper June 22 and the next night Mr. and Mrs. Hettlage will give the rehearsal dinner at their home. The day of the wedding Mr. and Mrs. Albert E. Muddkins and Mrs. Ralph C. Becker will entertain the out-of-town guests at a party at Mrs. Becker's home, 22 Southcoate road, Brentwood.

The ceremony will take place at 8:30 o'clock at night at St. Peter's Episcopal Church with Dr. Laird, rector of the church, officiating. Afterward there will be a reception at the Laird home, 1 Woodcliffe road, Ladue.

Lt. Robert O. Hettlage, stationed with the Army at Fort Benning, Ga., will be his brother's best man. Ushers will be William A. Sippy, John R. Barsanti Jr., Mr. Murphy, Benjamin F. Bush Jr., Thomas E. Killen III and William H. Laird IV, brother of the bride. Miss Laird already has announced her attendants.

Visitors Arriving Tomorrow From Connecticut.

FOR the first time in several years Mrs. Louis Walker, the former Miss Grace White, will spend two or three weeks in St. Louis, visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. David B. White, 6255 Wydown boulevard.

Arriving tomorrow from her home in West Hartford, Conn., Mrs. Walker will be accompanied by her four children, James Wear Walker, who has just been graduated with honors from the Fay School, Southborough, Mass.; Suzanne, a student at Oxford School, Hartford; and Dorothy Bush and Elizabeth Ballard Walker, eight-year-old twins, who go to Junior School, Hartford. Mr. Walker may be here later.

Informal parties will be given for the visitors, including performances at the Municipal Opera. At noon tomorrow Mrs. Walker will attend a reunion of her Mary Institute class at the alumnae luncheon.

Mr. and Mrs. White's other son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. John Heron Brooks, also of West Hartford, where the Whites maintain a small apartment, were here recently for a brief stay.

Church Wedding for Elizabeth Ann Wright.

BRENTWOOD Congregational Church was the scene of the wedding Saturday night, June 4, of Miss Elizabeth Ann Wright and Pfc Donald Newton Parks. The Rev. Stephen Pronko officiated at the ceremony after which the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. James R. Wright, gave a reception at their home, 10110 Ingleside drive, Ladue.

MRS. PARKS... BECOMES BRIDE.

Parks, as best man. Robert Larry Wright, uncle of the bride; Richard Parker, and Ronald and Robert Doss, twins, cousins of the bridegroom, served as ushers.

Those who came from out of town to attend the wedding were: Mrs. C. E. Linnam of Atlanta, Ga.; Mr. and Mrs. Edward Wright and their daughter, Susan, of Dallas; Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Wright of Kansas City, uncles and aunts of the bride, and Mr. and Mrs. Philip Barker of Columbus, O., the bridegroom's brother-in-law and sister.

The newly-married pair have gone to New Orleans and Biloxi, Miss., on their honeymoon. Afterward the bridegroom is to report for duty with the Army at Fort Bliss, El Paso, Tex.

Parties in Honor of Spanish Visitors.

M. R. AND MRS. WILLIAM N. EISENDRATH JR. will give a dinner tonight at their home, 4930 Pershing avenue, preceding a preview of an exhibition of drawings and prints by the Spanish artist Francisco Goya for Friends of the City Art Museum at the museum.

Guests of honor at the Eisenrath party will be Juan Ramon Parellada, cultural attaché of the Spanish Embassy in Washington; Jose Alvarez, consul of Spain in St. Louis, and Mrs. Alvarez; Capt. Estanislao Herranz Malo and Capt. Adolfo De Miguel Esteban of the Spanish Air Force, who are now at Scott Air Base for special technical training, and Mrs. John A. Pope, director of traveling exhibitions for the Smithsonian Institute, Washington, under whose auspices the Goya exhibit is being circulated in America. Mr. Eisenrath is acting director of the City Art Museum. After tonight's preview, which will be followed by a reception for the Spanish visitors, Mr. and Mrs. Walter S. Haase will give a party at their home, 6159 Lindell boulevard.

MISS GAIL BERNICE BRINKER... ENGAGED TO TREADWAY CHISOLM PARKER.

Parker-Brinker Engagement Is Told at Party

OPEN house was held Monday evening by Mr. and Mrs. Gabriel B. Brinker, 2426 Goodale avenue, Overland, at which they announced the engagement of their daughter, Miss Gail Bernice Brinker, to Treadway Chisolm Parker. The wedding is set for late December.

The bridegroom-elect is the eldest son of Mr. and Mrs. George M. Parker, former St. Louisans who now live in Riverside, Conn., after several years in London. His parents and his two younger brothers, Thomas and George M. Parker Jr., were in town for the announcement party and were guests of Mrs. Parker's mother, Mrs. William T. Treadway, 208 North Gay avenue, Clayton. The prospective bridegroom's grandfather was the late Col. Treadway. His mother, the former Miss Jane Treadway, made her debut in St. Louis and was married here.

Miss Brinker, a graduate of St. Joseph's Academy, is completing her junior year at Washington University, where she is majoring in education. Her sorority is Gamma Phi Beta. She has one brother, Brian Brinker.

Mr. Parker was graduated yesterday from Washington University and was commissioned a second lieutenant in the Army. He is a member of the Sigma Chi fraternity. In the fall he will return to Washington to work toward his master's degree in psychology.

MRS. PAUL PAINTER was elected president of the St. Louis Wells College Club for 1955-1956 and Mrs. Paul Simmons Jr., treasurer, at a meeting recently at the home of Mrs. Warren Goddard, 21 Brentmoor, Clayton. The club's annual picnic will be held Friday, June 17, at the home of Mrs. Jacob Van Dyke, 2101 South Warsaw road, Ladue. Members and current students at Wells will attend.

Alton Weddings And Engagement

THE wedding of Miss June Freeman, daughter of Mrs. Verlie Watson Freeman, 3308 Jackson street, Alton, and O. H. Freeman of Wood River, to Harry Jennings Crockett Jr. of Topeka, Kan., took place last Saturday afternoon in Graham Memorial Chapel of Washington University, St. Louis, where the bridegroom is teaching and studying for his doctor's degree and of which his bride is a graduate.

Dr. Huston Smith read the double ring ceremony and Dr. Howard Kelsey, of the university's music department, played the organ.

Miss Jean Ann Trogon of Alton was maid of honor, and Charles W. Hanks of St. Louis was best man. The guests were seated by Robert Soskin of St. Louis and Walter Hobson Crockett of Manhattan, Kan., brother of the bridegroom.

Mr. and Mrs. Crockett will reside at 6843 Kingsbury boulevard, St. Louis, during the summer, and in the fall will move to faculty apartments on Washington University campus.

Mr. Crockett will work on a psychiatric research project of the university's School of Medicine this summer, and will resume study for his doctor's degree next fall. He is a graduate of the University of Kansas. Mrs. Crockett is a secretary at Washington University's department of sociology and anthropology.

MISS MARY JOSEPHINE McGRATH, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Raymond E. McGrath of Omaha, Neb., will be married Saturday, July 16, to Thomas Earle Morrissey of Alton. The wedding will take place in Our Lady of Nebraska Chapel, St. Cecilia's Cathedral, Omaha. Mr. Morrissey is the younger son of Mr. and Mrs. Edmund H. Morrissey, 1103 State street.

Mrs. McGrath will officiate at the ceremony and Edmund H. Morrissey Jr. of Alton will be his brother's best man. Miss Leona McGrath, sister of the bride-to-be, will be maid of honor. Robert E. Brierty, Oak Park, Ill., Michael F. Callaghan, North Platte, Neb., and Robert E. Hahn, Omaha, classmates of the prospective bridegroom at Creighton University School of Medicine, Omaha, will be ushers.

MR. AND MRS. Arnold A. Sieg, 822 McPherson avenue, have announced the marriage of their daughter, Miss Gretchen Sieg, to Ralph M. Jaenicke Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph M. Jaenicke of Rockford, Ill. The wedding took place Saturday, May 21, in Bethany Methodist Church, Chicago.

The bride, a 1954 graduate of Alton High School, and her husband, are both students at Lawrence College. He is vice president of his fraternity, Delta Tau Delta.

Mr. and Mrs. Jaenicke live at Neenah, Wis.

Martha Carr's OPINION—

Dear Martha:

WHAT can be done about a husband who is constantly insulting guests in our home by engaging in bitter arguments and flying into a rage when someone disagrees with him? He has always been a self-centered, opinionated person, but I didn't realize he could be so rude until we married and began to entertain guests. That was 12 years ago and Martha I honestly have been miserable every time we have had anyone in our home, for fear we would have a fight with them. He wants guests, and he is always sorry afterwards for what he has done, yet he continues his former pattern. Naturally, people won't come back after an evening ends in an argument. I'm always in the middle. I don't like to side with the others against him, yet I feel he is wrong. What can I do, if anything?

EMBARRASSED.

I think you should have spoken up long before this, not in front of your guests, but the minute the door was closed and tell him in no uncertain terms that you expect him to be courteous. Maybe it isn't too late. After all, you say he regrets it everytime it happens, so you know he doesn't want to be rude. Help him by trying to keep the conversation off controversial subjects and changing the course of the conversation hastily when you see the danger signs. Perhaps you can do most of your entertaining at luncheon or afternoon bridge parties and when your husband asks that guests be invited for the evening, make it clear that you will do so only on one condition—that he behave himself.

Dear Martha:

YOU HAVE SO MANY LETTERS in your column about mothers-in-law, but I think my problem is different. She and I have been very congenial and we have enjoyed having her live just next door. She has her evening meal with us and our relationship has been most pleasant. However, our problem is that she has begun to think of herself as a burden. She is always talking about being in the way and thinks she shouldn't be with us so much. We honestly are happy to have her as she is a well-educated, cultured woman who has had a good influence on the children and they adore her. Can you suggest something to bring her out of this state of depression?

MRS. R.

If you can make her feel that she really is contributing something to the household, you can help her overcome this feeling. For instance, if she is physically able to care for the children, perhaps you and your husband can take a short weekend trip together and make her realize that you couldn't do so if she weren't there so you could depend on her. Maybe she'd like to have the family over for dinner at her home occasionally, or help in your kitchen. Sometimes, to ask an in-law to pitch in and help is a far more kind move than to protect her and refuse to let her lift a hand.

IN ANSWER TO Mrs. X: Get in touch with the Love Thy Neighbor As Thyself Association which provides employment and sponsorship for adolescents and adults placed on parole after conviction of first offense. The address is 1210 Locust street; telephone CEntral 1-8844.

Dynamic Personality

By Edyth Thornton McLeod.

RIDING along in Westchester county near New York in the early evening recently, we were discussing places to dine when, suddenly, I saw blazing candles lighting the light streamed down to a lake and the large glass-enclosed building showed a profusion of flowers. We all gasped with surprise and pleasure and I was thrilled when the chauffeur turned into the long runway. This candle-lighted, fairy-like setting was a restaurant, filled to overflowing with people, yet there was no feeling of haste or pressure. After a wonderful dinner I asked, "Who is responsible for all this?" I was told it was Patricia Murphy, who is just over 40, I asked to meet her and did.

I took one look at her and felt that there was a story for my column. Patricia Murphy, 43, a redhead, tiny and attractive, is definitely a dynamic personality. She said, when I told her "this is going to be an interview," "Oh, I'm so glad I have on a new hat!" Feminine reaction indeed. She is very feminine but so successful.

This little career woman started without money. Her first venture was a tea room in Brooklyn. Good food and candlelight put it over. From that to a New York restaurant, then to Long Island, then to the gleaming hillside, Patricia Murphy's "Candlelight Restaurant."

She has had ups and downs. Once she was alone in New York with 26 cents! She went from cashier to playing the piano in a cafeteria. She knows food, loves flowers and raises rare orchids in her greenhouses in Florida and New York.

Her husband is a retired naval architect, who now aids her in her ventures. Just before I left the enchanting place, Pat Murphy said, "Pick your gardenia." I did, a beauty, growing right there within reach of my table!

Pat Murphy is barely five feet high, but her imagination and her business are tall.

Teen-Age Charm

TEEN-AGERS, now that spring housecleaning has everything in apple-pie order, what have you done to improve? Did you discard old summer clothes that didn't look right? What about your manners . . . do they match the loveliness of your new wardrobe?

Emerson once said: "A beautiful form is better than a beautiful face; a beautiful behavior is better than a beautiful form . . . it is the finest of the fine arts." Discarding bad, selfish manners can do more for charm and popularity than a whole new summer wardrobe. Consideration of others is the A-B-C of the whole code of etiquette and gracious behavior. Any rudeness in thought or deed robs you of your personal charm.

If a girl has declined dancing with one boy, she must never under any conditions afterwards accept the same dance with another. And, when dancing . . . she should never refuse to change partners and dance with another boy if he cuts in. When she does dance and the boy thanks her . . . she should answer, "Thank you, too," or "I enjoyed it, too."

Charm is made up of a number of small things. But your total charm is no small thing. And, contrary to many beliefs, the pursuit of it is far removed from selfish conceits.

The Dean Speaks Up— She Was Doomed, Unless—

By Adele Starbird

DEAN STARBIRD

SHE had almost everything. She was attractive, magnetic, an "A" student, a big wheel on campus. That she felt she held the world by the tail and could swing it around whenever the whim seized her—that was evident in every line and gesture. But she carried within her the seed of defeat.

She would have been amazed and scornful had she realized that even when she was in college some of us considered her a failure. But no crystal ball was needed to foresee that she was doomed, unless—

Unless she received some crushing blow that would literally pulverize her. As one of her friends said, "If her boat is wrecked early enough, she may be saved from going over the falls." It is a dreadful thing to look at a student and realize that only in disaster can there be any hope for her.

HER one flaw was arrogance, the most dangerous of all defects. The Greeks called it "hubris"; it was the sin of overweening self-confidence, the sin the gods never forgave, the sin that brought down their implacable wrath and punishment. The wisdom of the Jews warned that "pride goeth before a fall."

The Catholic church puts "superbia," or pride, at the head of the seven deadly sins. Arrogance was the only flaw in Roland's character. Noble and brave and chivalrous though he was, it was self-sufficiency that brought him to his death, and with him Oliver and the flower of Charlemagne's army.

It was arrogance that defeated Napoleon, arrogance that wrecked the Nazis, just as it had brought their prototype, Haaman, to hang from the highest gibbet in Persia, arrogance that brought Mussolini to a clownish death. The arrogance of the white man in Asia and Africa is being paid for in blood, and the account is not yet settled.

What are the signs of arrogance in an individual, and how does it manifest itself?

First of all, it is incapable of self-criticism, and it can't tolerate criticism, or even suggestions, from others. At the same time, it is lavish with criticism. It feels competent to pass judgment on others. It has an opinion on everything.

Second, it exaggerates slight, is touchy and unforgiving.

Third, its will must prevail: it brooks no opposition or contradiction. It is imperialistic, always trying to add to its conquests, to dominate more persons, or to dominate them more completely. As long as a single one refuses to kneel, it is resentful.

The arrogant person often has great charm and a deceptive warmth of manner; it is one way of bringing his associates into subjection. But analyze his acts, and you will find them ungenerous, calculating and ruthless. Sensitive to the slightest bruise to his own ego, he is insensitive to the feelings of others.

Extreme arrogance borders upon insanity, and is a clear symptom in certain forms of derangement. The end is dismal; each year the patient becomes more self-righteous, more isolated, and more intolerant.

IT IS no kindness to yield to a child's arrogance, nor to appease it in an adult.

The only cure that I have ever seen was through religious conversion and suffering. Sometimes life administers a shock treatment. Through the harsh discipline of grief and loss the proud one learns docility and gentleness.

And what about the student who appeared in my first paragraph? Already her ambition has been thwarted in small ways, and she has become a little hard and sharp, with an occasional flash of malevolence which she can no longer control. But as yet she has not received the deep therapeutic hurt that could shake her out of her complacency. Without it she will never develop her real potential.

Unglamorous Return of The Native

By Mary Margaret McBride

WHEN Hamilton, O., where Fannie Hurst was born, held on wonderful two-day celebration for what Fannie calls "the return of the native," the novelist was luckier than I on my recent trip home to Paris, Mo.

For although I searched frantically, I couldn't find anybody who recalled charming tales about what happened to me when I was a little girl. Fannie, on the other hand, walked spang into three elderly ladies who had held her in their arms when she was two days old and remembered stories, not only about her, but about her whole family, especially her grandfather, a character.

"The best memories of all, though," maintains Miss Hurst, "are evoked by smells. One whiff of some long-forgotten odor and I could see again as if projected on a screen entire scenes from my childhood."

THUS AN OLD house with its faintly musty smell conjured up a vivid picture of her tall grandfather at 4 o'clock in the morning complaining loudly about his six big sons still lying abed when he wanted them to help him drive a herd of cattle to Cincinnati, 15 or 20 miles away.

The aroma of a soup brought back to the visiting celebrity another picture of her grandfather—this time of his setting her, at the age of five, on a counter in a tavern redolent of brile soup and saying proudly to his cronies, as they stared interestingly at the solemn little black-eyed girl, "how much do you think she weighs?"

The sour stench of grass growing in a stagnant creek reminded her of how she caught her first crawfish there; a whiff of lilac at night brought back a memory of getting off the trolley and her mother saying to the conductor, "Now George, wait until we get in the house before you start up again," and then the two of them, hand in hand, running to the door while George obligingly waited; mock orange in the breeze evoked a picture of a screaming little girl whose determined aunt was trying to comb the tangles out of her dark curls.

BUT IT WAS the fragrance of food that brought back two of the warmest memories of all, first of a big family gathered at breakfast and a teasing uncle sending Fannie, the little one, out on a futile mission to the meadow back of the summer kitchen to put salt on a sheep's tail.

The only drawback to such a return to the past, sighed the novelist, is that the workaday world is such a comedown after two days of tributes and scrolls, children presenting lilies and gratifying committees who have obviously tuned up on all one's books.

Try and Stop Me

By Bennett Cerf

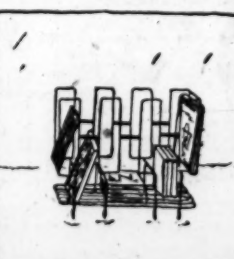

RED SOX pitcher who had been shelled from the mound on six consecutive appearances against the Cleveland Indians began to tremble at mere mention of names like Rosen, Doby and Avila. Friends steered him to an analyst.

"What should I do," asked the pitcher, "the next time those Indians get to Boston?" The analyst suggested, "Fly to Philadelphia."

MOREY AMSTERDAM overheard a Scottish couple discussing a birthday gift for the son of a neighbor. "He said he'd like either a bicycle or a tricycle," recalled Mrs. McPherson. Let's wait till cold weather sets in," suggested Mr. McPherson, "and give him an icicle."

COURTSHIP, Otis Moore had decided, is the period during which the girl decides whether she can do any better.

Designing Woman Choosing a Color

By Elizabeth Hillyer

YOU'VE heard that warm colors belong on the walls of rooms with northern exposure, and that cool colors are right for rooms that face south.

Does this mean that all north rooms should be pink, red, or yellow; and that all south rooms should be green or blue?

It might, if there were only one shade of each color, but as the rainbow blends one beautiful shade smoothly into the next, warm colors are cooled and cool colors are warmed. Yellow is definitely warm as it is tinged with red, but it cools with a touch of green. Blue is cooler when it's green-blue, but warms with the addition of red toward violet. Grays and browns can so easily be either cool or warm: cool with a blue cast, warm with pink or red.

The most important reason for choosing a color is that you like it and want to live with it, and with the many shades of paint and in color mixing systems, there's no reason a warmed cool color, or a cooled warm color can't be found or mixed that's just what you want.

Secrets of Charm

Summer Hair Care

NEVER put off until tomorrow what you can do today for self-improvement. If your hair looks drab, get busy. All beauty experts agree that a change in hair style, color, or a new permanent is the quickest pick-up for your appearance than any other one thing.

With summer just around the corner, your hair should be a real crowning glory. You won't be wearing your hat so much, and you'll lead a much more casual life. But, how does your hair look after months of drying indoor heat? If the answer is, discouraging, don't worry . . . hair responds gratefully to a little correct care.

Compare your hair to a beautiful garden. You be the gardener who babies and nurses the roots beneath the surface, the soil itself, and the visible blossoms. Consider each hair a blossom. For, after all, each one is growing from the follicle, which gains its nourishment from the bloodstream. Its health and beauty thrive if the gardener is conscientious and gives it a little care.

Make it fun to see how your hair "blossoms" into radiant beauty with good summer care. You'll be amazed how it will improve if, after a shampoo, you dry your hair in the sun . . . often brush it dry. If you don't give your hair proper stimulation, it will be dull.

tion of circulation with brushing, the feeding is slowed down, and these "blossoms" will wilt again.

For figure loveliness, grace and sparkling vitality, follow the 30-day wonder program outlined in Summerizing Your Beauty. For a copy of the program write to Secrets of Charm, in care of the St. Louis Post-Dispatch, enclosing 10 cents (in coin) and a stamped, self-addressed envelope with your request.

Moderate Weather to Continue

Moderately cool weather is expected to continue in the St. Louis area through tomorrow, Meteorologist Harry F. Wahlgren said. He added showers expected by tonight might boost total rainfall of 12.26 inches this year to date nearer to the normal, 17.12 inches.

Heavy rain in scattered areas of the nation in the 24-hour period ending early today included 2.18 inches at Philadelphia, 2.06 at Harrisburg, Pa., 2.05 at Abilene, Tex., 1.87 at Park Falls, Wis., 1.19 at Duluth, Minn., and 1.13 at International Falls, Minn.

The early season heat wave in the West continued yesterday with temperatures of 100 degrees and higher in southeast Oregon, California, southern Nevada, most of Arizona, parts of New Mexico and southwest Texas. Some of the highs recorded were 118 at Needles and Blythe, Calif.; 118 at Yuma, Ariz.; 113 at Phoenix, Ariz.; 113 at Presidio, Tex., and 108 at Red Bluff, Calif.

Minimum temperatures in Missouri this morning ranged from 48 at Union to 60 in downtown St. Louis. It was 54 at the weather station at Lambert-St. Louis Field. Lowest in the nation today was 22 at Fraser, Colo. The Weather Bureau reported.

DOES Iraq produce more oil than any other country in Asia?

No. The crude oil, or petroleum of Iraq amounted to 140,000,000 barrels in a recent year, but Kuwait produced almost twice as much, and Saudi Arabia more than doubled the amount.

Kuwait, by the way, is pronounced Kou-WITE or Ko-WATE. It is a small protectorate of Great Britain, and is located on the Persian Gulf, southeast of Iraq.

In some recent years (but not all) the yearly output of crude oil in Iran (or Persia) has been larger than that of Iraq.

Q. Have profits from the oil of Iraq made life easy for the people of that country?

A. Hardly that, but there has been help to the national treasury. The country's receipts from oil are far larger than from the big date crop.

Q. What are the chief food crops of Iraq besides dates?

A. Wheat, barley, rice and figs.

Q. Is Mosul an important city of Iraq?

A. Mosul (pronounced mo-SOOL) is important in a mild way. It was built on the right bank of the Tigris river, opposite to the location of the ancient city of Nineveh.

The fine cotton textile known "muslin" was named for Mosul, where it seems to have originated. At the present time Mosul is best known as a center of the nation's oil production.

Q. Did the game of chess start in Iraq?

A. Probably not. More likely chess was invented by a Persian or by a resident of India. Nevertheless a crude form of chess, known as chatur arigan, is popular among the natives of Iraq.

Q. Does the kingdom of Iraq belong to the United Nations?

A. Yes. For TRAVEL section of your scrapbook.

For an elegant first course, fill well-seasoned clam juice and tomato juice separately. Cut into tiny cubes and mix together, lightly. Sprinkle with minced green onion tops and serve with wedges of lemon.
